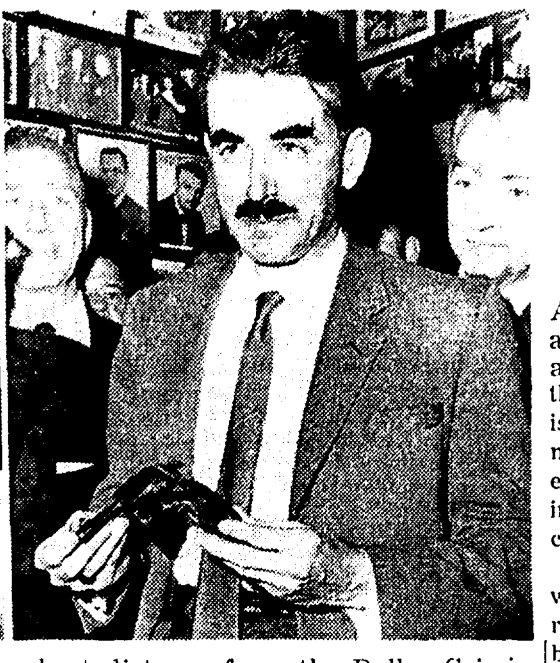
Escapee Gets Hostage Near Ruby Courtroom



MRS. RUTH THORNTON is interviewed by newsmen after she was rescued from jailbreaker who marched her down hall near courtroom of the Jack Ruby murder trial. Fake Pistol Wielded In Texas Drama

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — An escaped prisoner with a fake gun kidnaped a woman hostage Friday outside the courtroom where Jack Ruby is on trial for his life. Pandemonium broke out in the crowded corridor but there were no injuries and the man later was captured.

He was one of seven prisoners who broke from a prison dayroom minutes earlier. Four had been recaptured and three were still at large late in the day.

Caught in the midst of the incredible Texas drama were Joy Belli, attractive wife of Ruby's chief defense lawyer, and Karen Lynn (Little Lynn) Bennett, pregnant 19-year-old strip teaser on her way to the courtroom to testify.

'AFTER ME'

"Oh, my God, he's after me," cried the girl, who is three days overdue in her pregnancy. Mrs. Belli and Deputy Sheriff Rosemary Allen cooly shoved the blonde girl into a stairwell, and newsmen braced the door as added protection.

When the corridor melee subsided, Little Lynn managed to quiet her nerves and went on to take the stand as the first defense witness at Ruby's trial for the Nov. 24 slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

The man with the fake gun was Clarence D. Gregory, 20, held on armed robbery charges.

He and six other prisoners broke from a sixth-floor prison dayroom about 3:30 p.m. Five of them fled the building immediately.

Gregory and Johnny Ray Jenkins, 31, another accused armed robber, left an elevator on the second floor, however. They walked into a corridor crowded with newsmen, on their way back and forth from the

Blasts End Sailing Days Of Oil Tanker

U.S. Naval Ships Save 25 Sailors, 5 Others Missing

ANACORTES, Wash. (AP) — The 504 foot tanker Bunker Hill, sailing empty up Puget Sound, blew apart in three fiery explosions before dawn Friday and sank in 300 feet of water off Whidbey Island.

Twenty-five of the crew were rescued by a Navy crash boat and Coast Guard helicopter from the numbingly cold water. All but two were in good condition.

Five others aboard, including the skipper and two mates, were unaccounted for and feared dead.

LIGHT CREW

The tanker normally carried a crew of 44 but was running shorthanded because she was operating in inland waters. The Seattle agent for the ship said 14 men spent the night ashore.

Planes, helicopters and crash boats searched throughout the day in wind and rain for other possible survivors. There was little hope. Survival time in the frigid water was placed at little more than an hour.

Survivors told harrowing tales of the explosions, flames shooting nearly 100 feet in the air, the desperate rush to escape, the danger from burning oil slicks in the water and the chilling cold that penetrated bone-deep in minutes.

None could explain what happened when their ship, owned by the Keystone Tankship Corp., Wilmington, Del., was torn in two in Rosario Strait 10 miles southwest of here.

The Bunker Hill, which operated almost entirely in Pacific Northwest waters, was bound from Tacoma, Wash., for the Shell Oil Co. refinery at Anacortes to load gasoline for Portland, Ore.

U.N. Names General Of Peace Force

Lack Of Troops For Cyprus Duty Befuddles Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General U Thant appointed an Indian general on Friday to command a U.N. peace force for Cyprus. But as violence persisted on that strife-torn island Thant ran into difficulty in recruiting troops for the force.

Greek and Turkish Cypriots battled for the third straight day in villages near the north coast harbor of Kyrenia. Casualties included two Turkish Cypriots killed and one injured and four Greek Cypriots injured.

INDIAN GENERAL

Thant named Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, 53, commander of the peace force. Gyani now is in Cyprus as Thant's personal representative, but his appointment as commander is not to take effect until after the force is established.

How soon that will be is a question. Thant got a flat turndown from Brazil and a conditional acceptance from Sweden. He had appealed to those two countries and Canada, Finland, Ireland and Austria for contingents.

Sweden said it was willing to furnish a battalion—about 800 men—for the three-month period stipulated in the Security Council resolution authorizing Thant to create the force. But Sweden wanted assurance that she will not be the only neutral nation participating, as well as answers to questions on the size, status, duration and duties.

Canada announced it would not make up its mind until after a three-man U.N. mission returns from a survey of the situation. The mission was on its way from U.N. headquarters.

Finland and Ireland were seeking answers to similar questions, and Austria was regarded as likely to contribute only a noncombat unit, such as a hospital outfit.

COTTON SUBSIDIES

Senate Approves LBJ's Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Friday night passed an administration farm bill to provide new cotton and textile industry subsidies and to head off an election-year drop in wheat farmer's income.

The vote was 53-35.

The bill was shipped back to the House in a legislative race to complete action before April 1 so it can apply to the 1964 wheat and cotton crops. The House already has passed a cotton bill, but its agriculture committee has not acted on wheat. Stiff Republican opposition is expected in the House.

House leaders were expected to detour the bill around the agriculture committee and bring it directly to the House floor, possibly after a Senate-House conference to iron out differences between the two chambers.

The Senate version of the cotton bill will be effective for two years.

The wheat section of the bill, also effective for two years, would offer price supports in 1964 at $2 a bushel on grain for domestic food use and $1.55 on export wheat. The price props would be available only to farmers who voluntarily limit production. Without congressional action, supports in 1964 would drop to $1.25 a bushel from last year's $1.82.

Most of the boost from the prospective $1.25 support level would be paid directly by processors—and thus, presumably, by consumers—instead of the federal Treasury.

If the bill becomes law, administration officials would give farmers 70 cents of their support for domestic wheat in the form of redeemable marketing certificates and 25 cents of the export-wheat prop in the same form. The law would require processors to purchase the certificates.

By a 46-43 vote, the Senate voted to cut the program from four to two years.

The Senate also turned back, by the close margin of 45-42, an attempt to strike the wheat section from the combination wheat-cotton bill.

The bill, as originally drafted, provided a four-year cotton program under which the government would pay $309 million a year subsidies to cotton traders, enabling them to buy cotton from farmers at government support prices and re-sell to U.S. textile mills at the low world prices.

Civic Group Told Voters 'Are Fed Up'

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

DALLAS, Tex. — "More and more citizens are fed up with the irresponsible conduct of their elected representatives," U.S. Chamber of Commerce President Edward P. Neilan said here Friday.

He forecast voter insistence "on reform or a new representative."

Neilan and a panel of national experts dissected federal socialistic trends and administrative bills and offered the suggested means for conservative reform, at the eighth annual Aircade for Citizenship Action conducted here Friday.

700 ATTEND

Some 700 business and civic leaders from the Southwest were brought up to date on issues ranging from proposed medicare bills to the status of the budget.

Delegates from West Monroe and Monroe participated in the one-day session, at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

STATE RESTS CASE

Police Say Ruby Plotted Two Days

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A police sergeant testified Friday that Jack Ruby admitted plotting for two days to kill Lee Harvey Oswald, because "I just want the world to know that Jews have guts."

"This was the reason he gave for shooting Oswald," declared the witness. And on that dramatic note, the state rested its case against Ruby. It still has some rebuttal witnesses on tap if needed.

OSWALD SLAYING

Ruby is on trial for the slaying Nov. 24 of Oswald, who was accused of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The defense called its first four witnesses of the trial, before it was recessed until Monday morning. It was the first time since it opened that no Saturday session was scheduled.

In contrast to the state's last witness, the opening witness for the defense was Karen Lynn Bennett, 19, a blonde strip-teaser, who danced for Ruby under the stage name of "Little Lynn."

Three days overdue in pregnancy, she rested in an anteroom, then walked with short, stiff steps to the witness stand, half supported by a defense lawyer. She wore a simple white maternity suit.

On her way down the corridor that leads to the courtroom, Little Lynn walked right into the middle of a jailbreak. One of the prisoners with a fake gun in the back of a woman hostage caught the stripper's eye and she screamed, "Oh, my God, he's after me."

Joy Belli, wife of Ruby's chief defense lawyer, was with the dancer. She rushed the girl into a stairwell for protection. As the confusion subsided, Little Lynn was able in a brief respite outside the courtroom to regain her composure. Then she was taken in to the witness stand.

The confusion that swirled outside the courtroom was the latest of several incredible courthouse episodes that have marked the Ruby case.

The gist of Little Lynn's testimony was that she telephoned Ruby on Saturday, the day after Kennedy was assassinated, to ask why his Carousel Club was closed.

"Jack was very angry with me for calling," she continued. "He said he closed the club Fri-

'Neutral' Talks Harm Morale, Rusk Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday that talk of neutralizing Viet Nam—a proposal of French President Charles de Gaulle—tends to "undermine the morale of the South Vietnamese people" in their fight against Red guerrillas.

Rusk indicated his concern at a news conference as Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara winged toward Saigon to see why the antiguerrilla campaign is not going better.

The U.S. ambassador to France, Charles E. Bohlen, arrives in Washington today for conferences about diverging U.S. and French policies and Rusk said, "Southeast Asia will be a considerable part of our consultations with Bohlen before he goes back."

The U.S. foreign affairs chief said he knows of no specific De Gaulle plan for Southeast Asia bearing on the immediate grave situation there, nor does France seem to be trying to promote neutralization through agents or a coup in Saigon.

But he added: "I think that talk of neutralization which implies merely that the United States should withdraw its support of South Viet Nam does tend to undermine the morale of the South Vietnamese people, and we are not going to withdraw that support.

"We are committed to the freedom of that country and its people, and we are going to give them every possible assistance to sustain their independence and security."

Viet Nam Chief Changing Army

SAIGON (UPI) —Vietnamese Chief of State Nguyen Khanh is carrying out a major shake-up in South Viet Nam's military command despite a promise to the United States when he seized power there would be no major reorganization, informed sources said Friday.

The chief aim appeared to be to tighten Khanh's political control over the armed forces and to reward close supporters of his Jan. 30 coup d'etat.

The quiet but thoroughgoing military reorganization will be one of the key developments to confront U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara when he arrives Saturday on a new fact-finding inspection of the war against Communist guerrillas.

CONSIDERING POLITICS

Bobby Baker May Run For Governor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker, who has been a remarkably reticent man under Senate investigation, said Friday he is having "a very interesting life" and may run for public office some day.

The 35-year-old former Senate page boy from Pickens, S.C., whose financial activities are still under study by the Senate Rules Committee, did not rule out the possibility of becoming governor of South Carolina as part of his future plans.

"I have no idea what I am going to do," he said when asked if he still dreams of the governor's mansion.

But he added that "politics is what I know best" and said there is "a distinct possibility" that he may seek public office at some future time.

Baker, who was reached by telephone in his $125,000 home in the exclusive Spring Valley section of Northwest Washington, told a reporter his mail has been running "40 to 1 in favor of my position" since he invoked the Fifth Amendment when subpoenaed before the Senate committee.

At a 2½-hour session on Feb. 25, the former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority refused to turn over his financial records or answer questions on grounds of possible self-incrimination. He accused the committee of conducting a "legislative trial" and refused to be drawn into what he described as "a legal jungle."

This week Baker's former fellow townspeople named him one of 12 Pickens County delegates to the South Carolina Democratic convention, in Columbia.

Baker, recalling that he has been a delegate to every state convention since he was 21, said he was honored and flattered by this expression of faith.

The convention is to be held on March 25, but Baker said he is going to talk with the Pickens County chairman and other local leaders "to see what they think about it" before deciding whether to go.

Sen. Goldwater Blasts LBJ On Foreign Policy

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater accused President Johnson of a "don't-rock-the-boat" foreign policy Friday night.

With the New Hampshire presidential primary only four days away, Goldwater kept up a running attack on the Johnson administration.

If persons do not understand government policies, he said, it is because "they don't make sense. What we're really getting from Washington today is the command: 'Don't rock the boat.'"

"I think it is high time to rock that boat a little," Goldwater said. "Maybe it will stop us from drifting and dreaming while our problems mount at home and little fires become 10-alarm emergencies abroad."

Goldwater said in remarks prepared for a meeting of veterans and military organization members that he is tired of "razzle dazzle politics" and that "I am not a lollipop candidate and I could never be a soft soap president."

"I will not sugar-coat the task we face," he said. "No office in the land is worth that sort of compromise with your conscience."

He said New Hampshire voters and the rest of the nation "have had about as much razzle dazzle public relations politics as they can stomach — maybe more."

Press conference questions on the 1964 Presidential election drew these comments from Neilan:

"If Goldwater gets it (the nomination), it will be by nip-and-tuck convincing a lot of Republicans that he's the guy who should be their candidate.

"The Republican Central Committee would prefer Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton or even Mark Hatfield of Oregon.

"I don't think you can discount Nixon.

"Johnson has got an awful lot going in good business activity and a deft touch. This year, business may hit an all-time high."

Teaming U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy as vice-presidential running mate with Johnson "could really impair the Johnson ticket. Bobby is not popular in the area of the old South.

"My guess is that if Johnson had a real choice, it would be Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota."

Republican party showing in Louisiana's gubernatorial election this week should bring greater benefits to the state, "if Louisiana plays its cards right," he said.

"In some areas there has been a tendency for national political parties to neglect some aspects of federal programs in states that have seemed secure.

"Louisiana has not really gone to work on national defense con-

King Of Greece Dies At Age 62; Son Now Rules

ATHENS (UPI) — King Paul I, hero of Greece's civil war against communism in the days that followed World War II, died Friday in Tatoi palace at the age of 62.

Paul's son, Prince Constantine, was sworn in three hours later at 7:15 p.m. (12:15 p.m. EST) as King Constantine II of the Hellenes. At 23 he became Europe's youngest chief of state.

Paul underwent an operation for stomach ulcer Feb. 21. He had appeared to be recovering but developed blood clots in his lung and leg and uremic poisoning.

Johnson Rejects Red Criticism Toward Cyprus

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson agrees with Soviet Premier Khrushchev that outsiders "should strive not to inflame passions" over Cyprus but rejected the Soviet criticism of the U.S. role in that crisis.

In a brief letter, Johnson replied to Khrushchev's Feb. 7 message in which the Soviet premier denounced the then-pending U.S. - British proposal to send a North Atlantic Treaty Organization peace - keeping force to Cyprus to halt violence between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The plan since has been shelved in favor of U.N. handling of the situation.

The Johnson letter, dated March 4 and released Friday, told Khrushchev "whatever may have been the motivations of the Soviet government, your message was really based upon a seriously mistaken appreciation both of the situation in Cyprus, and of the aims of the United States" in the matter.

"The United States has been cooperating with the governments concerned, including the government of the Republic of Cyprus, for one purpose alone, that of assisting the Cypriots to restore a peaceful situation in Cyprus," Johnson wrote.

GERMAN RESEARCH TEAM

Report Claims Bad Air Causes Cancer

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — A West German research team has released a report blaming air pollution rather than cigarettes as the major cause for the increase in lung cancer.

The report, published in West Germany's Journal for Cancer Research this month, was based on studies made by a research team led by Dr. Reinhardt Poche, chief physician of the Duesseldorf Medical Academy's pathological institute.

A Hamburg newspaper Friday summarized the findings, based on studies of 1,229 lung cancer cases at 12 pathological institutes in the state of North Westphalia and on autopsies of 26,000 dead persons.

The newspaper Die Welt headlined its story, "Acquittal For Cigarettes?"

The report claimed that there was no statistically provable quency of lung cancer and cigarette smoking. It said other external factors, especially air pollution and motor exhaust fumes, must be linked with the increase in the prevalence of lung cancer.

Poche, who took issue with the findings last January of the U.S. surgeon general's report linking cigarettes with cancer, said at the time his group's studies soon would be released and would bear out his contention.

Poche and his associates said in their report their work indicated that office employes and academicians who were heavy smokers nevertheless showed a lesser incidence of lung cancer.

They said that the occupational groups most likely to fall victim to lung cancer were workers in heavy industry and in transportation, people exposed to heavy air pollution and exhaust fumes from diesel and gasoline motors.

North Rhine Westphalia, where the studies were made, is Germany's most heavily industrialized state. It contains the Ruhr coal and steel center.

Skies May Drip In Area Today

Cloudy skies over the Twin Cities are expected to result in precipitation today with the forecast calling for considerable cloudiness and scattered showers today and Sunday.

Temperatures for the weekend will be mild with a forecast of 68 to 72 for today and Sunday. Low for the two day period will be 54 to 58.

The mercury peaked Friday at 70 after a long climb from the morning low of 37.

Winds will be gusty today from the south at speeds of 12 to 22 miles per hour shifting to northerly late Sunday.

Doctors Operate On MacArthur

WASHINGTON (UPI) — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur underwent three hours of major abdominal surgery Friday. His gall bladder was removed, and doctors said the 84-year-old hero of three wars emerged in "satisfactory" condition.

No evidence of cancer was found. He was taken from surgery to a recovery room for 24 to 72 hours of intensive care. Doctors said that unless complications develop, MacArthur may be able to leave the hospital within four weeks.

At a 2½-hour session on Feb. 25, the former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority refused to turn over his financial records or answer questions on grounds of possible self-incrimination. He accused the committee of conducting a "legislative trial" and refused to be drawn into what he described as "a legal jungle."

This week Baker's former fellow townspeople named him one of 12 Pickens County delegates to the South Carolina Democratic convention in Columbia.

Baker, recalling that he has been a delegate to every state convention since he was 21, said he was honored and flattered by this expression of faith.

The convention is to be held on March 25, but Baker said he is going to talk with the Pickens County chairman and other local leaders "to see what they think about it" before deciding whether to go.

U.N. Names General Of Peace Force

Lack Of Troops For Cyprus Duty Befuddles Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General U Thant appointed an Indian general on Friday to command a U.N. peace force for Cyprus. But as violence persisted on that strife-torn island Thant ran into difficulty in recruiting troops for the force.

Greek and Turkish Cypriots battled for the third straight day in villages near the north coast harbor of Kyrenia. Casualties included two Turkish Cypriots killed and one injured and four Greek Cypriots injured.

INDIAN GENERAL

Thant named Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, 53, commander of the peace force. Gyani now is in Cyprus as Thant's personal representative, but his appointment as commander is not to take effect until after the force is established.

How soon that will be is a question. Thant got a flat turndown from Brazil and a conditional acceptance from Sweden. He had appealed to those two countries and Canada, Finland, Ireland and Austria for contingents.

Sweden said it was willing to furnish a battalion—about 800 men—for the three-month period stipulated in the Security Council resolution authorizing Thant to create the force. But Sweden wanted assurance that she will not be the only neutral nation participating, as well as answers to questions on the size, status, duration and duties.

Canada announced it would not make up its mind until after a three-man U.N. mission returns from a survey of the situation. The mission was on its way from U.N. headquarters.

Finland and Ireland were seeking answers to similar questions, and Austria was regarded as likely to contribute only a noncombat unit, such as a hospital outfit.

Sen. Goldwater Blasts LBJ On Foreign Policy

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater accused President Johnson of a "don't-rock-the-boat" foreign policy Friday night.

With the New Hampshire presidential primary only four days away, Goldwater kept up a running attack on the Johnson administration.

If persons do not understand government policies, he said, it is because "they don't make sense. What we're really getting from Washington today is the command: 'Don't rock the boat'."

"I think it is high time to rock that boat a little," Goldwater said. "Maybe it will stop us from drifting and dreaming while our problems mount at home and little fires become 10-alarm emergencies abroad."

Goldwater said in remarks prepared for a meeting of veterans and military organization members that he is tired of "razzle dazzle politics" and that "I am not a lollipop candidate and I could never be a soft soap president."

"I will not sugar-coat the task we face," he said. "No office in the land is worth that sort of compromise with your conscience."

He said New Hampshire voters and the rest of the nation "have had about as much razzle dazzle public relations politics as they can stomach — maybe more."

Skies May Drip In Area Today

Cloudy skies over the Twin Cities are expected to result in precipitation today with the forecast calling for considerable cloudiness and scattered showers today and Sunday.

Temperatures for the weekend will be mild with a forecast of 68 to 72 for today and Sunday. Low for the two day period will be 54 to 58.

The mercury peaked Friday at 70 after a long climb from the morning low of 37.

Winds will be gusty today from the south at speeds of 12 to 22 miles per hour shifting to northerly late Sunday.

Civic Group Told Voters 'Are Fed Up'

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

DALLAS, Tex. — "More and more citizens are fed up with the irresponsible conduct of their elected representatives," U.S. Chamber of Commerce President Edward P. Neilan said here Friday.

He forecast voter insistence "on reform or a new representative."

Neilan and a panel of national experts dissected federal socialistic trends and administrative bills and offered the suggested means for conservative reform, at the eighth annual Aircade for Citizenship Action conducted here Friday.

700 ATTEND

Some 700 business and civic leaders from the Southwest were brought up to date on issues ranging from proposed medicare bills to the status of the budget.

Delegates from West Monroe and Monroe participated in the one-day session, at the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel.

Press conference questions on the 1964 Presidential election drew these comments from Neilan:

"If Goldwater gets it (the nomination), it will be by nip-and-tuck convincing a lot of Republicans that he's the guy who should be their candidate.

"The Republican Central Committee would prefer Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton or even Mark Hatfield of Oregon.

"I don't think you can discount Nixon.

"Johnson has got an awful lot going in good business activity and a deft touch. This year, business may hit an all-time high."

Teaming U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy as vice-presidential running mate with Johnson "could really impair the Johnson ticket. Bobby is not popular in the area of the old South.

"My guess is that if Johnson had a real choice, it would be Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota."

Republican party showing in Louisiana's gubernatorial election this week should bring greater benefits to the state, "If Louisiana plays its cards right," he said.

"In some areas there has been a tendency for national political parties to neglect some aspects of federal programs in states that have seemed secure.

"Louisiana has not really gone to work on national defense con-

Doctors Operate On MacArthur

WASHINGTON (UPI) — General of the Army Douglas MacArthur underwent three hours of major abdominal surgery Friday. His gall bladder was removed, and doctors said the 84-year-old hero of three wars emerged in "satisfactory" condition.

No evidence of cancer was found. He was taken from surgery to a recovery room for 24 to 72 hours of intensive care. Doctors said that unless complications develop, MacArthur may be able to leave the hospital within four weeks.

STATE RESTS CASE

Police Say Ruby Plotted Two Days

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A police sergeant testified Friday that Jack Ruby admitted plotting for two days to kill Lee Harvey Oswald, because "I just want the world to know that Jews have guts."

"This was the reason he gave for shooting Oswald," declared the witness. And on that dramatic note, the state rested its case against Ruby. It still has some rebuttal witnesses on tap if needed.

OSWALD SLAYING

Ruby is on trial for the slaying Nov. 24 of Oswald, who was accused of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The defense called its first four witnesses of the trial, before it was recessed until Monday morning. It was the first time since it opened that no Saturday session was scheduled.

In contrast to the state's last witness, the opening witness for the defense was Karen Lynn Bennett, 19, a blonde strip-teaser, who danced for Ruby under the stage name of "Little Lynn."

Three days overdue in pregnancy, she rested in an anteroom, then walked with short, stiff steps to the witness stand, half supported by a defense lawyer. She wore a simple white maternity suit.

On her way down the corridor that leads to the courtroom, Little Lynn walked right into the middle of a jailbreak. One of the prisoners with a fake gun in the back of a woman hostage caught the stripper's eye and she screamed, "Oh, my God, he's after me."

Joy Belli, wife of Ruby's chief defense lawyer, was with the dancer. She rushed the girl into a stairwell for protection. As the confusion subsided, Little Lynn was able in a brief respite outside the courtroom to regain her composure. Then she was taken in to the witness stand.

The confusion that swirled outside the courtroom was the latest of several incredible courthouse episodes that have marked the Ruby case.

The gist of Little Lynn's testimony was that she telephoned Ruby on Saturday, the day after Kennedy was assassinated, to ask why his Carousel Club was closed.

"Jack was very angry with me for calling," she continued. "He said he closed the club Fri-

King Of Greece Dies At Age 62; Son Now Rules

ATHENS (UPI) — King Paul I, hero of Greece's civil war against communism in the days that followed World War II, died Friday in Tatoi palace at the age of 62.

Paul's son, Prince Constantine, was sworn in three hours later at 7:15 p.m. (12:15 p.m. EST) as King Constantine II of the Hellenes. At 23 he became Europe's youngest chief of state.

Paul underwent an operation for stomach ulcer Feb. 21. He had appeared to be recovering but developed blood clots in his lung and leg and uremic poisoning.

GERMAN RESEARCH TEAM

Report Claims Bad Air Causes Cancer

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — A West German research team has released a report blaming air pollution rather than cigarettes as the major cause for the increase in lung cancer.

The report, published in West Germany's Journal for Cancer Research this month, was based on studies made by a research team led by Dr. Reinhardt Poche, chief physician of the Duesseldorf Medical Academy's pathological institute.

A Hamburg newspaper Friday summarized the findings, based on studies of 1,229 lung cancer cases at 12 pathological institutes in the state of North Westphalia and on autopsies of 26,000 dead persons.

The newspaper Die Welt headlined its story, "Acquittal For Cigarettes?"

The report claimed that there was no statistically provable quency of lung cancer and cigarette smoking. It said other external factors, especially air pollution and motor exhaust fumes, must be linked with the increase in the prevalence of lung cancer.

Poche, who took issue with the findings last January of the U.S. surgeon general's report linking cigarettes with cancer, said at the time his group's studies soon would be released and would bear out his contention.

Poche and his associates said in their report their work indicated that office employes and academicians who were heavy smokers nevertheless showed a lesser incidence of lung cancer.

They said that the occupational groups most likely to fall victim to lung cancer were workers in heavy industry and in transportation, people exposed to heavy air pollution and exhaust fumes from diesel and gasoline motors.

North Rhine Westphalia, where the studies were made, is Germany's most heavily industrialized state. It contains the Ruhr coal and steel center.

Johnson Rejects Red Criticism Toward Cyprus

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson agrees with Soviet Premier Khrushchev that outsiders "should strive not to inflame passions" over Cyprus but rejected the Soviet criticism of the U.S. role in that crisis.

In a brief letter, Johnson replied to Khrushchev's Feb. 7 message in which the Soviet premier denounced the then-pending U.S. - British proposal to send a North Atlantic Treaty Organization peace - keeping force to Cyprus to halt violence between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

The plan since has been shelved in favor of U.N. handling of the situation.

The Johnson letter, dated March 4 and released Friday, told Khrushchev "whatever may have been the motivations of the Soviet government, your message was based upon a seriously mistaken appreciation both of the situation in Cyprus, and of the aims of the United States" in the matter.

"The United States has been cooperating with the governments concerned, including the government of the Republic of Cyprus, for one purpose alone, that of assisting the Cypriots to restore a peaceful situation in Cyprus," Johnson wrote.

How is the Morehouse Natural Gas Co. incorporated—that is, is it a profit or non-profit organization? Who are the principal stockholders? How do their rates compare with other retail gas companies' rates? What price do they pay for the gas at the well head?

The public service commission says:

It is a profitable organization. Stockholders are Simmons J. Barry and Earl Porter, both of Baton Rouge.

Rates of the gas company are comparable with rates of other gas companies of comparable size and possibly a little less. The last figures furnished the public service commission show that the gas costs the company 24 cents at the well head.

The Supreme Court of Louisiana ordered the public service commission to put the present rates into effect Mar. 22, 1963. The commission had denied the rate increase because there was a question as to cost of improvements, however, the court ruled in favor of the gas company.

What exactly was the job that Bobby Baker resigned in Washington? What were his duties? What brought about his resignation? Were there any specific reasons for this current investigation?

Baker Oct. 7 of last year handed in his resignation from his $19,600 a year position as secretary to the Senate Majority. Majority Leader Sen. Mike Mansfield (D.-Mont.) accepted the resignation with regret but admitted the "necessity" of it.

The resignation followed press reports that Baker was being sued by a business competitor named Ralph L. Hill who alleged that the Senate employe had used influence to gain contracts for a vending machine company (Serv-U) with which he was connected.

Baker had served as majority secretary since 1955. He was considered a protege of Lyndon B. Johnson who became majority leader in that year.

The Senate rules committee Oct. 29 began an investigation of Hill's charges and of other business ventures with which Baker had been connected. Testimony released by the committee Jan. 21 disclosed that a Baker business partner, Don B. Reynolds, had sold then-Sen. Johnson $100,000 in life insurance about 1957 and had then given both Baker and Johnson expensive phonograph sets. Reynolds also said he bought $1,208 in advertising on KTBC, a radio station owned by the Johnson family, because it was "expected" of him.

He said arrangements to buy the time were made with Walter B. Jenkins, a Johnson aide then and currently a special assistant to President Johnson. Jenkins denied to committee investigators any knowledge of arrangements between Reynolds and KTBC. Reynolds sold then-Vice President Johnson another $100,000 in life insurance in 1961.

Who is instigator of legislation that requires our Louisiana people to purchase two-year auto tags? Who benefits?

The Davis administration was instigator of the two-year license plates. Roland Cocreham, commissioner of the Louisiana Department Revenue, expressed to the Legislature the administration's desire to put an amendment on the original bill requiring two-year vehicle license plates. Cocreham's argument was that two-year plates would be a service to the people found standing in line each year trying to get license plates. He also pointed out it would save the state of Louisiana thousands of dollars in money spent for license plates which previously had to be printed each year; in other words, a 50 per cent saving on printing and metal, and some saving on administration costs.

Is a divorce legal in Louisiana if a person was married before and has a child by this marriage, but when she gets a divorce says she has no children.

If the divorce decree is a valid one, then the mere fact that the person in question misrepresented to the court that she had no child, but in fact did have a child would not impair the validity of the divorce decree.

When is the city of West Monroe or the state going to do something about the condition of Wood Street from Fourth Street west, and also the sidewalks in the 800 block?

George P. Forman, fifth district highway engineer for the Louisiana highway department, replies: "The street has been in a bad state of repair for a long time, before the state ever started work on Interstate 20. There is a section of Wood Street which falls in our right-of-way—the section which runs under the expressway. There are no plans for work on Wood Street under the present contract on I-20 between Fifth and Stella Streets and the end of the Ouachita River bridge. This doesn't mean necessarily that we won't, because certain conditions might make it necessary for the state to be involved."

Forman pointed out that the section of Wood Street under I-20 is between Seventh and Ninth Streets. There are no sidewalks in the section of Wood Street under I-20. The 800 block of Wood is between north Fourth and North Fifth Streets. "So the state wouldn't be involved in any sidewalks."

In West Monroe, Mayor Pro-Tem Earl Duncan and City Clerk Harold Hill said they had no knowledge of any work scheduled for Wood Street. They referred the question to Street Superintendent W. R. (Slim) Townson.

Townson said, "When I-20 is completed, the city of West Monroe plans to run another street program on the south-side. I would say that Wood Street would be included in this program. But it will have to be after I-20 is finished before we can do anything."

Does the local Democratic party as advocated by Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, Sen. Jamar Adcock, Mayor Jack Howard and Sheriff Bailey Grant and the Louisiana State Democratic party support the National Democrat Party by paying dues or assessments to the National Democrat Party that is supporting President Johnson and Kennedy? What about Mississippi? I understand they have refused to pay their dues or assessments to the National party for the past few years. Is this so?

We are informed that no dues are paid to any party in Louisiana. The above men are Louisiana Democrats and are that way by choice and election of the people and pay no dues to anyone or any party.

Since the Louisiana Democrat party pays no dues or assessments to the national party, we assume the same is so concerning Mississippi.

The second amendment along with the other two was interpreted on the editorial pages of this newspaper in the March 2 and 3 issues, Monday and Tuesday. This prevents the state as a whole from voting an unwanted tax on a local area.

Why is there so much difference working in nursing homes in Louisiana and working in other public places where they work eight hours a day?

Working in a nursing home comes under the category of domestic help and is not under the Interstate Commerce Wage Law. Consequently, jobs in this category usually pay the prevailing wage in the area and how much labor is available.

At the intersection of Forsythe and North 18th streets, Forsythe narrows from four to two lanes. On the left turn lane. If a vehicle headed east on Forsythe gets into the left turn lane and does not turn but proceeds on east, who would be at fault if the car in the left turn lane sideswiped a car in the right lane that also proceeded east?

According to officials of the Monroe police department, there is no set rule to apply to such a situation. If an accident of the type described did occur, it would be up to the judge to rule who was at fault from the circumstances in the particular case. A lot would depend on which vehicle entered the intersection first.

Why does the traffic light on Montgomery Street, a block and a half behind Ransom School, burn seven days a week, when there are no school children crossing there at any time?

Officers of the West Monroe police department report that the traffic light in question, located at the intersection of Montgomery, Reagan and Alpha Streets, is operated by a controlled timing system and burns only during certain hours. The light is set to function during the times when children are going to school, during the lunch hour and when school dismissed in the afternoon. The light operates seven days a week, police said, because stopping it on weekends would probably affect the timing service.

D'Arbonne Logs Removal Asked

The Louisiana Department of Public Works will be asked to assist in the removal of logs from Lake D'Arbonne.

Armand Rabun, chairman of the D'Arbonne Lake Commission, indicated that logs were striking the dam in the newly-created lake at Farmerville.

"They might do some damage to the understructure," he said. "They'll have to be pulled out and burned."

HUSBAND NO. FIVE

Liz, Richard Quiet About Marital Plan

TORONTO (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, freed from her fourth husband, Eddie Fisher, will take Richard Burton as her fifth and climax the decade's most publicized romance in ceremonies so quiet not even their closest friends will know about it, a spokesman said Friday.

When the marriage will take place, and where, was anybody's guess. But it was a better than even bet that when the couple returns to the United States later this month it will be as man and wife.

Miss Taylor's way to the altar with Burton was cleared Thursday night when a Mexican judge granted her an uncontested divorce from Fisher. She and Burton celebrated with dinner and champagne at the Walker House Hotel restaurant here.

John Springer, a New York public relations executive who acts as spokesman for the couple, said as far as he knew their plans for marriage had not yet been completed.

"It probably will happen so quietly that not even I will know," Springer said. "The last thing they want is publicity."

Burton and Miss Taylor have been living in a downtown Toronto hotel for the past six weeks while he rehearsed and then opened in "Hamlet." Later this month the production will move to Boston before opening on Broadway April 1.

Ontario's marriage laws were not expected to provide any trouble, and acquiring the license also would be a simple matter.

Because their divorces were granted outside Canadian jurisdiction, an Ontario lawyer would be required to petition the provincial secretary's department and prove the divorces are legal.

Once this is carried out, Toronto authorities would be able to issue a marriage license. A court clerk could even go to their hotel, have them sign an application, and issue it on the spot.

There is a three-day waiting period; but this also could be waived.

Mrs. Sybil Burton obtained a Mexican divorce on grounds of abandonment in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, where Miss Taylor's divorce was granted Thursday night.

Two Teenagers Get Suspended Sentences Here

Two Monroe teenagers were sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary at Angola for simple burglary by Judge Jesse S. Heard in Fourth District Court Friday. Judge Heard then suspended the terms and placed the pair on probation.

Both John Wayne Lofton, 18, Apt. 8-A, George Breece Manor; and Granville Hill, 19, 303 S. 2nd St., has been remanded after pleading guilty to the simple burglary of Barham's Service Station on Dec. 18, 1963.

March 12 was set as arraignment date for Earsy Phillips, charged with theft of a floor polisher valued at $137.

In other court action, Thomas Sledge Jr., Negro, 208 rear N. 18th St., Monroe, was acquitted of a manslaughter charge by a 12-man jury. Sledge was charged with the slaying of Roy Sturges in June of 1963.

Members of the jury were Edward F. Koserog, ward 5; Tyson Bordelon, 3; Harry Wheelis, 8; Wayne J. McDonald, 3; E. S. Gulley, 1; Charles C. Calhoun, 5; George A. Wolcott, 10; M. L. Owens, 5; H. W. Lance, 10; Phillip N. Kennison, 1; Homer Eatmon, 3; and R. L. Aston, 3.

In another court session, Judge Hillyer S. Parker sentenced Raymond Ray Gilbard, 45, 1403 Madison Ave., Montgomery, Ala., to one year in the state prison for theft of property valued at $75.

The manslaughter trial of Henry Wilson, No. 6 Tony's Alley, Monroe, charged with the slaying of Wisner Smith on May 11, 1963, was continued without date.

Annual Potato Chip Sale By Y-Teens Begins

The annual potato chip sale of the Young Women's Christian Association's Y-Teens organizations began Friday and will continue through Monday, March 23.

Proceeds will go toward promotion of activities sponsored by the Y-Teens as well as for special programs and conferences.

According to Miss Bess Sharp, teen-age director for the YWCA, competition will be a keynote of the sale.

Prizes will be awarded to clubs and individuals promoting the greatest number of sales. A plaque will be presented to the school where the most bags are sold, on an average basis according to the number of members in the school's Y-Teen Clubs.

Each girl selling 96 bags will receive a Y-Teen bracelet bearing the organization's insignia.

Approximately 500 youngsters from throughout Ouachita Parish are participating in the sale.

TIME FOR PLANS

Judge To Study Local Difficulties In Parish Mixing

BATON ROUGE (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West said Friday he will consider local difficulties and give St. Helena Parish ample time to work out a plan to end racial segregation.

Judge West took under study a request by Negro attorneys that he order the St. Helena School Board to produce quickly a desegregation plan in an 11-year-old suit.

He rejected a claim by Norman Amaker, Negro attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, that the school board acted in bad faith and that the "integrity" of a 1960 court order was at stake.

"It won't be a matter of 30 days," Judge West told Amaker, referring to the deadline to be set for the school board to act.

Judge West agreed with State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion that desegregation of the tiny rural parish presented serious problems that more urban areas do not face.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright ordered the East Baton Rouge and St. Helene Parish school boards in 1960 to submit plans to desegregate.

Judge West said no time limit was given the boards. He said it has been standard procedure for school boards to wait until given a definite time limit before preparing plans.

Judge West said St. Helena's school board was in good faith, and he believed the board would have been in bad faith if it had not exhausted every legal remedy to maintain its school system "as they thought it should be."

Judge West said he had a right and a duty under earlier court decisions to consider local difficulties in working out public school desegregation—especially when the situation presented imminent possible danger.

Gremillion said he would not ask for a delay in the order, although it would put a terrible strain on the school board.

"All we ask," he said, "is that you give as ample time as possible for the school board" to work out a plan. He said the same thing was done in the East Baton Rouge case.

The school board realized, Gremillion said, that eventually the court would have to order it to take some steps toward desegregation.

The greatest concern, he said, was for pupils in the "thoroughly rural" area and their safety.

The problems were peculiar, he said, because of the large ratio of Negroes in the strawberry-growing area.

Allen Buys Sam Thomas Stores Here

Stores of Sam Thomas Appliances Inc. in the Monroe area have been purchased by Joe Allen and will be operated under the name of Allen Appliances Inc.

Allen, of 2127 Pargoud Blvd., has been manager of the Thomas operations during the past year.

Stores involved in the sale are those at McLemore Shopping Center in West Monroe, 621 Louisville Ave., Monroe, and at Safeway Shopping Center, 311 Plum St., on the Monroe south side.

Grand opening under the new operational setup will be March 16, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., with sale specials and door prizes to be featured.

Allen explained that he had been granted the General Electric franchise which had been carried by these stores previously, and the same line of merchandise and services will be offered as in the past. Sales and servicing will include the same area covered by these stores previously. The service department is located at the Louisville store.

Allen also said that there will be no personnel changes involved in the new setup.

The new owner is married, and has one daughter. He is a native of Monroe, and a veteran of 23 years service as an air force pilot. He flew fighter planes and transports during World War Two, and later liaison craft. He also saw service in the Korean War.

Australian Grazer Dies At Brisbane

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Harold de Vahl Rubin, 69, one of Australia's greatest philanthropists and a millionaire grazer, died here Friday after a brief illness.

Rubin was the son of a Melbourne wharf laborer who became a pearl trader and grazer. He built an empire of 14 grazing properties from Queensland to West Australia.

Rubin never disclosed the extent of his fortune. He was reputed to have given away nearly $1.12 million to Australian charities.

He is survived by his widow and three sons.

Is Nancy Carole Tyler, secretary to Bobby Baker a Negro?

We cannot say for sure, but she served as Miss Tennessee at one time and it is difficult to conceive that she might have been selected if she were a Negro.

How is the Morehouse Natural Gas Co. incorporated—that is, is it a profit or non-profit organization? Who are the principal stockholders? How do their rates compare with other retail gas companies' rates? What price do they pay for the gas at the well head?

The public service commission says:

It is a profitable organization. Stockholders are Simmons J. Barry and Earl Porter, both of Baton Rouge.

Rates of the gas company are comparable with rates of other gas companies of comparable size and possibly a little less. The last figures furnished the public service commission show that the gas costs the company 24 cents at the well head.

The Supreme Court of Louisiana ordered the public service commission to put the present rates into effect Mar. 22, 1963. The commission had denied the rate increase because there was a question as to cost of improvements, however, the court ruled in favor of the gas company.

What exactly was the job that Bobby Baker resigned in Washington? What were his duties? What brought about his resignation? Were there any specific reasons for this current investigation?

Baker Oct. 7 of last year handed in his resignation from his $19,600 a year position as secretary to the Senate Majority. Majority Leader Sen. Mike Mansfield (D.-Mont.) accepted the resignation with regret but admitted the "necessity" of it.

The resignation followed press reports that Baker was being sued by a business competitor named Ralph L. Hill who alledged that the Senate employee had used influence to gain contracts for a vending machine company (Serv-U) with which he was connected.

Baker had served as majority secretary since 1955. He was considered a protege of Lyndon B. Johnson who became majority leader in that year.

The Senate rules committee Oct. 29 began an investigation of Hill's charges and of other business ventures with which Baker had been connected. Testimony released by the committee Jan. 21 disclosed that a Baker business partner, Don B. Reynolds, had sold then-Sen. Johnson $100,000 in life insurance about 1957 and had then given both Baker and Johnson expensive phonograph sets. Reynolds also said he bought $1,208 in advertising on KTBC, a radio station owned by the Johnson family, because it was "expected" of him.

He said arrangements to buy the time were made with Walter B. Jenkins, a Johnson aide then and currently a special assistant to President Johnson, Jenkins denied to committee investigators any knowledge of arrangements between Reynolds and KTBC. Reynolds sold then-Vice President Johnson another $100,000 in life insurance in 1961.

Who is instigator of legislation that requires our Louisiana people to purchase two-year auto tags? Who benefits?

The Davis administration was instigator of the two-year license plates. Roland Cocreham, commissioner of the Louisiana Department Revenue, expressed to the Legislature the administration's desire to put an amendment on the original bill requiring two-year vehicle license plates. Cocreham's argument was that two-year plates would be a service to the people found standing in line each year trying to get license plates. He also pointed out it would save the state of Louisiana thoudsands of dollars in money spent for license plates which previously had to be printed each year; in other words, a 50 per cent saving on printing and metal, and some saving on administration costs.

Is a divorce legal in Louisiana if a person was married before and has a child by this marriage, but when she gets a divorce says she has no children.

If the divorce decree is a valid one, then the mere fact that the person in question misrepresented to the court that she had no child, but in fact did have a child would not impair the validity of the divorce decree.

When is the city of West Monroe or the state going to do something about the condition of Wood Street from Fourth Street west, and also the sidewalks in the 800 block?

George P. Forman, fifth district highway engineer for the Louisiana highway department, replies: "The street has been in a bad state of repair for a long time, before the state ever started work on Interstate 20. There is a section of Wood Street which falls in our right-of-way—the section which runs under the expressway. There are no plans for work on Wood Street under the present contract on I-20 between Fifth and Stella Streets and the end of the Ouachita River bridge. This doesn't mean necessarily that we won't, because certain conditions might make it necessary for the state to be involved."

Forman pointed out that the section of Wood Street under I-20 is between Seventh and Ninth Streets. There are no sidewalks in the section of Wood Street under I-20. The 800 block of Wood is between north Fourth and North Fifth Streets, "So the state wouldn't be involved in any sidewalks."

In West Monroe, Mayor Pro-Tem Earl Duncan and City Clerk Harold Hill said they had no knowledge of any work scheduled for Wood Street. They referred the question to Street Superintendent W. R. (Slim) Townson.

Townson said, "When I-20 is completed, the city of West Monroe plans to run another street program on the south-side. I would say that Wood Street would be included in this program. But it will have to be after I-20 is finished before we can do anything."

Does the local Democratic party as advocated by Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, Sen. Jamar Adcock, Mayor Jack Howard and Sheriff Bailey Grant and the Louisiana State Democratic party support the National Democrat Party by paying dues or assessments to the National Democrat Party that is supporting President Johnson and Kennedy? What about Mississippi? I understand they have refused to pay their dues or assessments to the National party for the past few years. Is this so?

We are informed that no dues are paid to any party in Louisiana. The above men are Louisiana Democrats and are that way by choice and election of the people and pay no dues to anyone or any party.

Since the Louisiana Democrat party pays no dues or assessments to the national party, we assume the same is so concerning Mississippi.

Whom can I contact to get information to take a nurse's aide course?

The Ouachita Valley Trade School in West Monroe conducts such courses if a sufficient number of persons are interested. The last class was done at the request of a local hospital who had need of trained persons in that field. Also, a lot of nurses' aides have been trained on the job at the local hospitals in the Twin Cities.

I would like an interpretation of the second of three proposed amendments to the Louisiana constitution which were voted on March 3.

The second amendment along with the other two was interpreted on the editorial pages of this newspaper in the March 2 and 3 issues, Monday and Tuesday. It is interpreted as: Providing for local taxes voted on local areas through state-wide balloting to be approved in the areas to which the taxes apply. This prevents the state as a whole from voting an unwanted tax on a local area.

Why is there so much difference working in nursing homes in Louisiana and working in other public places where they work eight hours a day?

Working in a nursing home comes under the category of domestic help and is not under the Interstate Commerce Wage Law. Consequently, jobs in this category usually pay the prevailing wage in the area and how much labor is available.

At the intersection of Forsythe and North 18th streets, Forsythe narrows from four to two lanes. On the left turn lane. If a vehicle headed east on Forsythe gets into the left turn lane and does not turn but proceeds on east, who would be at fault if the car in the left turn lane sideswiped a car in the right lane that also proceeded east?

According to officials of the Monroe police deparmtent, there is no set rule to apply to such a situation. If an accident of the type described did occur, it would be up to the judge to rule who was at fault from the circumstances in the particular case. A lot would depend on which vehicle entered the intersection first.

Why does the traffic light on Montgomery Street, a block and a half behind Ransom School, burn seven days a week, when there are no school children crossing there at any time?

Officers of the West Monroe police department report that the traffic light in question, located at the intersection of Montgomery, Reagan and Alpha Streets, is operated by a controlled timing system and burns only during certain hours. The light is set to function during the times when children are going to school, during the lunch hour and when school dismissed in the afternoon. The light operates seven days a week, police said, because stopping it on weekends would probably affect the timing service.

D'Arbonne Logs Removal Asked

The Louisiana Department of Public Works will be asked to assist in the removal of logs from Lake D'Arbonne.

Armand Rabun, chairman of the D'Arbonne Lake Commission, indicated that logs were striking the dam in the newly-created lake at Farmerville.

"They might do some damage to the understructure," he said. "They'll have to be pulled out and burned."

HUSBAND NO. FIVE

Liz, Richard Quiet About Marital Plan

TORONTO (UPI) — Elizabeth Taylor, freed from her fourth husband, Eddie Fisher, will take Richard Burton as her fifth and climax the decade's most publicized romance in ceremonies so quiet not even their closest friends will know about it, a spokesman said Friday.

When the marriage will take place, and where, was anybody's guess. But it was a better than even bet that when the couple returns to the United States later this month it will be as man and wife.

Miss Taylor's way to the altar with Burton was cleared Thursday night when a Mexican judge granted her an uncontested divorce from Fisher. She and Burton celebrated with dinner and champagne at the Walker House Hotel restaurant here.

John Springer, a New York public relations executive who acts as spokesman for the couple, said as far as he knew their plans for marriage had not yet been completed.

"It probably will happen so quietly that not even I will know," Springer said. "The last thing they want is publicity."

Burton and Miss Taylor have been living in a downtown Toronto hotel for the past six weeks while he rehearsed and then opened in "Hamlet." Later this month the production will move to Boston before opening on Broadway April 1 .

Ontario's marriage laws were not expected to provide any trouble, and acquiring the license also would be a simple matter.

Because their divorces were granted outside Canadian jurisdiction, an Ontario lawyer would be required to petition the provincial secretary's department and prove the divorces are legal.

Once this is carried out, Toronto authorities would be able to issue a marriage license. A court clerk could even go to their hotel, have them sign an application, and issue it on the spot.

There is a three-day waiting period, but this also could be waived.

Mrs. Sybil Burton obtained a Mexican divorce on grounds of abandonment in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, where Miss Taylor's divorce was granted Thursday night.

Annual Potato Chip Sale By Y-Teens Begins

The annual potato chip sale of the Young Women's Christian Association's Y-Teens organizations began Friday and will continue through Monday, March 23.

Proceeds will go toward promotion of activities sponsored by the Y-Teens ,as well as for special programs and conferences.

According to Miss Bess Sharp, teen-age director for the YWCA, competition will be a keynote of the sale.

Prizes will be awarded to clubs and individuals promoting the greatest number of sales. A plaque will be presented to the school where the most bags are sold, on an average basis according to the number of members in the school's Y-Teen Clubs.

Each girl selling 96 bags will receive a Y-Teen bracelet bearing the organization's insignia.

Two Teenagers Get Suspended Sentences Here

Two Monroe teenagers were sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary at Angola for simple burglary by Judge Jesse S. Heard in Fourth District Court Friday. Judge Heard then suspended the terms and placed the pair on probation.

Both John Wayne Lofton, 18, Apt. 8-A, George Breece Manor; and Granville Hill, 19, 303 S. 2nd St., has been remanded after pleading guilty to the simple burglary of Barham's Service Station on Dec. 18, 1963.

March 12 was set as arraignment date for Earsy Phillips, charged with theft of a floor polisher valued at $137.

In other court action, Thomas Sledge Jr., Negro, 208 rear N. 18th St., Monroe, was acquitted of a manslaughter charge by a 12-man jury. Sledge was charged with the slaying of Roy Sturges in June of 1963.

Members of the jury were Edward F. Koserog, ward 5; Tyson Bordelon, 3; Harry Wheelis, 8; Wayne J. McDonald, 3; E. S. Gulley, 1; Charles C. Calhoun, 5; George A. Wolcott, 10; M. L. Owens, 5; H. W. Lance, 10; Phillip N. Kennison, 1; Homer Eatmon, 3; and R. L. Aston, 3.

In another court session, Judge Hillyer S. Parker sentenced Raymond Ray Gilbard, 45, 1403 Madison Ave., Montgomery, Ala., to one year in the state prison for theft of property valued at $75.

The manslaughter trial of Henry Wilson, No. 6 Tony's Alley, Monroe, charged with the slaying of Wisner Smith on May 11, 1963, was continued without date.

TIME FOR PLANS

Judge To Study Local Difficulties In Parish Mixing

BATON ROUGE (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West said Friday he will consider local difficulties and give St. Helena Parish ample time to work out a plan to end racial segregation.

Judge West took under study a request by Negro attorneys that he order the St. Helena School Board to produce quickly a desegregation plan in an 11-year- old suit.

He rejected a claim by Norman Amaker, Negro attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, that the school board acted in bad faith and that the "integrity" of a 1960 court order was at stake.

"It won't be a matter of 30 days," Judge West told Amaker, referring to the deadline to be set for the school board to act.

Judge West agreed with State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion that desegregation of the tiny rural parish presented serious problems that more urban areas do not face.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright ordered the East Baton Rouge and St. Helene Parish school boards in 1960 to submit plans to desegregate.

Judge West said no time limit was given the boards. He said it has been standard procedure for school boards to wait until given a definite time lkmit before preparing plans.

Judge West said St. Helena's school board was in good faith, and he believed the board would have been in bad faith if it had not exhausted every legal remedy to maintain its school system "as they thought it should be."

Judge West said he had a right and a duty under earlier court decisions to consider local difficulties in working out public school desegregation—especially when the situation presented imminent possible danger.

Gremillion said he would not ask for a delay in the order, although it would put a terrible strain on the school board.

"All we ask," he said, "is that you give as ample time as possible for the school board" to work out a plan. He said the same thing was done in the East Baton Rouge case.

The school board realized, Gremillion said, that eventually the court would have to order it to take some steps toward desegregation.

The greatest concern, he said, was for pupils in the "thoroughly rural" area and their safety.

The problems were peculiar, he said, because of the large ratio of Negroes in the strawberry-growing area.

Allen Buys Sam Thomas Stores Here

Stores of Sam Thomas Appliances Inc. in the Monroe area have been purchased by Joe Allen and will be operated under the name of Allen Appliances Inc.

Allen, of 2127 Pargoud Blvd., has been manager of the Thomas operations during the past year.

Stores involved in the sale are those at McLemore Shopping Center in West Monroe, 621 Louisville Ave., Monroe, and at Safeway Shopping Center, 311 Plum St., on the Monroe south side.

Grand opening under the new operational setup will be March 16, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., with sale specials and door prizes to be featured.

Allen explained that he had been granted the General Electric franchise which had been carried by these stores previously, and the same line of merchandise and services will be offered as in the past. Sales and servicing will include the same area covered by these stores previously. The service department is located at the Louisville store.

Allen also said that there will be no personnel changes involved in the new setup.

The new owner is married, and has one daughter. He is a native of Monroe, and a veteran of 23 years service as an air force pilot. He flew fighter planes and transports during World War Two, and later liaison craft. He also saw service in the Korean War.

Australian Grazer Dies At Brisbane

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Harold de Vahl Rubin, 69, one of Australia's greatest philanthropists and a millionaire grazer, died here Friday after a brief illness.

Rubin was the son of a Melbourne wharf laborer who became a pearl trader and grazer. He built an empire of 14 grazing properties from Queensland to West Australia.

Rubin never disclosed the extent of his fortune. He was reputed to have given away nearly $1.12 million to Australian charities.

He is survived by his widow and three sons.

Court Okays Mississippi Voting Laws

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A three-judge federal court Friday upheld the constitutionality of Mississippi voting laws by a 2-1 vote and dismissed a Justice Department suit challenging them.

The government claimed sections of the Mississippi Constitution requiring voters be of good moral character and able to read, write and interpret the constitution, plus five implementing laws, were unconstitutional ways of keeping Negroes from voting.

The court held both constitutional provisions were proper and the federal government had no legal grounds for invalidating them.

"No provisions of the constitution or a statute of Mississippi . . . deprives any citizen of the right to vote because of race or color," the majority opinion said.

"The least this court can do is to avoid a doubtful constitutional construction and to dismiss the action because it was not brought under any power given (the government) by the (federal) statute relied on.

"The power to establish or change the qualifications of electors . . . can be accomplished by constitutional amendment alone."

The court said the government suit "is not based on discrimination, but upon the asserted fundamental unconstitutionality of the entire structure of the Mississippi law providing voter qualifications."

The majority said it found the provisions "to be within the power of the state and to be reasonable and valid."

The majority said it did not hold that bad administration of the laws could not give rise to suits to prevent bad administration but said, "Administration cannot change the constitutional status of the law on its face."

The court said literacy tests were constitutional and that literacy must encompass understanding as revealed by interpretation, which is required by the state constitution.

Rusk Hits Foes Of Foreign Aid As Hurting U.S.

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday that "patriotic" Americans who want to drastically cut foreign aid for furthering Communist objectives and heading this country for "defeat and disaster."

In a speech devoted to foreign aid, one of a series of talks on different foreign policy subjects he is making around the country, Rusk said:

"Communist strategy in Asia, Africa and Latin America as well as in Europe can be summed up in the slogan 'Yanks go home.' Why any patriotic American would want to further this Communist objective by gutting our foreign aid programs and our other instruments for protecting and strengthening freedom is beyond my comprehension."

"I don't think the American people will heed the quitters," Rusk said. "I don't believe they will follow a prescription for defeat and disaster."

Rusk made the remarks in a speech prepared for ceremonies marking the hundredth anniversary of the University of Wisconsin YMCA.

Police Seeking Hit-Run Driver In West Monroe

West Monroe police are investigating a hit-and-run incident that occurred about 7 p.m. Friday.

Officers said that Al Hall, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hall, 106 Larche Dr., West Monroe, was struck from behind by a vehicle as he was walking south in about the 1500 block of North Seventh street.

The youth was not seriously injured, police said. He was taken to Glenwood Hospital with a large lump on his head and complaining of pain in his right side. No broken bones were shown in X-rays.

In other action, West Monroe authorities cleared two thefts from automobiles with the arrest of two Monroe teenagers.

John Fontenot, 17, 4600 Jackson St., and Ted Wayne Bailey, 17, 700 Stubbs Ave., were booked for theft after they admitted taking several items from cars on the First Baptist Church parking lot on Feb. 23.

Stolen merchandise, including a camera, radio and pistol, were recovered, police said.

The Ouachita Parish sheriff's department has arrested a 25-year-old Monroe man on charges of carrying a concealed weapon, forgery and burglary.

He was identified as Clarence Joseph Kring, Room 411, Alvis Hotel. He allegedly has been involved in several incidents in both Ouachita Parish and California since Feb. 12.

Monroe police booked Bobbie Garrett, 31, who listed his address as eight miles north of DeSiard street on U.S. Hwy. 165, on charges of issuing worthless checks.

Nine-Foot Channel Report Given Here

By SARAH LITTLE
World Staff Writer

Lt. Col. James S. Betts, U. S. Army Engineer Corps, told a gathering of local and area businessmen Friday night that the Ouachita River nine foot channel project will probably be completed by 1970.

Betts told the businessmen, representing a cross-section of city officials, chamber officials, and members of the Tensas Levee Board and Ouachita River Valley Association, that the Columbia lock and dam should be complete by 1968 or within three to four years.

He said preliminary construction has already begun at the site of the $15-to $18-million lock and dam and that by early summer, a second contract for further excavation and "work proper" will probably be let.

Lt. Col. Betts, district engineer with the Corps from Vicksburg, Miss., said the government also hopes to complete the lock and dam at Jonesville within a year of the Columbia lock and dam's completion. By doing this, "we can begin heavier tonnage as far as Monroe," he explained, adding that the entire project including terminals, diversion ditches and locks and dams will probably take six or seven years to complete.

Betts completed his first inspection of this end of the Ouachita River Friday since taking over his duties with the Vicksburg Corps headquarters. He inspected the site for the lock and dam at Jonesville, but was unable to inspect the construction site for the Columbia lock and dam because of road conditions to the spot. However, he inspected locks and dams now in existence at Harrisonburg, Columbia and Monroe before touring the riverfront along Monroe's shoreline to view the city's extensive recreational facilities.

In Betts' inspection party Friday were John Anderson, public relations man for the engineer corps; George Morris, chief of the Corps engineering division; H. K. Thatcher, executive secretary of the ORVA; Grayson Guthrie, president of the ORVA; W. C. Brown, president of the Tensas Levee Board; Ed Seymour, vice president of the levee board; and S. E. (Tige) Smith, district engineer with the Louisiana Department of Public Works.

These same men, along with numerous others, were present at a 7 p.m. dinner gathering at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club to welcome Lt. Col. Betts to this area. Following dinner at the club, Lt. Col. Betts opened the floor to a question and answer period discussion.

It was pointed out during the discussion that in order to complete the river channel project the Louisiana legislature will have to appropriate between $1½ to $2 million this year to the project for use in obtaining rights-of-ways, and establishing terminals along the waterway. Morris told Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard that leaders should act now in the movement to obtain rights of ways for the overflow which will result when the water level rises, and in seeing that the legislature appropriates the sum necessary for the project.

Lt. Col. Betts pointed out that the channel is being constructed in an effort to bring industrialization along the river and increase river traffic and tonnage. He said the federal government is financing all but a few million dollars of the $80-million necessary for the projects completion.

He said it will probably be around 18 months before construction can begin at the Jonesville lock and dam. He explained that a diversion ditch at this point, along with a small dam at the Little River must be constructed before the work at Jonesville can begin.

Rockefeller Switches Target

HAMPTON, N. H. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller switched his attack on the Democratic administration Friday from President Johnson to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential nominee.

The New York governor said that even if Kennedy is named as Johnson's running mate, the team will not have enough steam between them to beat the Republicans in November.

Kennedy has had a chance to air his views on world problems and other issues, Rockefeller said, and these views "won't enhance his position with the voters."

Rockefeller, moving into the homestretch of his campaign in this state's first-in-the-nation presidential primary next Tuesday, said that if he failed in his attempt to win the nomination, he will not accept the vice presidential nomination.

But he said whoever is nominated will defeat Johnson.

The Republican party will win "because of a deep concern on the part of the American people for the deterioration of the forces of freedom throughout the world," Rockefeller said.

The governor, during a question and answer period with high school and college newspaper editors at Dover, said he would not accept the vice presidential nomination if he failed to get the presidential nomination.

He said he did not consider the vice presidency the best way to serve the nation.

Rusk Hits Foes Of Foreign Aid As Hurting U.S.

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday that "patriotic" Americans who want to drastically cut foreign aid for furthering Communist objectives and heading this country for "defeat and disaster."

In a speech devoted to foreign aid, one of a series of talks on different foreign policy subjects he is making around the country, Rusk said:

"Communist strategy in Asia, Africa and Latin America as well as in Europe can be summed up in the slogan 'Yanks go home.' Why any patriotic American would want to further this Communist objective by gutting our foreign aid programs and our other instruments for protecting and strengthening freedom is beyond my comprehension."

"I don't think the American people will heed the quitters," Rusk said. "I don't believe they will follow a prescription for defeat and disaster."

Rusk made the remarks in a speech prepared for ceremonies marking the hundredth anniversary of the University of Wisconsin YMCA.

Court Okays Mississippi Voting Laws

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A three-judge federal court Friday upheld the constitutionality of Mississippi voting laws by a 2-1 vote and dismissed a Justice Department suit challenging them.

The government claimed sections of the Mississippi Constitution requiring voters be of good moral character and able to read, write and interpret the constitution, plus five implementing laws, were unconstitutional ways of keeping Negroes from voting.

The court held both constitutional provisions were proper and the federal government had no legal grounds for invalidating them.

"No provisions of the constitution or a statute of Mississippi . . . deprives any citizen of the right to vote because of race or color," the majority opinion said.

"The least this court can do is to avoid a doubtful constitutional construction and to dismiss the action because it was not brought under any power given (the government) by the (federal) statute relied on.

"The power to establish or change the qualifications of electors . . . can be accomplished by constitutional amendment alone."

The court said the government suit "is not based on discrimination, but upon the asserted fundamental unconstitutionality of the entire structure of the Mississippi law providing voter qualifications."

The majority said it found the provisions "to be within the power of the state and to be reasonable and valid."

The majority said it did not hold that bad administration of the laws could not give rise to suits to prevent bad administration but said, "Administration cannot change the constitutional status of the law on its face."

The court said literacy tests were constitutional and that literacy must encompass understanding as revealed by interpretation, which is required by the state constitution.

Police Seeking Hit-Run Driver In West Monroe

West Monroe police are investigating a hit-and-run incident that occurred about 7 p.m. Friday.

Officers said that Al Hall, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hall, 106 Larche Dr., West Monroe, was struck from behind by a vehicle as he was walking south in about the 1500 block of North Seventh street.

The youth was not seriously injured, police said. He was taken to Glenwood Hospital with a large lump on his head and complaining of pain in his right side. No broken bones were shown in X-rays.

In other action, West Monroe authorities cleared two thefts from automobiles with the arrest of two Monroe teenagers.

John Fontenot, 17, 4600 Jackson St., and Ted Wayne Bailey, 17, 700 Stubbs Ave., were booked for theft after they admitted taking several items from cars on the First Baptist Church parking lot on Feb. 23.

Stolen merchandise, including a camera, radio and pistol, were recovered, police said.

The Ouachita Parish sheriff's department has arrested a 25-year-old Monroe man on charges of carrying a concealed weapon, forgery and burglary.

He was identified as Clarence Joseph Kring, Room 411, Alvis Hotel. He allegedly has been involved in several incidents in both Ouachita Parish and California since Feb. 12.

Monroe police booked Bobbie Garrett, 31, who listed his address as eight miles north of DeSiard street on U.S. Hwy. 165, on charges of issuing worthless checks.

Nine-Foot Channel Report Given Here

By SARAH LITTLE
World Staff Writer

Lt. Col. James S. Betts, U. S. Army Engineer Corps, told a gathering of local and area businessmen Friday night that the Ouachita River nine foot channel project will probably be completed by 1970.

Betts told the businessmen, representing a cross-section of city officials, chamber officials, and members of the Tensas Levee Board and Ouachita River Valley Association, that the Columbia lock and dam should be complete by 1968 or within three to four years.

He said preliminary construction has already begun at the site of the $15-to $18-million lock and dam and that by early summer, a second contract for further excavation and "work proper" will probably be let. Lt. Col. Betts, district engineer with the Corps from Vicksburg, Miss., said the government also hopes to complete the lock and dam at Jonesville within a year of the Columbia lock and dam's completion. By doing this, "we can begin heavier tonnage as far as Monroe," he explained, adding that the entire project including terminals, diversion ditches and locks and dams will probably take six or seven years to complete.

Betts completed his first inspection of this end of the Ouachita River Friday since taking over his duties with the Vicksburg Corps headquarters. He inspected the site for the lock and dam at Jonesville, but was unable to inspect the construction site for the Columbia lock and dam because of road conditions to the spot. However, he inspected locks and dams now in existence at Harrisonburg, Columbia and Monroe before touring the riverfront along Monroe's shoreline to view the city's extensive recreational facilities.

In Betts' inspection party Friday were John Anderson, public relations man for the engineer corps; George Morris, chief of the Corps engineering division; H. K. Thatcher, executive secretary of the ORVA: Grayson Guthrie, president of the ORVA: W. C. Brown, president of the Tensas Levee Board; Ed Seymour, vice president of the levee board; and S. E. (Tige) Smith, district engineer with the Louisiana Department of Public Works.

These same men, along with numerous others, were present at a 7 p.m. dinner gathering at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club to welcome Lt. Col. Betts to this area. Following dinner at the club, Lt. Col. Betts opened the floor to a question and answer period discussion.

It was pointed out during the discussion that in order to complete the river channel project, the Louisiana legislature will have to appropriate between $1½ to $2 million this year to the project for use in obtaining rights-of-ways, and establishing terminals along the waterway. Morris told Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard that leaders should act now in the movement to obtain rights of ways for the overflow which will result when the water level rises, and in seeing that the legislature appropriates the sum necessary for the project.

Lt. Col. Betts pointed out that the channel is being constructed in an effort to bring industrialization along the river and increase river traffic and tonnage. He said the federal government is financing all but a few million dollars of the $80-million necessary for the projects completion.

He said it will probably be around 18 months before construction can begin at the Jonesville lock and dam. He explained that a diversion ditch at this point, along with a small dam at the Little River must be constructed before the work at Jonesville can begin.

Slanted Report

If the prevalent Washington attitude of accommodation toward Soviet nations is confusing, so is one of the facts as to how this policy is created. Although it is not widely known, there is a taxpayer-subsidized study which has provided the administration with the basis of many of these actions.

The existence of this study and how its recommendations have been followed by the administration was outlined in Congress several weeks ago by Representative Glenard P. Lipscomb of California.

Known as "Project Phoenix," the study was conducted by the Institute of Defense Analysis for the U.S. Arms Control Agency in the State Department.

The author is Vincent P. Rock, who has been associated with the national security policy on the White House staff and with the National Security Council.

Congressman Lipscomb said the report is highly significant at this time because since July of 1963, "administration policies seem to have coincided to a high degree with its recommendations." He added:

"Although it purports to be nothing more than its author's opinions, it has turned out to be a handy advance guidebook to administration actions."

For example, the "Phoenix Project" report recommended a reduction of trade restrictions with the Soviet Union. As actual policy, Secretary of Commerce Hodges announced in January that the administration will explore further opportunities for the development of East-West trade with emphasis on its readiness to sell agricultural products.

Then the report also called for more extensive scientific cooperation with the Soviet Union. To carry this out, there was the joint U.S.-Soviet communications project with the Echo II balloon satellite launched in January. The two nations will cooperate in the measuring of the intensity of cosmic ray particles during a joint Antarctic research project.

In addition, the "Phoenix Project" outlined an informal "understanding" with the Soviet Union on the matter of cutting military spending on both sides. It is, of course, important to mention that the report neglected to say that there are inner and outer walls existing in the Soviet Union to prevent the outside world from knowing what the Russians are spending or creating in the field of armaments.

But as a follow-up to the report, President Johnson has announced that the United States would reduce by 25 per cent the production of enriched uranium and would close four plutonium piles.

The New York Times put it plainly: ". . . In essence, the President agreed to an attempt by both the Soviet Union and the United States to hold down military budgets and their rates of increase without formal agreement . . ."

Congressman Lipscomb said the report's assumption that increased trade with Russia and assistance to Soviet agriculture would induce the Soviets to spend more on consumer goods was among its major "fallacies."

Common sense tells us the opposite. England tried to continue trade with the dictator nations, fascist Italy and nazi Germany in the late 1930's. Britain needed the money and the thought prevailed that supplying those nations with consumer goods would soften their aggressive tendencies.

But the opposite was true. Italy and Germany both accepted the imported goods and turned more of their domestic production to war materials.

It's equally true now that Russia will have less to worry about in line with crop failures and plow more of its resources into its obsession to become the world's top industrial power.

It is foolish to hope that the ideals of Marx, Lenin and Stalin have mellowed to the extent that the United States and the Soviet Union can "work together as well as independently" and that the world communist movement can learn "to indentify the cumulative mutual advantages of restraint, cooperation and common endeavors," as pointed out in the report of "Project Phoenix."

Tax Cut And Business

In a recent syndicated report, a Washington reporter described President Johnson's thinking on the federal tax cut, which will come to many persons this month in the form of a smaller deduction from wages.

Mr. Johnson foresaw this money being spent, thereby finding its way into business and industry, thus stepping up the tempo of the nation's economy. But at the same time, other economists foresaw a rise in prices. This could mean a reduction in the value of the dollar all the way up the line.

And when that happens, nobody benefits. The wage earner's "raise" is gobbled up in higher living costs while the businesses and manufacturers also must pay more for their goods and plant improvements. Since the tax cut is outlined to favor the wage earner, taxes will still take a big bite out of business and industry.

So it appears things will continue along similar lines as during the past several years. And how was that? Up until 1960, Representative Wright Patman, Democrat from Texas, posted bankruptcies and small business failures as part of his work as chairman of the House Banking and Currency committee.

His last statement on the subject, for example, ending June 30, 1960, pointed out there were 110,-034 bankruptcies as compared with the 70,049 for the "peak of the depression" in 1932.

Patman said he found it "extremely disturbing" to note that the number of business firms and individuals who went bankrupt in 1960 was almost 100,000 more than the previous fiscal year. It is also "disturbing" — to use Congressman Patman's own wording — to note that he has been silent as to business failures since the Democrats entered the White House in 1961.

Noting the lapse of time since Patman made his reports to the House, Representative Edward J. Derwinski, a Republican of Illinois, undertook to update the reports on this subject.

He noted: "We find Patman's comparisons pale when viewed in the light of the great increase, virtually four times that of fiscal 1960, which occurred in fiscal 1961, With this increase, by far the greatest since 1920, a new high of 143,643 bankruptcies was reported. Yet even this figure was surpassed in 1962 when the total was 147,780."

Turning to business failures, Derwinski cited a Dunn and Bradstreet statement that "despite a continuing drop in the number of firms listed since 1960, the number of failures indicated for 1961 — 17,075 — and 1962 — 15,782 — reached a high unknown since 1933."

Disregarding the political implications in the fact that reports up to 1961 were compiled by a Democrat and those more recent were compiled by a Republican, it's obvious that the businesses of the nation are not having an easy time of it. It is also difficult to see how the administration's hopes of extra vitality for the nation by way of the tax cut will ever materialize to any great extent.

The heavy, nine-inch bill of a wood ibis can snap shut faster than the human eye can blink.

Soviet Defector Discloses Names Of Red Co-Workers

The names of more than 150 espionage agents in this country and abroad have been given U. S. authorities by Yuri Nossenko, the important Russian secret police official who defected in Geneva last month.

His sensational disclosures put the finger on at least five spy rings, one reputedly in a highly sensitive U. S. Agency.

Among those named for the former ranking KGB officer are scientists, key - placed government employes, businessmen and newspapermen — all allegedly members of a far-flung Russian espionage system in the Western Hemisphere.

Arrests and dismissals from U. S., British and French intelligence and diplomatic services are expected to follow Nossenko's sensational revelations.

NOW IN political asylum in the U. S., he is being exhaustively "debriefed" by Central Intelligence authorities. His defection and detailed information are deemed so extraordinary by congressional leaders that they have taken the unusual step of personally impressing on CIA Director John McCone the necessity of exercising the utmost care in safeguarding Nossenko.

The congressional leaders are making no bones of their anxiety about possible attempts on Nossenko's life by KGB agents. His "elimination" would be a great relief to many Soviet spies in the U. S. and elsewhere.

A major factor in this congressional concern is inside knowledge that both Nossenko and "Michael Goleniewski", the former ranking Polish KGB official who defected to the U. S. several years ago, have charged that the State Department and CIA have been "penetrated" by Soviet agents.

BOTH DEFECTORS were explicit in their jarring accusations — naming names and other details.

As a consequence, the congressional leaders are frankly uneasy about CIA and State Department handling of defectors. Blunt doubts have been voiced about the nature and reliability of protective measures.

THESE BACKSTAGE apprehensions have resulted in investigations being launched by two influential congressional committees — the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Senator James Eastland, D-Miss., and the House Subcommittee on Immigration, headed by Representative Michael Feighan, D-O.

Senator Eastland has issued a subpoena for "Goleniewski" (the name given him by the CIA to conceal his true identity) and requested that agency to bring him before the committee for questioning.

The committee particularly wants to get at the bottom of why nothing has been done about various individuals identified by "Goleniewski" as Soviet agents.

Some of them are in the CIA and State Department.

"Goleniewski" reported this to the CIA, but the Eastland Committee has been told no action has been taken on his detailed charges.

Representative Feighan has personally talked with "Goleniewski," and as a result feels very strongly it is urgent to dig into whether defectors are being properly "debriefed" and guarded.

In his meeting with Feighan "Goleniewski" flatly stated that he feared for his life.

The one-time important Polish secret police official told Feighan the astonishing story of being taken into a room with a group of CIA agents for a discussion, only to discover "one of my own agents sitting in front of me."

"Goleniewski" related he feigned illness and called off the meeting. Later, he informed his CIA "control man" what had actually happened, and subsequently the "double agent" disappeared. "Goleniewski" told Feighan he had no idea what became of him; whether he was arrested, dismissed or shifted somewhere else.

THIS IS one of the answers Feighan wants to unearth in his contemplated investigation.

He also wants to get the answer to another charge by "Goleniewski" — that CIA authorities have attempted to discourage him from talking about Russian agents in their agency.

According to "Goleniewski," he was told by certain CIA officials that "they were not interested in this type of information."

Feighan wants to know why not.

HE ALSO wants to know why no action has been taken against both the alleged agents and the disinterested officials. Feighan personally reported these facts to top members of the Kennedy administration, but they did nothing.

And as far as he has been able to ascertain, nothing has been done as yet by the Johnson administration. That's why both Feighan and Senator Eastland propose to conduct inquiries to put on the official records of their committees the full details of this menacing backstage situation.

As recently disclosed by this column, since Nossenko's defection two high - ranking Soviet officials suddenly "died" under mysterious circumstances.

They are Pavel M. Zernov, Deputy Minister of Medium Machinery Buildings, and V. V. Borisoglebskiy, chairman of the Military Tribunal which handled the trial of former U-2 pilot Francis Powers after he was shot down over Russia. Both officials were superiors of Nossenko before his assignment as chief KGB officer with the Soviet disarmament delegation in Geneva. Only the most trusted KGB agents are permitted to operate outside of Russia.

Careful Timing In Bowing Out

There's a time to be seen and heard. A time to be seen. A time neither to be seen nor heard.

If I were in charge of national Republican policies I would consider it poor politics to invite General Eisenhower to appear on national TV where millions of his fellow Americans can gaze upon his features and listen to his speech.

In a recent appearance at a fund-raising dinner his features were those of a rapidly aging man; his speech crisscrossed by a series of jumbled, mumbling sentences as he bravely sought for the proper words and phrases to express his thoughts.

I WATCHED him not only as a doctor but as an American for whom the Eisenhower image was a projection of something from the past: the dashing general who gave the free world victory on D-day: and the vibrant President with the billion-dollar grin.

This is how I'd like to remember him. I think that one of his outstanding traits is physical and spiritual courage. Few men would have braved the taut and tense years as he did after overcoming attacks of coronary thrombosis, cerebral thrombosis and an operation for ileitis. He carried on as bravely as if he were the color bearer under fire.

This is how I'd prefer to remember him.

So I preferred to remember Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and not as the sickly, aging leader which TV showed him to be in his last months and years. But that is the image that sticks in my thoughts.

I AM thankful that I have not seen former President Truman on the screen lately. I still picture him as the cocky, resourceful, courageous American, the kind of man I'd be happy to choose as friend.

My last look at Hoover on TV was a few years back when, in his 80s, he was on the way to some fishing expedition. It was a tonic to see him so active and comparatively youthful.

Readers will agree that recent newspaper and TV pictures of Winston Churchill have brought them at least some degree of remorse at seeing this dynamic genius in his dotage; weak and withered and frail.

SO, AS a citizen (not as a doctor looking upon a case and jumping at conclusions by long distance diagnosis) I am hopeful that the coming Presidential campaign will not find General Eisenhower in the white light of television. I want to remember the younger Ike.

Organizations are selfish. They willingly sacrifice the individual for the good of the many members. I doubt that political parties are exceptions to this rule.

As I've always told my patients who were being pressed into accepting responsibilities again in spite of their evident physical or mental weaknesses, "You've done your part. Learn to say No. They'll flatter you and say they can't get along without you. But they can. They'll find someone to take your place. Go out and enjoy your remaining years free from added stress."

AND SO I presume to say to a man who has done so much for his country. "Enough is enough. Quit while you're ahead. Take the strain off the arteries in your brain and heart. You've had enough of TV. May your only problem be par on the golf course, Mr. Eisenhower."

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Allergy — Disguised Attacker," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of Monroe Morning World.

Movie Spreads Public Jitters

A movie called "Dr. Strangelove" is busily giving Americans the jitters about nuclear warfare. What the motive behind the movie may be is anybody's guess. The thinking derives from the brilliant (and brilliantly warped) mind of Bertrand Russell, who has been so obsessed by "the bomb" that he is ready to embrace Comrade Khrushchev.

"Dr. Strangelove" is based on the thesis that a single lunatic general can set off a nuclear war by ordering an atomic raid on the peace loving Soviet Union. The movie, therefore, does double duty as propaganda against those who argue that we must not take guff from the Communists if we hope to survive.

THERE IS one basic flaw in "Dr. Strangelove": none of it is true. No single individual, other than the President of the United States, can order the use of nuclear weapons. No single individual can bypass all the human and electronic safeguards which prevent the unauthorized use of nuclear weapons. No general—and the film is a concerted libel on our soldiers—can by accident or design controvert the vast electronic system which safeguards our nuclear arsenal.

It's as simple as that. It would have taken the determined makers of "Dr. Strangelove" but a few hours of work to learn this. There is evidence that the requisite information was in their hands. But why give up such a golden propaganda opportunity—and the gold that will come from it—just for the sake of accuracy? Why, indeed?

I take the trouble to mention this vicious movie because it is being employed emotionally and politically against those who take a serious view of Communism's threat. It is being used to belabor men who have devoted their lives to the service of this country.

There is only one antidote to this film: the truth. Fortunately for us, the truth is available in a new book, "Peace Is a Three-Edged Sword" (Prentice-Hall), which was never planned as an answer to the movie. While the cameras were grinding, the book's author, Lloyd Mallan, was traveling some 35,000 miles and tape-recording interviews with 89 top scientists, military men, and civilian leaders who are acquainted with our nuclear defenses. He was visiting the installations which house the Strategic Air Command's manned bombers and its intercontinental ballistic missiles.

LLOYD MALLAN is not just a writer who got interested in his topic and pursued the facts. He is one of the country's best informed and most responsible science writers—as the scientific community will attest. He is respected by the military for his knowledge and for the care with which he applies it.

Step by step, Mr. Mallan shows why the "accidental" or the malignly directed nuclear war is an impossibility. He notes that even after the President has authorized the use of a nuclear bomb, it must go through a series of complex authentications and verifications. "Even after the code has been verified throughout the vast interlocking system, no combat crew at an ICBM site can launch a missile until an electronic device at the site receives what are known as 'launch-enabling signals.' These can be transmitted only by the Underground Command Post at SAC Headquarters."

AND, HE adds, "this, launch-or-no-launch aspect of Missile Positive Control can be likened to a chain of almost numberless invisible electronic keys, each of which fits into a special electronic lock. Unless the right key is mated with its proper lock, the 'door' will not open to allow other doors to be opened with succeeding keys." The skills and timing required, even when all the doors are legitimately opened, are such that they "preclude the possibility that one or two, or even three men could launch a missile by accident or with hysterically malicious intent."

To arm the nuclear warhead is as difficult, and has as many safeguards, as launching the missile. If the warhead is not properly armed "it will accomplish no more damage than an empty steel drum."

"Peace Is a Three-Edged Sword" is more than an answer to the propagandists who seek to disarm us. It is also a dramatic and intriguing account of the way America's defenses work in a Nuclear-Electronic Age. Lloyd Mallan can make these complex matters easy to understand for mortals such as I, without in any way compromising fact.

I HOPE his book is widely read. It will go far to give Americans an understanding of their military posture in a world which is still governed by George Washington's dictum: "If we desire peace, it must be known that we are at all times ready for war." This explains SAC's motto: "Peace is our profession." Malign confusion is Dr. Strangelove's.

Small Businesses Aided By Tax Cut

One of the biggest tax cuts in the whole 1964 tax law goes to small and medium-size corporations. As an illustration, a corporation with $25,000 of net income after expenses paid $7,500 in taxes for 1963. Under the new law, it will pay only $5,500 for 1964 — a huge saving of over 25 per cent.

Although tax rates have been lowered for all corporations, those with incomes of $25,000 or less receive by far the biggest proportionate benefit from the reductions. Here is how past rate schedules have been changed by the 1964 law.

Corp. income	1963	1964	1965
Up through $25,000	30%	22%	22%
Over $25,000	52%	50%	48%

WHAT DOES this mean to you as a businessman? If you are now operating as an individual proprietor or in a partnership, you should carefully weigh the comparative advantages of switching into a corporation because of the corporate rate cuts.

There are traps, though, to avoid. The sharply lower tax rate of 22 per cent on the first $25,000 of corporation income could lead you to think of splitting your operations into more than one corporation just to get the extra tax breaks. For instance, a corporation which earns $50,000 will pay 22 per cent on its first $25,000 and 50 per cent on the next $25,000 under the 1964 rates. Wouldn't it be a good idea, you might say, to set up a business equally between two corporations so that each would pay only 22 per cent on its $25,-000 — and thereby save $7,000 in taxes as compared to operating as one corporation?

The answer is No, because the new law includes provisions designed to discourage operation of a business through multiple corporations to cash in on the 22 per cent rate. It limits the benefit of the new 22 per cent rate on the first $25,000 of each corporation's income where a parent corporation owns subsidiary corporations or where a group of corporation is owned 80 per cent or more by the same individual or estate or trust.

Even if there are sound business reasons other than tax savings for operating through more than one corporation, these groups are restricted to this choice. Either get a 22 per cent rate on only the first $25,000 of the group's total income, regardless of how many corporations are in the group, or pay a higher 28 per cent rate on the first $25,000 of income of each corporation.

IF YOU are a businessman vitally concerned with this choice, here is my advice to you. You often will find it advantageous to pay the higher 28 per cent rate on the first $25,000 of each corporation.

Let's say each of four corporations in your controlled group has $25,000 of income in 1964. The corporations could pay 22 per cent on the first $25,000 of the total income of the group plus 50 per cent on the remaining $75,000 — a total tax of $43,-000. Or they could pay 28 per cent on the first $25,000 of each corporation — a total tax of only $28,000. This is an easy choice.

The new law also makes it more difficult to create or set up new multiple corporate operations. Before 1964 it was reasonably simple for a person to set up two or more corporations to operate his business or to transfer his real estate to a corporation he owns. But under the new law, if five or less individuals who already own 80 per cent or more of one corporation form one or more other corporations to which they transfer property (other than cash), they will be presumed to have done this for tax saving purposes.

Then they can even be barred from choosing the 28 per cent rate unless they can clearly prove that tax savings was not a major purpose — which will be a mighty tough job.

YOU CAN still set up new corporations to save taxes by transferring cash to them and having them buy the desired property from an unrelated source.

Slanted Report

If the prevalent Washington attitude of accommodation toward Soviet nations is confusing, so is one of the facts as to how this policy is created. Although it is not widely known, there is a taxpayer-subsidized study which has provided the administration with the basis of many of these actions.

The existence of this study and how its recommendations have been followed by the administration was outlined in Congress several weeks ago by Representative Glenard P. Lipscomb of California.

Known as "Project Phoenix," the study was conducted by the Institute of Defense Analysis for the U.S. Arms Control Agency in the State Department.

The author is Vincent P. Rock, who has been associated with the national security policy on the White House staff and with the National Security Council.

Congressman Lipscomb said the report is highly significant at this time because since July of 1963, "administration policies seem to have coincided to a high degree with its recommendations." He added:

"Although it purports to be nothing more than its author's opinions, it has turned out to be a handy advance guidebook to administration actions."

For example, the "Phoenix Project" report recommended a reduction of trade restrictions with the Soviet Union. As actual policy, Secretary of Commerce Hodges announced in January that the administration will explore further opportunities for the development of East-West trade with emphasis on its readiness to sell agricultural products.

Then the report also called for more extensive scientific cooperation with the Soviet Union. To carry this out, there was the joint U.S.-Soviet communications project with the Echo II balloon satellite launched in January. The two nations will cooperate in the measuring of the intensity of cosmic ray particles during a joint Antarctic research project.

In addition, the "Phoenix Project" outlined an informal "understanding" with the Soviet Union on the matter of cutting military spending on both sides. It is, of course, important to mention that the report neglected to say that there are inner and outer walls existing in the Soviet Union to prevent the outside world from knowing what the Russians are spending or creating in the field of armaments.

But as a follow-up to the report, President Johnson has announced that the United States would reduce by 25 per cent the production of enriched uranium and would close four plutonium piles.

The New York Times put it plainly: ". . . In essence, the President agreed to an attempt by both the Soviet Union and the United States to hold down military budgets and their rates of increase without formal agreement . . ."

Congressman Lipscomb said the report's assumption that increased trade with Russia and assistance to Soviet agriculture would induce the Soviets to spend more on consumer goods was among its major "fallacies."

Common sense tells us the opposite. England tried to continue trade with the dictator nations, fascist Italy and nazi Germany in the late 1930's. Britain needed the money and the thought prevailed that supplying those nations with consumer goods would soften their aggressive tendencies.

But the opposite was true. Italy and Germany both accepted the imported goods and turned more of their domestic production to war materials.

It's equally true now that Russia will have less to worry about in line with crop failures and plow more of its resources into its obsession to become the world's top industrial power.

It is foolish to hope that the ideals of Marx, Lenin and Stalin have mellowed to the extent that the United States and the Soviet Union can "work together as well as independently" and that the world communist movement can learn "to indentify the cumulative mutual advantages of restraint, cooperation and common endeavors," as pointed out in the report of "Project Phoenix."

Tax Cut And Business

In a recent syndicated report, a Washington reporter described President Johnson's thinking on the federal tax cut, which will come to many persons this month in the form of a smaller deduction from wages.

Mr. Johnson foresaw this money being spent, thereby finding its way into business and industry, thus stepping up the tempo of the nation's economy. But at the same time, other economists foresaw a rise in prices. This could mean a reduction in the value of the dollar all the way up the line.

And when that happens, nobody benefits. The wage earner's "raise" is gobbled up in higher living costs while the businesses and manufacturers also must pay more for their goods and plant improvements. Since the tax cut is outlined to favor the wage earner, taxes will still take a big bite out of business and industry.

So it appears things will continue along similar lines as during the past several years. And how was that? Up until 1960, Representative Wright Patman, Democrat from Texas, posted bankruptcies and small business failures as part of his work as chairman of the House Banking and Currency committee.

His last statement on the subject, for example, ending June 30, 1960, pointed out there were 110,034 bankruptcies as compared with the 70,049 for the "peak of the depression" in 1932.

Patman said he found it "extremely disturbing" to note that the number of business firms and individuals who went bankrupt in 1960 was almost 100,000 more than the previous fiscal year. It is also "disturbing" — to use Congressman Patman's own wording — to note that he has been silent as to business failures since the Democrats entered the White House in 1961.

Noting the lapse of time since Patman made his reports to the House, Representative Edward J. Derwinski, a Republican of Illinois, undertook to update the reports on this subject.

He noted: "We find Patman's comparisons pale when viewed in the light of the great increase, virtually four times that of fiscal 1960, which occurred in fiscal 1961, With this increase, by far the greatest since 1920, a new high of 143,643 bankruptcies was reported. Yet even this figure was surpassed in 1962 when the total was 147,780."

Turning to business failures, Derwinski cited a Dunn and Bradstreet statement that "despite a continuing drop in the number of firms listed since 1960, the number of failures indicated for 1961 — 17,075 — and 1962 — 15,782 — reached a high unknown since 1933."

Disregarding the political implications in the fact that reports up to 1961 were compiled by a Democrat and those more recent were compiled by a Republican, it's obvious that the businesses of the nation are not having an easy time of it. It is also difficult to see how the administration's hopes of extra vitality for the nation by way of the tax cut will ever materialize to any great extent.

The heavy, nine-inch bill of a wood ibis can snap shut faster than the human eye can blink.

Soviet Defector Discloses Names Of Red Co-Workers

The names of more than 150 espionage agents in this country and abroad have been given U. S. authorities by Yuri Nossenko, the important Russian secret police official who defected in Geneva last month.

His sensational disclosures put the finger on at least five spy rings, one reputedly in a highly sensitive U. S. Agency.

Among those named for the former ranking KGB officer are scientists, key - placed government employes, businessmen and newspapermen — all allegedly members of a far-flung Russian espionage system in the Western Hemisphere.

Arrests and dismissals from U. S., British and French intelligence and diplomatic services are expected to follow Nossenko's sensational revelations.

NOW IN political asylum in the U. S., he is being exhaustively "debriefed" by Central Intelligence authorities. His defection and detailed information are deemed so extraordinary by congressional leaders that they have taken the unusual step of personally impressing on CIA Director John McCone the necessity of exercising the utmost care in safeguarding Nossenko.

The congressional leaders are making no bones of their anxiety about possible attempts on Nossenko's life by KGB agents. His "elimination" would be a great relief to many Soviet spies in the U. S. and elsewhere.

A major factor in this congressional concern is inside knowledge that both Nossenko and "Michael Goleniewski", the former ranking Polish KGB official who defected to the U. S. several years ago, have charged that the State Department and CIA have been "penetrated" by Soviet agents.

BOTH DEFECTORS were explicit in their jarring accusations — naming names and other details.

As a consequence, the congressional leaders are frankly uneasy about CIA and State Department handling of defectors. Blunt doubts have been voiced about the nature and reliability of protective measures.

THESE BACKSTAGE apprehensions have resulted in investigations being launched by two influential congressional committees — the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Senator James Eastland, D-Miss., and the House Subcommittee on Immigration, headed by Representative Michael Feighan, D-O.

Senator Eastland has issued a subpoena for "Goleniewski" (the name given him by the CIA to conceal his true identity) and requested that agency to bring him before the committee for questioning.

The committee particularly wants to get at the bottom of why nothing has been done about various individuals identified by "Goleniewski" as Soviet agents.

Some of them are in the CIA and State Department.

"Goleniewski" reported this to the CIA, but the Eastland Committee has been told no action has been taken on his detailed charges.

Representative Feighan has personally talked with "Goleniewski," and as a result feels very strongly it is urgent to dig into whether defectors are being properly "debriefed" and guarded.

In his meeting with Feighan "Goleniewski" flatly stated that he feared for his life.

The one-time important Polish secret police official told Feighan the astonishing story of being taken into a room with a group of CIA agents for a discussion, only to discover "one of my own agents sitting in front of me."

"Goleniewski" related he feigned illness and called off the meeting. Later, he informed his CIA "control man" what had actually happened, and subsequently the "double agent" disappeared. "Goleniewski" told Feighan he had no idea what became of him; whether he was arrested, dismissed or shifted somewhere else.

THIS IS one of the answers Feighan wants to unearth in his contemplated investigation.

He also wants to get the answer to another charge by "Goleniewski" — that CIA authorities have attempted to discourage him from talking about Russian agents in their agency.

According to "Goleniewski," he was told by certain CIA officials that "they were not interested in this type of information."

Feighan wants to know why not.

HE ALSO wants to know why no action has been taken against both the alleged agents and the disinterested officials. Feighan personally reported these facts to top members of the Kennedy administration, but they did nothing.

And as far as he has been able to ascertain, nothing has been done as yet by the Johnson administration. That's why both Feighan and Senator Eastland propose to conduct inquiries to put on the official records of their committees the full details of this menacing backstage situation.

As recently disclosed by this column, since Nossenko's defection two high - ranking Soviet officials suddenly "died" under mysterious circumstances.

They are Pavel M. Zernov, Deputy Minister of Medium Machinery Buildings, and V. V. Borisoglebskiy, chairman of the Military Tribunal which handled the trial of former U-2 pilot Francis Powers after he was shot down over Russia. Both officials were superiors of Nossenko before his assignment as chief KGB officer with the Soviet disarmament delegation in Geneva. Only the most trusted KGB agents are permitted to operate outside of Russia.

Careful Timing In Bowing Out

There's a time to be seen and heard. A time to be seen. A time neither to be seen nor heard.

If I were in charge of national Republican policies I would consider it poor politics to invite General Eisenhower to appear on national TV where millions of his fellow Americans can gaze upon his features and listen to his speech.

In a recent appearance at a fund-raising dinner his features were those of a rapidly aging man; his speech crisscrossed by a series of jumbled, mumbling sentences as he bravely sought for the proper words and phrases to express his thoughts.

I WATCHED him not only as a doctor but as an American for whom the Eisenhower image was a projection of something from the past: the dashing general who gave the free world victory on D-day; and the vibrant President with the billion-dollar grin.

This is how I'd like to remember him. I think that one of his outstanding traits is physical and spiritual courage. Few men would have braved the taut and tense years as he did after overcoming attacks of coronary thrombosis, cerebral thrombosis and an operation for ileitis. He carried on as bravely as if he were the color bearer under fire.

This is how I'd prefer to remember him.

So I preferred to remember Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and not as the sickly, aging leader which TV showed him to be in his last months and years. But that is the image that sticks in my thoughts.

I AM thankful that I have not seen former President Truman on the screen lately. I still picture him as the cocky, resourceful, courageous American, the kind of man I'd be happy to choose as friend.

My last look at Hoover on TV was a few years back when, in his 80s, he was on the way to some fishing expedition. It was a tonic to see him so active and comparatively youthful.

Readers will agree that recent newspaper and TV pictures of Winston Churchill have brought them at least some degree of remorse at seeing this dynamic genius in his dotage; weak and withered and frail.

SO, AS a citizen (not as a doctor looking upon a case and jumping at conclusions by long distance diagnosis) I am hopeful that the coming Presidential campaign will not find General Eisenhower in the white light of television. I want to remember the younger Ike.

Organizations are selfish. They willingly sacrifice the individual for the good of the many members. I doubt that political parties are exceptions to this rule.

As I've always told my patients who were being pressed into accepting responsibilities again in spite of their evident physical or mental weaknesses. "You've done your part. Learn to say No. They'll flatter you and say they can't get along without you. But they can. They'll find someone to take your place. Go out and enjoy your remaining years free from added stress."

AND SO I presume to say to a man who has done so much for his country. "Enough is enough. Quit while you're ahead. Take the strain off the arteries in your brain and heart. You've had enough of TV. May your only problem be par on the golf course, Mr. Eisenhower."

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Allergy — Disguised Attacker," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of Monroe Morning World.

Movie Spreads Public Jitters

A movie called "Dr. Strangelove" is busily giving Americans the jitters about nuclear warfare. What the motive behind the movie may be is anybody's guess. The thinking derives from the brilliant (and brilliantly warped) mind of Bertrand Russell, who has been so obsessed by "the bomb" that he is ready to embrace Comrade Khrushchev.

"Dr. Strangelove" is based on the thesis that a single lunatic general can set off a nuclear war by ordering an atomic raid on the peace loving Soviet Union. The movie, therefore, does double duty as propaganda against those who argue that we must not take guff from the Communists if we hope to survive.

THERE IS one basic flaw in "Dr. Strangelove": none of it is true. No single individual, other than the President of the United States, can order the use of nuclear weapons. No single individual can bypass all the human and electronic safeguards which prevent the unauthorized use of nuclear weapons. Concordia Vote To Hike School Funds Planned

VIDALIA (Special) — The Concordia Parish School Board will call an election in April for an increase of five mills for capital outlay and two mills for preventative maintenance in the parish's 13 school plants, according to Parish Superintendent, J. O. Lancaster.

Lancaster said that the two elementary schools in Ferriday would be full to capacity this fall along with the two colored schools located there. He also pointed out the need for 25 new teachers in the parish school system along with four new bus routes.

The board also proposed the following changes to better utilize existing facilities.

Move 8th grade from Vidalia High School to Vidalia Junior High.

Move three fifth grade sections from Ferriday Elementary School to Ferriday Junior High School.

Change Clayton to an elementary school, grades 1-6, adding two teachers and sending 7th and 8th grades to Ferriday Junior High.

The board then agreed to advertise for bids on a machine accounting system, grass cutting equipment or someone to cut grass, and for bids on paint for summer painting.

In completing action on the agenda, the board granted one year sabbatical leave to Vidalia head coach, Dan Chase, and appointed assistant coach Fred Foster to serve in Chase's place.

The board accepted the resignation of Clyde Smith as principal of Vidalia Lower Elementary School and appointed Charles Chauvin principal for the remaining school year.

Catahoula Sets Pre-School Age Health Clinics

JONESVILLE (Special) — Annual pre-school clinics will be conducted in the schools of Catahoula Parish during the next two weeks, it was announced Friday by Dr. T. B. White parish health officer.

Dr. White announced the following dates for clinics at various schools.

Enterprise High School, Monday March 9; Manifest Elementary School, Tuesday, March 10; Central High School of Larto, Thursday, March 12; Jonesville Elementary School, Monday and Tuesday, March 16 and 17.

The dates for Negro schools were given as follows: Jonesville Consolidated High School, Thursday and Friday, March 19, and 20, and Martin High School in Sicily Island, Monday, March 23.

Parents of children born during the year 1958 are requested to bring the children to their respective school on the date assigned.

VISITS LATIN AMERICA

BONN (UPI) — President Heinrich Luebke of West Germany will arrive in Peru April 24 to begin a series of state visits to Latin American countries.

Nine Ministers To Face Trials In County Court

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)— Forrest County prosecutor James Dukes said Friday nine ministers found guilty Feb. 3 in city court on charges of disorderly conduct, will be in Hattiesburg Monday preparatory to a county court trial on the same charges.

All nine clergymen appealed the cases to county court. They were arrested by city police who said the ministers refused to obey lawful orders while taking part in picketing at the county courthouse in connection with a Negro voter registration campaign.

Dukes said he was informed by attorneys for the ministers that they would return to Hattiesburg. The trial probably will be set sometime next week.

A $750 cash appeal bond was posted for each minister. On Feb. 10 after the nine had been released from jail and returned home, County Judge William Haralson forfeited the appeal bonds when the defendants failed to appear for the February term of court.

The judge said that unless the defendants were present for the March term, the entire $6,750 would be in permanent forfeit.

Greenlease Son Dies Of Brain Hemorrhaging

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)— Paul Robert Greenlease, 47, only surviving son of Robert Cosgrove Greenlease, millionaire automobile dealer, died Friday of a brain hemorrhage.

He was the half-brother of Bobby Greenlease who was slain in 1953, when he was 6 years old, by kidnapers who collected a record $600,000 ransom from his father.

The killers, Carl Austin Hall and Bonny Brown Heady, were apprehended and executed, but more than half the ransom disappeared at the time of their arrest. It never was recovered.

In addition to his father, Paul Greenlease was survived by his wife, two sons, a daughter, and a half-sister.

Voters To Sign Forms In Area

FERRIDAY (Special) — Concordia Parish Registrar of Voters, J. P. House, announced Friday that he is now in the process of changing the parish voters over to the permanent registration system.

House said that everyone who is now registered must sign a permanent form or their name will be removed from the polls.

The registrar will be in the Ferriday City Hall on Monday and Tuesday, March 9 and 10 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Voters from the 7th Ward, precincts 1, 2 and 3 may sign the permanent form at this time.

House said he will be in other areas of the parish at a later date.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

JOTTINGS IN PENCIL . . . Spectators and press at the Jack Ruby trial in Dallas may expect forensic fireworks when the state offers medical testimony to prove the corpus delecti. Melvin Belli and Joe Tonahill, co-counsel for the defendant, will attempt to show that Lee Harvey Oswald did not die as a result of the single bullet pumped into him by Ruby, but because of "bungled" surgery during which he allegedly suffered a fatal embolism . . . Helen Hayes, "first lady" of the theatre, is in the mood to change her mind about starring in "The White House," the play about a series of first ladies. The producers are said to be busily seeking a replacement so that the show can open on schedule this spring — with Julie Harris being mentioned as likely choice. Originally, the Helen Hayes premiere (for a charity) was to have been graced by ex-President and Mrs. Eisenhower, ex-President and Mrs. Truman, and possibly Jacqueline Kennedy.

Joe Campanella, who was Judy Holliday's leading man in "Hot Spot," will waltz down the aisle in May with singer Jill Bartholomew . . . Danny Kaye and Gwen Verdon are conferring about teaming for a one-man one-woman show this summer . . . Members of the "Funy Girl" cast are taking shots since costume designer Irene Sharaff came down with hepatitis . . . Mitzi Gaynor has received a personal invitation from President Johnson to headline the May 26 rally in Washington, which will officially kick off his campaign for re-election.

THE NEWS FROM TORONTO: Elizabeth Taylor was presented with a birthday cake by the "Hamlet" cast, the pastry lovingly inscribed "Happy Birthday, Mascot and Den Mother." In appropriate fashion, Liz cut the cut expertly with Richard Burton's "Hamlet" sword . . . An important musical heading for Broadway is having serious money problems. In polite terms, it's "under-financed". . . Stuart Ostrow, producer-director of the Meredith Willson show, "Here's Love," turned down an offer to produce and direct "Zenda" for Broadway.

Willie Mays may be making news outside the sports sections in the near future. A national bus outfit has been huddling with the "Say Hey Kid" about heading a network of "sports clinics" for young America, come next autumn . . . Lois DeFee, the Amazonian star of one of the 1939-1940 World's Fair exhibits, is recuperating at her home in North Miami after her recent hospital ordeal. She's now 30 pounds — and several thousands of dollars — lighter.

From this column in mid-January: If Melvin Belli, attorney for Jack Ruby, can't get a change of venue, he'll rent a home in Dallas for the duration of the trial."

From a New York morning paper, datelined Dallas, 11 days later (Special): "Jack Ruby's chief defense lawyer, Melvin Belli, said today he will rent a house here for the duration of Ruby's murder trial."

So what's so special:

Greenwich Village remains typically "village." A movie house there is playing "Beat the Devil," but its marquee doesn't bill Humphrey Bogart, Gina Lollobrigida or any of the actors. It merely reads "Truman Capote" . . . If Bing Crosby does the projected half hour TV series next season, it's a good bet that Kathy Grant (Mrs. Bing) will make frequent guest appearances . . . Ingrid Bergman's entrance at the Regency dining room for lunch indicated extra-sensory perception on her part. She strolled in looking lovely in a chic beige suit — the perfect costume to wear against the beige, brown and gold decor. Ingrid and husband Lars Schmidt expect to be in New York for two weeks, then they'll head for California for a brief visit.

An undercover revolt is brewing among the performers who belong to the Actors' Studio. They feel that the Strasbergs, and other brass, are involved with too much "commercial stuff" and too little that is experimental, also that they're hiring actors outside the Studio rather than their own disciples . . . Joe Levine, who was blessed with five Oscar nominations for Federico Fellini's "8½," just closed a long-distance deal to release the next Fellini masterpiece. No word on the title; it won't have one until the director finishes it and decides what it's all about.

Small Business Conference Held At Area College

GRAMBLING — A management conference for small business men was held Thursday at Grambling College.

Under the sponsorship of the Department of Business, the one-day session drew attendance from students and area businesses.

Frank W. Mitchell, Business Analyst, Small Business Administration of Dallas, Texas discussed "Managing Problem Employees in Business;" and Robert L. Pou Jr., Chief Management and Research Assistance Division of SBA, Dallas, Tex., held a two-hour session on "Some Peculiar Problems of Small Business."

The conference was wrapped up by Randall L. Tyus Special Assistant for Minority Groups, Small Business Administration Washington D. C. The conference was designed to aid owners managers, and key personnel of small business.

Federal Grant Received For State Planning

A federal grant of $253,521 was given the Department of Public works to aid in financing a state-wide planning program, Director Claude Kirkpatrick said Friday.

Kirkpatrick said the planning program was launched about six months ago by the Associated Planners of Louisiana and the department is putting up $126,760 towards the financing of the program.

He said "this state-wide planning program will include an economic study and a population study," and is being headed up by his department by being made by five planners including Dan Martin, of New Orleans, who began a planning study of West Monroe before it was dropped.

After the planning is conducted, its results will be available to any interested group, according to Kirkpatrick who said "we don't have plans to put it into law."

Hit-Run Victim Dies At Natchez

NATCHEZ, Miss. (Special) — A Natchez Negro Youth, Ike Roach Jr., died early Friday in a Natchez hospital from injuries received in a hit-and-run atuomobile accident Sunday.

According to police, the youngster was struck by an automobile driven by an unknown person about 6:30 p.m. Sunday and has been hospitalized ever since.

An autopsy performed Friday showed the child died of a brain injury. Police are still seeking the driver of the auto that struck the youth.

NO FADE OUT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The mailman at Walter Reed Army Hospital had proof Friday that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had not "faded away" from the public's memory.

More than 2,000 "get well" letters and cards arrived for the old soldier in the morning mail.

Hospital attendants said flowers were arriving "by the truckload."

Ft. Polk Notes 12 Outbreaks Of Meningitis

FORT POLK, La. (AP) — There have been 12 cases of meningitis at Fort Polk since last Dec. 1, including two deaths.

Announcing this Friday, Fort Polk authorities said they were undertaking a preventative medical program. The program will be undertaken simultaneously with volunteer programs in the neighboring civilian community.

Authorities emphasized that the incidence of cases at Fort Polk is not high and the recovery rate is better than in many civilian communities of comparative size.

Four such patients are now in the post hospital. The Public Information Office said although they are seriously ill, the following are responding well to medication and are expected to recover:

HAY FEVER IN DOGS

Northwestern university medical school has a unique colony of allergic dogs — three terriers and an English setter. All are sensitive to ragweed and develop an itching dermatitis during the hay fever season. Other symptoms include nasal congestion, cough, asthma, and conjunctivitis.

The canines live at the medical school. They are visited by otherdogs with similar allergies, brought in by veterinarians. A total of 12 animals with symptoms during the pollinating or ragweed season have been given skin tests, which are positive for ragweed antigen. Some have other allergies, including sensitivity to flea antigens.

When these dogs are exposed to ragweed pollen or extracts, they develop not only respiratory symptoms but dermatitis. It is not known why the skin is involved in dogs in contrast to human hay fever victims. The answer may be that these animals scratch themselves and some of the pollen in the air settles on the irritated areas.

The four medical college dogs serve as laboratory models of human pollen allergy. Tests can be done more conveniently than in human allergic patients. The results of these studies may give vital information on hay fever, asthma, hives, and exzema. These data will help the millions of persons who spend considerable time, money, and energy trying to get relief from the sneezing, wheezing, and itching caused by hypersensitivity to ragweed and other allergens.

But this is not all. Many of our pets have allergies that must be just as annoying to them as ours are to us. They also will benefit from research along this line and veterinarians will be able to offer more scientific advice to the owners.

Desensitizing injections for animals may become available thru these studies. Or the animals may band together, form a fund raising society, and demand filtered masks instead of open muzzies. Additional research may disclose that Fido is sensitive to human dander—a variation of man bites dog.

CHEST PAIN

G.F. writes: Terrific pains develop in the center of my chest, which are relieved by belching. Does this indicate heart or digestive disease?

New Officials To Take Top Posts Early

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Top elective state officials other than the governor and lieutenant governor will take office before the May 12 governor's inauguration the State-Times said Friday.

Usually, these officials commissions are issued by the incoming governor. They take their oaths one to three weeks after the start of the new chief executive's four-year term.

The newspaper quoted what it called an unimpeachable source saying the early commissioning of nine top officials would set a precedent in Louisiana government.

The law specifies the governor and lieutenant governor cannot take office until the day after the legislature meets, in this case, May 12.

But the law provides all other top elected state officials can be issued commissions anytime 30 days after the general election, which was held March 3.

The newspaper said commissions probably will be issued in April to the Attorney General, Commissioner of Agriculture, State Treasurer, state Custodian of Voting Machines, Superintendent of Education, Commissioner of Insurance, Secretary of State, Register of State Lands, and State Comptroller.

The same procedure, the newspaper said, could apply to commissions for police juries and any other elected officials who cannot take office until they receive commissions signed by the governor.

A change of administration would take place only in the office of Insurance Commissioner.

In that office, Rufus Hayes did not seek re-election. He will be succeeded by Dudley Guglielmo, his top assistant. All other incumbents were re-elected.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis has been assured by legal advisors, the newspaper said, that the new procedure would comply with state law.

Supreme Court Asked To Hasten Atlanta Mixing

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Justice Department asked the U.S. Supreme Court Friday to require Atlanta to speed up school desegregation, and the city was joined quickly by the state of Georgia in a legal fight against the move.

The Supreme Court is expected to rule soon whether Atlanta, now in the fourth year of a desegregation plan, must not only speed up the plan, but integrate faculties and set up school attendance zones.

Atlanta school officials were clearly angry over the Justice Department step. They maintained that the city had "'bent over backward" to comply with federal court desegregation orders and now is being punished "becaue things are going so well."

The school board instructed its attorney, A. C. (Pete) Latimer, and a special assistant, Newell Edenfield, to go to Washington to prepare for the fight in the Supreme Court to have the present school plan upheld.

Wisconsin's Gov. John W. Reynolds, who had expected to be an unopposed favorite - son candidate pledged to President Johnson, was to file later.

Former Inmate Of Auschwitz Meets Keepers

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — An ex-Auschwitz concentration camp prisoner identified 10 of his former SS tormentors in a dramatic courtroom confrontation Friday that left some of the defendants spluttering with rage.

Told by the prosecution of Germany's largest war crimes trial to identify defendants he had mentioned in testimony, Hermann Langbein walked slowly through the hushed courtroom, pointing to the right and left as he strolled through the ranks of the 22 former SS guards and Auschwitz functionaries on trial.

"Fancy seeing you again — and here, of all places," Langbein said sarcastically when he stopped in front of former SS Sgt. Oswald Kaduk.

"You know me, that's true, but that's trash what you're saying about me here," Kaduk barked while he snapped his full 6 feet 3 inches to attention.

He resumed his walk, stopping in front of former SS Lt. Col. Victor Capesius.

"And here's the good Dr. Capesius. How are you doctor?" Langbein asked.

"I never took part in selecting prisoners for the gas chambers as you testified," Capesius yelled by Langbein.

Langbein, a Viennese writer, said he was used at the camp to type death certificates.

All the defendants are accused of murder or of being accomplices to murder. The charges say they killed in a variety of ways — by torture, beatings, starvation, injections of carbolic acid solution, gassing, shooting, and by burning alive.

New Jobs Filled; Unemployment Keeping Pace

WASHINGTON (UPI) —About 800,000 new jobs were filled in February, but the number of persons looking for work increased by just about the same figure, the Labor Department reported Friday.

The new jobs helped push the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate down to 5.4 per cent of the work force, the lowest in 16 months. Increases in trade and construction, and heavier production in the steel, automotive and machinery industries got most of the credit.

Labor Department statistician Harold Goldstein said the decline in the jobless rate was not too significant because the actual number of persons out of work in February was just about the same as in January. It remained at about 4.5 million.

Long-term unemployment — those out of a job for 13 weeks or more — was unchanged from January. The number was 1.2 million, a decline of 150,000 over the year with most of the improvement coming among those out of work for six months or longer.

Police Say Ruby Plotted Two Days

day because of the president's death. He was very upset. He said, 'Don't you give a damn about the president? Don't you know the president is dead? I don't know if I'll ever open the club again.' "

On Sunday morning, Nov. 24, Little Lynn said she aroused Ruby from sleep with a telephone call from her home in Fort Worth, Tex., asking for $25 to pay her rent.

"He sounded as if he had been crying, or was about to cry, like someone far away. I had to ask three times, 'Jack, are you there?' "

Her testimony was intended to bolster the defense contention Ruby was in a gradually worsening state of shock after the president's assassination and that this culminated in a mental blackout during which he killed Oswald.

Against this defense claim, the state fired its big gun in the form of its final witness who, for the first time, established a possible motive behind Ruby's shooting of Oswald. Defense attorneys met the testimony with shouted objections and vain demands for a mistrial.

The state sought to impress on a jury of four women and eight men who are trying the 52-year-old Ruby for his life that Oswald's slaying was premeditated.

The 17-day-old trial reached a peak of tension after Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade led Police Sgt. P. T. Dean through a series of unimportant questions. They dealt with the commotion in the basement of Dallas police headquarters after Ruby stepped from a crowd and killed Oswald with a single bullet.

Dean testified that he went to the fifth floor of police headquarters 10 to 15 minutes after the shooting. Ruby was held captive there, stripped to his undershorts. Was there any conversation there? Wade wanted to know. Dean said there had been.

To a man, the three defense lawyers—Melvin M. Belli, Joe Tonahill and Phil Burleson — jumped to their feet with objections. Judge Joe B. Brown overruled them.

"Tell the jury what else you recall the defendant, Jack Ruby, telling you on that occasion," Wade told Dean.

Dean answered in an even, metallic voice: "He said something to the effect that he thought about this two nights prior when he had seen Lee Harvey Oswald on the showup stand."

The reference was to Ruby's presence the Friday night of Kennedy's assassination Nov. 22 when the defendant slipped in among newsmen for a face-to-face confrontation with the 24-year-old Oswald.

Belli was objecting again, as Dean continued:

"He said he believed in the due process of law, but he was so torn up about this situation, his sister having just gotten out of the hospital and this man having killed the President and officer (J. D.) Tippit, he knew the outcome of the trial would be the death penalty and he saw no reason for Mrs. Kennedy being brought back to Dallas for the trial."

Wade continued: "On the Friday night, what are the facts with reference to what he decided to do when he saw the sarcastic sneer on Oswald's face?"

Dean was allowed to answer: "He said when he noticed the sarcastic sneer on Oswald's face, that's when he first thought that if he got the chance he would kill him and would also show the world that Jews do have guts."

Ruby, who is Jewish and who operated a Dallas strip tease joint at the time of the slaying, sat motionless, his eyes riveted on the witness, as a sudden stir of reaction rippled through the courtroom.

Dean's reference to Tippit was to police officer J. D. Tippit, 39, a member of the Dallas force who was shot to death shortly after Kennedy's death while trying to intercept a man believed by police to be the presidential assassin. Oswald, before his death, also had been charged with this slaying.

Ruby went to trial Feb. 17. Pleading insanity as his defense to the murder charge, his lawyers claim he was driven into a blackout by shock over the president's death, and did not plan Oswald's slaying, or even realize he was executing the slaying.

Strangely, Dean's explosive testimony was admitted by Judge Brown through a chink in the law that the defense created. Thursday, Belli went into matters on cross-examination that occurred after Ruby's arrest.

Friday, the defense claimed Ruby's constitutional rights were being violated by Dean's testimony, since the events occurred after the defendant's arrest when he could not be required to testify against himself.

However, Judge Brown allowed the state to proceed along a trail first broken by the defense.

At the outset of the court day, Ruby, for the first time, saw the television films made when the shooting occurred. National network cameras were focused on the scene in the basement of police headquarters.

Countless American television viewers saw the shooting. But Ruby, held without bail in a jail cell since that November day, had never been allowed to see the tapes.

He fidgeted through a 50-minute rerun of two television tapes during which the jury was absent. Then he sat through the same thing again while the tapes were shown the jury.

As far as could be determined it was the first time an American defendant in a murder case ever had to undergo the ordeal of watching the actual slaying screened in a semidarkened courtroom.

Reflections from the flickering screen eight feet in front of him highlighted the pallor of Ruby's face and the baldness of his head.

When the climax of the film was reached the first time, Ruby crouched low in his seat and leaned forward until his chin was only inches above the defense table.

At other times, he blinked, bowed his head or closed his eyes for brief intervals.

All but two members of the jury had seen the television tapes before. However, they looked on intently throughout the showing.

The state's next-to-last witness was Capt. Glen King of the Dallas police.

He testified that less than a minute after Oswald was shot he heard Ruby say, "You didn't think I was going to let him get away with it, did you?"

King recalled telling Ruby after the shooting: "You dirty scum. You're the scum of the earth."

He did not recall, as other officers testified Thursday, that he asked Ruby why he shot Oswald and that Ruby replied, "Somebody had to do it, somebody had to take care of it, and you guys couldn't do it."

In cross-examination of Dean, Belli established that Ruby had made his statements about plotting to kill Oswald without being informed that he was under arrest, and without being advised of his constitutional rights.

Reaction to the Aircade was typified in the statements of West Monroe Chamber of Commerce delegate Bert Hatten:

"It made me more aware that throughout the country, recognition is being given to the need for more fiscal responsibility in our federal government, and for self-reliance among individuals.

He cited the "acute awareness of a drift toward socialism. The only solution to this trend is an alert public which will bring the pressure of its feelings to bear on the politicians in our national government."

Delegates from West Monroe were Chamber President Tex Kilpatrick, legislative committee chairman Hugh Balfour, Chamber Vice President Eugene Scott, Alderman George Wylie, Manager Eugene Smith, Ralph Caldwell and Hatten.

Monroe delegates were Mayor W. L. Howard, Chamber President George Moses, Airport Manager Hank Hargrove and Chamber Manager Jim Williams.

Balfour said that plans are being made for local meetings "to carry this information gained to businessmen and civic leaders here."

At the session, Neilan commented on the "false face of frugality," of the Johnson Administration's proposed budget for fiscal 1965.

"The cash budget will be exactly equal to what President Kennedy proposed."

But he said he wanted to give the Administration "a pat on the back," explaining, "at least the rate of spending hasn't gone up.

Figures shown the delegates pointed up the 1965 budget request for $103.8 billion, with spending estimated at $97.9 billion, revenue estimated at $93 billion — with an estimated deficit of $4.9 billion. This does not include "supplementals, dollars requested by the Administration in addition to what has been already appropriated in this fiscal year.

"For the past two years, the supplemental average has been above $4 billion," said Henry C. Coleman, National Chamber panelist from Daytona Beach, Fla. and chairman of the U. S. Chamber's government operations and expenditures committee.

"The 1965 budget will not accommodate all the proposals and programs this Administration is pushing," he said.

Coleman then went on to quote Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) chairman of the House appropriations program: "The budget. . sows seeds of increased federal spending in the future.

Medicare proposals, said U. S. Chamber official Terry Rice, boils down to an "issue of not whether the health needs of the elderly will be taken care of, but whether to turn the job over to the federal government and saddle all taxpayers with the cost."

He discussed a question submitted by West Monroe delegates, who asked an evaluation of the needs for medicare, and its financial requirements.

Of 13½ million people over age 65 today, only 1.4 million are not covered by health insurance in the form of old age assistance, Kerr-Mills law, veterans administration or voluntary insurance.

"Several hundred thousand are not covered for religious and other personal reasons," delegates were told.

The reason for the "push" to enact medicare legislation?

"This is probably the initial step which some of the union leaders want," said Neilan, "to obtain coverage for the aged—and then to extend it to everyone.

"This is the first step, under Social Security, in which a service would be provided, rather than cash.

"It will give enormous impetus to building up a bureaucracy to administer the service."

Medicare would boost social security taxes from the present limit of $174 per year on $4800 income to "at least $300 tax yearly," Rice warned.

"The burden will continue to ride largest and heaviest on the lowest income group. More benefits equal more taxes."

Proposed federal subsidies for urban mass transit — a subject which has gained little prominence in Louisiana — came under attack.

"The proposal (H. R. 3881, S.6) would take taxes from all over the country for transit programs in major eastern cities," explained Rice, who is general manager of the National Chamber's legislative action. "Legislation would authorize $500 million as a start over a three-year period."

Of 2700 Chambers of Commerce which have contacted the national organization on the proposal, only 21 approved federal intervention into local transit problems.

"The answer to this problem," said Rice, "is shown by 30 or 40 cities which have faced up to the fact that their transit systems needed improvements, and that it could be done through fare increases, revenue bonds or other local methods."

The bill is high on the Administration's priority list.

"He (President Johnson) wants it badly," said Rice. "In the big cities, the man wants as much help as he can get."

Shorter work-week proposals incorporated in five House resolutions "will hurt the unskilled people, the ones which the bills propose to help," explained Karl Mueller, Fort Worth, Tex. attorney.

"The issue is, should the federal government be responsible for setting local wages."

Purpose of the bill is to shorten the standard work-week of 40 hours under the Fair Labor Standards Act to periods ranging from 32 to 35 hours and to require payment of double-time for overtime.

Other topics under discussion at the Aircade included:

"Benchmarks", or "anchors" against socialism: Individual freedom; free competitive markets; steady economic progress; limited government

Labor Relations: need for applying antitrust laws to labor unions, and for assigning National Labor Relations Board jurisdiction over labor cases to U. S. District Courts, to take the NLRB out of politics.

The Accelerated Public Works program, guided by the Area Redevelopment Administration, "is not the answer to unemployment. The answer is a climate which permits private business to invest and create new and lasting jobs."

U.S. Ready To Aid Viet Nam More If Needed

HONOLULU (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara stressed Friday that the United States is ready to increase economic aid, military training and logistical support to the South Viet Nam government to fight the Communists more effectively.

McNamara, accompanied by several aides, arrived in Hawaii for a day-long conference with Pacific military leaders on the Viet Nam situation.

The defense secretary, with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, at his side, again emphasized the gravity of the situation in Viet Nam.

"It is serious," McNamara said. "They have had three governments in three months and the Viet Cong has greatly increased its acts of terror and harassment, seeking to take advantage of the changes."

McNamara said the purpose of his visit to Saigon on Saturday is to discuss the situation with Gen. Nguyen Khanh and members of his government, as well as with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. Paul D. Harkins.

McNamara said the U.S. delegation will examine the evidence of increasing infiltration of men and arms from North Viet Nam and "to reaffirm the commitment of the United States to assist the Vietnamese in every possible way to counter the subversive attacks on their people and their government."

court to their pressroom, and with spectators seeking entrance to the trial.

Jenkins was seized and overpowered by Probate Court aides after Deputy Allen spotted the men and cried, "Stop!"

Meanwhile, one of the aides, H. H. McKaye, grabbed Gregory. He said later: "I grabbed him and he took out this little old gun. It looked makeshift to me, like it was made out of wood. But I didn't want to take any chances so I kind of lost my grip on him."

Gregory then walked into the Probate Court where he threatened an aide, Edna Briggs, and a clerk, Ruth Thornton, about 60, widow of a former judge in the courthouse.

"He didn't say anything except he wanted to get out. He said he would not hurt me if I showed him the way. I said, 'Let's go,' " said Mrs. Thornton.

Down the hall they went in the direction of the Ruby courtroom. Mrs. Thornton warned onlookers, "Please step back! Please stay back!"

Aline Flippo, standing in the corridor in hope of gaining admission to the trial, said: "I saw them coming with Mrs. Thornton. At this time a newsman shouted, 'Get back, he's got a gun.'

"The man had Mrs. Thornton by the arm and was leading her toward the stair. He said, 'Get back!'

"Mrs. Thornton said to him, 'Don't push me, don't go so fast or I'll fall. The man replied: 'Just show me the way out of this place.' Then they went down the stairs and out the door onto the sidewalk."

Deputy Sheriff Charles Player intercepted Gregory, standing his ground as the man advanced on him with his hostage. At the last minute, the man with the fake gun released Mrs. Thornton and surrendered.

About two hours later, a third prisoner was caught on the porch of a house about two miles from the courthouse. He was Hershell A. Crocker, 26, sentenced to life for armed robbery.

Still another escapee was seized in an automobile some distance from the courthouse. He was Tommy Powell Calverley, 28, sentenced to 15 years for armed robbery. He offered no resistance.

Still hunted when darkness fell were Leonard F. Driggers, 28, charged with robbery and assault; Billy Ray Brock, 35, sentenced to 15 years for armed robbery; and Randolph R. Hudnall, 20, charged with armed robbery.

day because of the president's death. He was very upset. He said, 'Don't you give a damn about the president? Don't you know the president is dead? I don't know if I'll ever open the club again.' "

On Sunday morning, Nov. 24, Little Lynn said she aroused Ruby from sleep with a telephone call from her home in Fort Worth, Tex., asking for $25 to pay her rent.

"He sounded as if he had been crying, or was about to cry, like someone far away. I had to ask three times, 'Jack, are you there?' "

Her testimony was intended to bolster the defense contention Ruby was in a gradually worsening state of shock after the president's assassination and that this culminated in a mental blackout during which he killed Oswald.

Against this defense claim, the state fired its big gun in the form of its final witness who, for the first time, established a possible motive behind Ruby's shooting of Oswald. Defense attorneys met the testimony with shouted objections and vain demands for a mistrial.

The state sought to impress on a jury of four women and eight men who are trying the 52-year-old Ruby for his life that Oswald's slaying was premeditated.

The 17-day-old trial reached a peak of tension after Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade led Police Sgt. P. T. Dean through a series of unimportant questions. They dealt with the commotion in the basement of Dallas police headquarters after Ruby stepped from a crowd and killed Oswald with a single bullet.

Dean testified that he went to the fifth floor of police headquarters 10 to 15 minutes after the shooting. Ruby was held captive there, stripped to his undershorts. Was there any conversation there? Wade wanted to know. Dean said there had been.

To a man, the three defense lawyers—Melvin M. Belli, Joe Tonahill and Phil Burleson — jumped to their feet with objections. Judge Joe B. Brown overruled them.

"Tell the jury what else you recall the defendant, Jack Ruby, telling you on that occasion," Wade told Dean.

Dean answered in an even, metallic voice: "He said something to the effect that he thought about this two nights prior when he had seen Lee Harvey Oswald on the showup stand."

The reference was to Ruby's presence the Friday night of Kennedy's assassination Nov. 22 when the defendant slipped in among newsmen for a face-to-face confrontation with the 24-year-old Oswald.

Belli was objecting again, as Dean continued:

"He said he believed in the due process of law, but he was so torn up about this situation, his sister having just gotten out of the hospital and this man having killed the President and officer (J. D.) Tippit, he knew the outcome of the trial would be the death penalty and he saw no reason for Mrs. Kennedy being brought back to Dallas for the trial."

Wade continued: "On the Friday night, what are the facts with reference to what he decided to do when he saw the sarcastic sneer on Oswald's face?"

Dean was allowed to answer: "He said when he noticed the sarcastic sneer on Oswald's face, that's when he first thought that if he got the chance he would kill him and would also show the world that Jews do have guts."

Ruby, who is Jewish and who operated a Dallas strip tease joint at the time of the slaying, sat motionless, his eyes riveted on the witness, as a sudden stir of reaction rippled through the courtroom.

Dean's reference to Tippit was to police officer J. D. Tippit, 39, a member of the Dallas force who was shot to death shortly after Kennedy's death while trying to intercept a man believed by police to be the presidential assassin. Oswald, before his death, also had been charged with this slaying.

Ruby went to trial Feb. 17. Pleading insanity as his defense to the murder charge, his lawyers claim he was driven into a blackout by shock over the president's death, and did not plan Oswald's slaying, or even realize he was executing the slaying.

Strangely, Dean's explosive testimony was admitted by Judge Brown through a chink in the law that the defense created. Thursday, Belli went into matters on cross-examination that occurred after Ruby's arrest.

Friday, the defense claimed Ruby's constitutional rights were being violated by Dean's testimony, since the events occurred after the defendant's arrest when he could not be required to testify against himself.

However, Judge Brown allowed the state to proceed along a trail first broken by the defense.

At the outset of the court day, Ruby, for the first time, saw the television films made when the shooting occurred. National network cameras were focused on the scene in the basement of police headquarters.

Countless American television viewers saw the shooting. But Ruby, held without bail in a jail cell since that November day, had never been allowed to see the tapes.

He fidgeted through a 50-minute rerun of two television tapes during which the jury was absent. Then he sat through the same thing again while the tapes were shown the jury.

As far as could be determined it was the first time an American defendant in a murder case ever had to undergo the ordeal of watching the actual slaying screened in a semidarkened courtroom.

Reflections from the flickering screen eight feet in front of him highlighted the pallor of Ruby's face and the baldness of his head.

When the climax of the film was reached the first time, Ruby crouched low in his seat and leaned forward until his chin was only inches above the defense table.

At other times, he blinked, bowed his head or closed his eyes for brief intervals.

All but two members of the jury had seen the television tapes before. However, they looked on intently throughout the showing.

The state's next-to-last witness was Capt. Glen King of the Dallas police.

He testified that less than a minute after Oswald was shot he heard Ruby say, "You didn't think I was going to let him get away with it, did you?"

King recalled telling Ruby after the shooting: "You dirty scum. You're the scum of the earth."

He did not recall, as other officers testified Thursday, that he asked Ruby why he shot Oswald and that Ruby replied, "Somebody had to do it, somebody had to take care of it, and you guys couldn't do it."

court to their pressroom, and with spectators seeking entrance to the trial.

Jenkins was seized and overpowered by Probate Court aides after Deputy Allen spotted the men and cried, "Stop!"

Meanwhile, one of the aides, H. H. McKaye, grabbed Gregory. He said later: "I grabbed him and he took out this little old gun. It looked makeshift to me, like it was made out of wood. But I didn't want to take any chances so I kind of lost my grip on him."

Gregory then walked into the Probate Court where he threatened an aide, Edna Briggs, and a clerk, Ruth Thornton, about 60, widow of a former judge in the courthouse.

"He didn't say anything except he wanted to get out. He said he would not hurt me if I showed him the way. I said, 'Let's go,' " said Mrs. Thornton.

Down the hall they went in the direction of the Ruby courtroom. Mrs. Thornton warned onlookers, "Please step back! Please stay back!"

Aline Flippo, standing in the corridor in hope of gaining admission to the trial, said: "I saw them coming with Mrs. Thornton. At this time a newsman shouted, 'Get back, he's got a gun.'

"The man had Mrs. Thornton by the arm and was leading her toward the stair. He said, 'Get back!'"

"Mrs. Thornton said to him, 'Don't push me, don't go so fast or I'll fall. The man replied: 'Just show me the way out of this place.' Then they went down the stairs and out the door onto the sidewalk."

Deputy Sheriff Charles Player intercepted Gregory, standing his ground as the man advanced on him with his hostage. At the last minute, the man with the fake gun released Mrs. Thornton and surrendered.

About two hours later, a third prisoner was caught on the porch of a house about two miles from the courthouse. He was Hershell A. Crocker, 26, sentenced to life for armed robbery.

Still another escapee was seized in an automobile some distance from the courthouse. He was Tommy Powell Calverley, 28, sentenced to 15 years for armed robbery. He offered no resistance.

Still hunted when darkness fell were Leonard F. Driggers, 28, charged with robbery and assault; Billy Ray Brock, 35, sentenced to 15 years for armed robbery; and Randolph R. Hudnall, 20, charged with armed robbery.

PROBLEMS ON THE LINE

Whites Defeat Reds In Lions' Intrasquad

By EDGAR COLTHARP
World Sports Writer

Ouachita's White unit downed the Reds, 13-6, as Dick McNair and Carey Walker scored on long runs in the Lions' spring intrasquad football clash Friday night at the Ouachita Stadium.

The Reds took the lead at 6-0 early in the second period when Johnny Knighten bulled over from the three. The Reds had slugged out yardage from the White 29 yard line.

Unable to move, the Whites gave up the ball at the Red 45. On first down Knighten was forced to give up ground on a halfback pass attempt and then threw wildly.

McNair picked off the errant toss and raced 45 yards for the tying score. An attempted run for the PAT failed.

The losers got the ball, managed one first down and turned the pigskin over to the Whites.

On the first down play Walker got loose on a beautiful 62 yard touchdown jaunt, faking his way by two-thirds of the defense and out running the rest.

McNair pushed over for the extra point to end the scoring for the night.

The game was played without kickoffs or punts. At the start of each half the offensive team took the ball on their own 20. Thirty yards were marched off when a team chose to punt on fourth down.

The Reds ground out 239 yards total offense with the longest gain being 36 yards. They racked up 16 first downs.

The Whites could manage only five first downs but outgained the losers with 249 yards. They got off runs of 32, 42, 38 and 62 yards to account for their total.

Skeeter Boyd, White halfback, was the game's leading rusher with 69 yards followed by teammate McNair with 68 and Knighten of the Reds, also with 63.

Walker had a net of 58 on the ground, James Hale got 38, Don Bendily had 10, Barry Craft 24 and Terry Roberts 2, for the Whites.

Donald Hyde got 59 from the Red fullback spot and Ricky Taylor, halfback, got 32, while quarterback Jimmy Wallace turned out 60.

The Lions look better than Coach Frank Mobley talks. There are problems aplenty in the line, but the backfield has talent and depth.

Wallace throws well and has good poise. If someone could be found that could catch a pass the air game could be the means to a winning season.

Half a dozen of the other backs have fair to excellent speed and Wallace, McNair, Knighten, Boyd and Walker all have good balance and deception.

Center and guard are the brightest line spots, with the latter being the heaviest manned. Gene Howell could use some more weight but is still a hard-nosed center.

The Lions' biggest problem is the caliber of competition they must face week in and week out. There isn't a team on their loop schedule that's ever a pushover.

INDOOR MILE

O'Hara Breaks His Own Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—Tom O'Hara smashed his own indoor mile record Friday night with a time of 3:56.4 in the annual Chicago Daily News Relays before a screaming hometown throng of 18,307 in Chicago Stadium.

The trail-looking 130-pound Loyola of Chicago senior knocked two-tenths of a second off his previous indoor mark set in the New York AC Games last month at Madison Square Gardens.

He was paced through a sizzling 1:58.8 first half over the 11-lap oval board track by Jim Irons of the Toronto Olympic Club.

O'Hara, tugging at his togs, wiggling his head and flailing his arms, swung through the first quarter in 58.1. Then, with Irons dropping back after a half mile, O'Hara began opening up.

He recorded one of the most blistering three-quarters on record—a 2:59.8 — before heading for home with a final 440 in 56.6.

The red-haired Irish lad passed the 1,500-meter mark in 3:41.6 for another indoor record. Last week in the Knights of Columbus Meet in New York he set a 1,500-mark of 3:43.6 en route to a 3:58.5 mile.

Brackets Open For Independent Meet At Calvin

CALVIN (Special) — Two brackets are open to entries in the Calvin High School independent basketball tournament March 19-21.

One bracket will consist of non-college lettermen and a second is for all other players.

First place winner in each division will receive $50. Interested teams should contact Coach Jimmy Leach at the high school, phone 727-8784 during school hours, or at his home 727-8740. Entries will be accepted by mail.

Entrance fee is $10.

McNeese State To Play Memphis In Grid Contest

MEMPHIS (AP) — Memphis State Friday completed its 1964 football schedule by signing a two-year pact with McNeese State.

They meet Oct. 24, 1964, at Memphis, and Oct. 23, 1965, at Lake Charles, La.

McNeese won the Gulf States Conference football title last season with an 8-0 record. Memphis State had a record of nine victories, and a tie with Mississippi.

The Tigers play nine games this fall, including two with rival Southern Mississippi.

The schedule:

Mississippi, Sept. 19 at Oxford, Miss.; Tampa, Oct. 3 at Memphis; Southern Mississippi, Oct. 10 at Memphis; West Texas State, Oct. 17 at Canyon, Tex.; McNeese State, Oct. 24 at Memphis; Wake Forest, Oct. 31, at Memphis; Tulsa, Nov. 7 at Memphis; Louisville, Nov. 14 at Louisville, Ky.; and Southern Mississippi, Nov. 21 at Jackson, Miss.

Tigers In Finals, Win 65-60

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Neville of Monroe became the third defending champion to gain the finals of the Top Twenty prep basketball tournament as it whipped Lee of Baton Rouge 65-60 Friday night in a double-A semifinal game.

The Tigers will play District 2-AA rival Jonesboro-Hodge Saturday for the state championship.

Holden will be the only one of the four 1963 champions in this year's tourney not in the finals. Holden fell to Athens 48-39 in a class C semifinal match earlier tonight.

Neville built up a 10-point advantage midway in the first half, but had it whittled down by Lee just before intermission and the Rebels went ahead 34-31 at the break.

Lee began fouling in the second half and lost three players as Neville moved ahead on charity shots. Lee's Calvin Shirley led all scorers with 23 points while Joe Canal bucketed 17 for Neville.

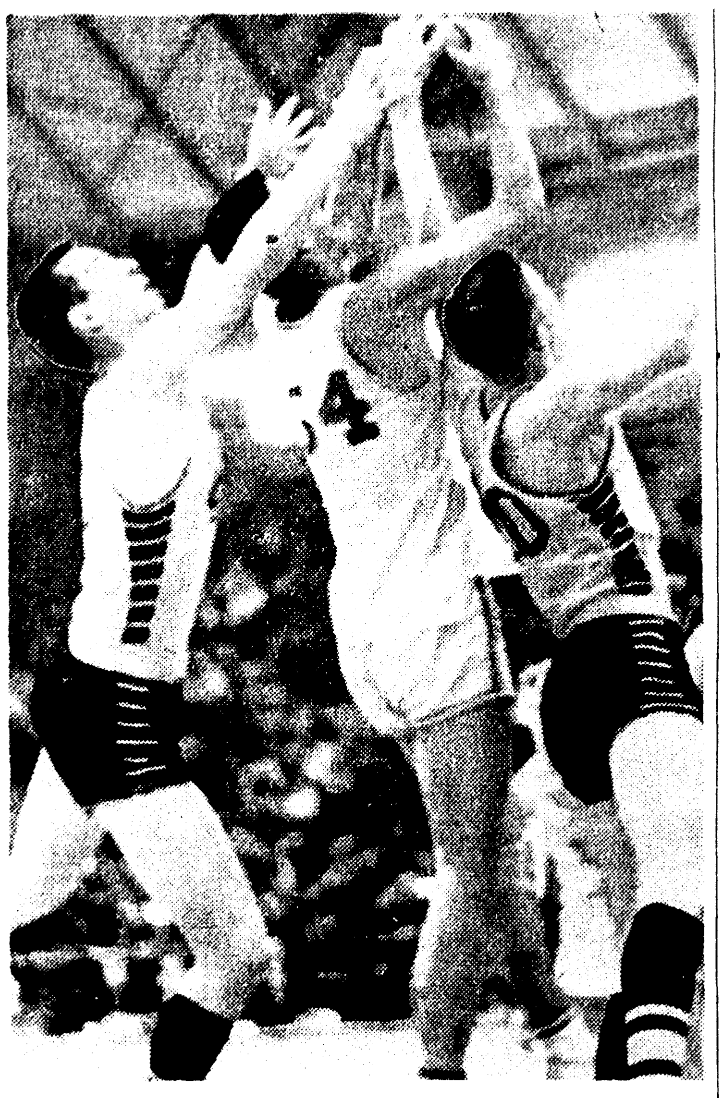
Athens Wins

Athens defeated defending class C champion Holden 48-39 Friday night in the second round of semifinal action in the Top Twenty tournament which decides Louisiana's high school basketball champions.

Athens will play Lacassine in the first of five championship games today.

The taller Athens club quickly built up a comfortable margin over Holden and had a 26-19 halftime lead.

The rebounding of Athens, paced by 6-foot-5 Walter Hays who pulled down 22 to set a class tourney record, kept Holden off balance. Hays also had scoring honors with 18 points.



LARRY SAVANT (54) of Washington and Jimmie Procell (43) and Ray Irwin (20) of Marthaville go after a rebound in the Friday afternoon semifinal Class B Top Twenty basketball game. Marthaville won the contest, 92-65, and with the win, a berth in the finals against Plainview of Glenmora. (AP Wirephoto)

Ronald Sykes was high for Athens with 16.

Marthaville defeated Washington 92-65 in an afternoon class B semifinal, setting the stage for a scoring duel in today's championship round.

Marthaville's 92 points erased the single game record for all classes set Thursday by Plainview of Glenmora in its 84-56 rout of St. Joseph of Chauvin.

Marthaville and Plainview will play for the class C title today.

Delbert Thompson, a 6-foot-3 junior, led Marthaville scoring with 27 points—19 in the first half. All of Marthaville's starters counted in double figures although two starters fouled out. Washington was paced by David Soileau's 25 points.

In the other afternoon games St. Amant whipped Westlake 63-53 for the right to meet Newman of New Orleans for the class A title. Newman, the defending champion, beat Buckeye 67-40 Thursday. St. Amant and Newman, both in the same district, played four regular season games and each won two.

A 23-point output by Westlake's Paul Greenslade took scoring honors in the Class A semifinal. Burrie Parent's 19 points led St. Amant.

Jesuit Wins, 58-48

Accurate shooting New Orleans Jesuit defeated Lake Charles 58-48 Friday night to reach the triple-A finals of the Top Twenty tournament, which decides the state's prep basketball champions.

The Blue Jays will meet defending champion Shreveport Fair Park in the finale Saturday night.

Jesuit moved in front to stay at the end of the first quarter and add a 30-21 intermission lead. However, the Wildcats pulled within one point of the Jays just before the third quarter ended.

Earle Thompson kept the Jays from falling behind with his corner shots in the fourth period as 5-foot Mark Lumpkin, a sophomore, kept Lake Charles within striking range throughout the first part of the final stanza.

Lake Charles gave in to pressure in the waning minutes and hit a cold streak.

Herb Mang and Bill Fitzgerald shared scoring honors for Jesuit with 17 points each. Lumpkin had 16 for the Cats.

Jesuit connected for 51 per cent of its floor shots and 80 per cent at the free throw line. Lake Charles was 38 per cent from the floor and made half of its free throw shots.

English Share Singapore Lead In Second Day

SINGAPORE (AP) — British golfers Ralph Moffitt and Brian Huggett shared the lead at 145 Friday in the Singapore Open after a second round marred by tropical heat and a heavy thunderstorm.

Huggett had 72 and Moffitt 74 in the second round. Veteran Australian Eric Cremin had the day's best score, 71. The heavy rain left huge puddles on the greens during the final holes.

Four golfers, Tadashi Kitta and Isao Katsumata of Japan, Ross Newdick of New Zealand and Kuo Chi Hsiung of Formosa, were tied for second at 146.

Australian Ted Ball, opening round leader with a 70, slipped to 77, and tied Hong Kong's Lu Liang Hwan at 147.

Warrior Wins At Gulfstream On Record Run

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Western Warrior set a track record of 1:34 4-5 over the mile grass course at Gulfstream Park Friday as a normal atmosphere returned to the Florida track after Thursday's record $84,114.20 Twin Double payoff.

The TD payoff Friday was $642.60 and Western Warrior, the odds-on favorite, brought it in with his 3½-length victory over Narkokan. Jockey Walter Blum had Western Warrior eased up at the finish.

The winner paid $3.40, $2.40 and $2.20. Narkokan returned $3.80 and $3.40 and Wallingford $4.80 to show.

Third Step made it three victories in five starts at Bowie by taking the Odenton Purse at the Maryland track.

The 3-year-old filly beat County Maid by a neck. The latter was disqualified after a stewards' inquiry. Police Girl was moved up to second and Badger Pie to third.

Third Step ran the 6-furlongs in 1:13 3-5 and paid $6.80, $3.80 and $3.20. Police Girl returned $15.60 and $8 and Badger Pie $5.60.

Favored Gordon W. took the lead midway in the stretch to win the feature at the New Orleans Fair Grounds.

Icy Gem faded at the close while Kissing Jim held on for the No. 2 spot. Marble Champ took the show spot. Icy Gem came in fourth.

Gordon W., covering the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5 on a fast track, returned $5, $3.20 and $2.40. Kissing Jim paid $4.80 and $2.80 and Marble Spot returned $3.20.

Taking command at the head of the stretch when Fort C. attempted to bolt, Little Pilot won the feature by a nose at Sunshine Park.

Recreation Basketball

Southside downed College Place, 48-36, Friday in Church "B" playoff action. Cromwell led the winners with 13 points but Hendricks took game honors with 15 for the losers.

O'Hara, tugging at his togs, wiggling his head and flailing his arms, swung through the first quarter in 58.1. Then, with Irons dropping back after a half mile, O'Hara began opening up.

He recorded one of the most blistering three-quarters on record—a 2:59.8 — before heading for home with a final 440 in 56.6.

The red-haired Irish lad passed the 1,500-meter mark in 3:41.6 for another indoor record. Last week in the Knights of Columbus Meet in New York he set a 1,500-mark of 3:43.6 en route to a 3:58.5 mile.

Hawsey Games Wind Up Today; Finals At 3:30

OGDEN (Special) — The Charles Hawsey Memorial postseason basketball tournament narrowed to the semifinals and finals after Friday's night action at the Ogden High School gym here.

Action opens at 8 a.m. today with the Beatles meeting the Ogden All-Stars in an independent girls tilt. Other games on the pre-final agenda are Ogden vs. Fort Nexessity, undergraduate boys, 9:40; Ned's Grocery vs. Fort Necessity, undergrad-boys, 11:20; Lindley Wireline vs. Fairbanks Farmers, independent boys, 1 p.m.

The undergrad girls start the finals at 3:30 p.m. followed other finals: Undergrad boys, 4:55; independent girls, 6:35; independent boys, 8:15. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

FRIDAY'S RESULTS

Cherie Griffin's 24 points led the Winnsboro undergrad girls to a 64-58 victory over Ogden. Pat Pace had 37 for the losers.

Charlie Gallagher fired in 36 points to pace Fort Necessity undergrad boys over Calhoun, 87-65, with James Futrell scoring 23 for Calhoun.

Block undergrad girls defeated Gilbert, 45-37, on Velma Spinks' 20 points. Junaita Parker got 20 for the losers.

Block undergrad boys stopped Start, 86-58, with Jim Foster copping 30 for the winners and Chuck Davis hitting 22 for Start.

The West Carroll Independents scored a 76-69 victory over the Hustlers. Whitie Davis hit 21 for the winners and Joe Hatton had 17 for the losers.

Peacock Cleaners of Shreveport trounced Crowville in independent girls, 68-44, on Jean Humphries' 30 makers. Nell Hammons had 23 for the losers.

The Beatles defeated Caldwell independent girls, 82-54, on Claudine Ellerman's 41 points. Wanda Dunn had 30 for Caldwell.

Brackets Open For Independent Meet At Calvin

CALVIN (Special) — Two brackets are open to entries in the Calvin High School independent basketball tournament March 19-21.

One bracket will consist of non-college lettermen and a second bracket of all other players.

First place winner in each division will receive $50. Interested teams should contact Coach Jimmy Leach at the high school, phone 727-8784 during school hours, or at his home 727-8740. Entries will be accepted by mail.

Entrance fee is $10.

McNeese State To Play Memphis In Grid Contest

MEMPHIS (AP) — Memphis State Friday completed its 1964 schedule by signing a two-year pact with McNeese State.

They meet Oct. 24, 1964, at Memphis, and Oct. 23, 1965, at Lake Charles, La.

McNeese won the Gulf States Conference football title last season with an 8-0 record. Memphis State had a record of nine victories, and a tie with Mississippi.

The Tigers play nine games this fall, including two with rival Southern Mississippi.

The schedule:

Tigers In Finals, Win 65-60

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Neville of Monroe became the third defending champion to gain the finals of the Top Twenty prep basketball tournament as it whipped Lee of Baton Rouge 65-60 Friday night in a double-A semifinal game.

The Tigers will play District 2-AA rival Jonesboro-Hodge Saturday for the state championship.

Holden will be the only one of the four 1963 champions in this year's tourney not in the finals. Holden fell to Athens 48-39 in a class C semifinal match earlier tonight.

Neville built up a 10-point advantage midway in the first half, but had it whittled down by Lee just before intermission and the Rebels went ahead 34-31 at the break.

Lee began fouling in the second half and lost three players as Neville moved ahead on charity shots. Lee's Calvin Shirley led all scorers with 23 points while Joe Canal bucketed 17 for Neville.

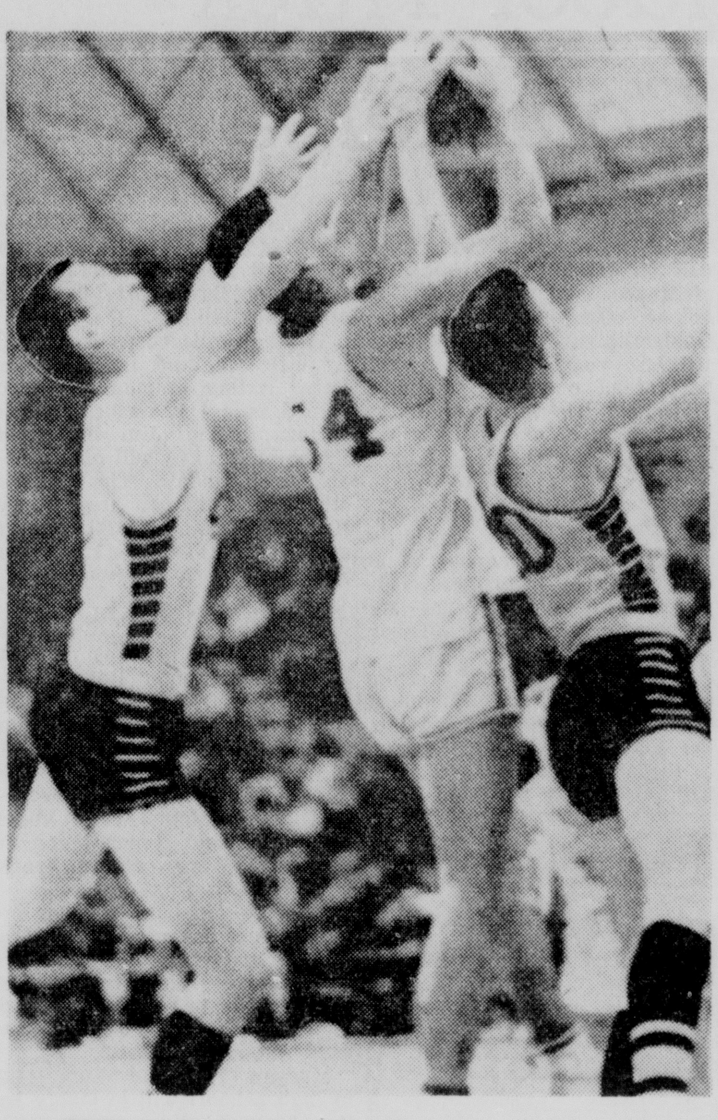
Athens Wins

Athens defeated defending class C champion Holden 48-39 Friday night in the second round of semifinal action in the Top Twenty tournament which decides Louisiana's high school basketball champions.

Athens will play Lacassine in the first of five championship games today.

The taller Athens club quickly built up a comfortable margin over Holden and had a 26-19 halftime lead.

The rebounding of Athens, paced by 6-foot-5 Walter Hays who pulled down 22 to set a class tourney record, kept Holden off balance. Hays also had scoring honors with 18 points. Ronald Sykes was high for Athens with 16.



LARRY SAVANT (54) of Washington and Jimmie Procell (43) and Ray Irwin (20) of Marthaville go after a rebound in the Friday afternoon semifinal Class B Top Twenty basketball game. Marthaville won the contest, 92-65, and with the win, a berth in the finals against Plainview of Glenmora. (AP Wirephoto)

Marthaville defeated Washington 92-65 in an afternoon class B semifinal, setting the stage fo ra scoring duel in today's championship round.

Marthaville's 92 points erased the single game record for all classes set Thursday by Plainview of Glenmora in its 84-56 rout of St. Joseph of Chauvin.

Marthaville and Plainview will play for the class C title today.

Delbert Thompson, a 6-foot-3 junior, led Marthaville scoring with 27 points—19 in the first half. All of Marthaville's starters counted in double figures although two starters fouled out. Washington was paced by David Soileau's 25 points.

In the other afternoon games St. Amant whipped Westlake 63-53 for the right to meet Newman of New Orleans for the class A title. Newman, the defending champion, beat Buckeye 67-40 Thursday. St. Amant and Newman, both in the same district, played four regular season games and each won two.

A 23-point output by Westlake's Paul Greenslade took scoring honors in the Class A semifinal. Burrie Parent's 19 points led St. Amant.

Jesuit Wins, 58-48

Accurate shooting New Orleans Jesuit defeated Lake Charles 58-48 Friday night to reach the triple-A finals of the Top Twenty tournament, which decides the state's prep basketball champions.

The Blue Jays will meet defending champion Shreveport Fair Park in the finale Saturday night.

Jesuit moved in front to stay at the end of the first quarter and add a 30-21 intermission lead. However, the Wildcats pulled within one point of the Jays just before the third quarter ended.

Earle Thompson kept the Jays from falling behind with his corner shots in the fourth period as 5-foot Mark Lumpkin, a sophomore, kept Lake Charles within striking range throughout the first part of the final stanza.

Lake Charles gave in to pressure in the waning minutes and hit a cold streak.

Herb Mang and Bill Fitzgerald shared scoring honors for Jesuit with 17 points each. Lumpkin had 16 for the Cats.

Jesuit connected for 51 per cent of its floor shots and 80 per cent at the free throw line. Lake Charles was 38 per cent from the floor and made half of its free throw shots.

English Share Singapore Lead In Second Day

SINGAPORE (AP) — British golfers Ralph Moffitt and Brian Huggett shared the lead at 145 Friday in the Singapore Open after a second round of tropical heat and a heavy thunderstorm.

Huggett had 72 and Moffitt 74 in the second round. Veteran Australian Eric Cremin had the day's best score, 71. The heavy rain left huge puddles on the greens during the final holes.

Four golfers, Tadashi Kitta and Isao Katsumata of Japan, Ross Newdick of New Zealand and Kuo Chi Hsiung of Formosa, were tied for second at 146.

Australian Ted Ball, opening round leader with a 70, slipped to 77, and tied Hong Kong's Lu Liang Hwan at 147.

Warrior Wins At Gulfstream On Record Run

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Western Warrior set a track record of 1:34 4-5 over the mile grass course at Gulfstream Park Friday as a normal atmosphere returned to the Florida track after Thursday's record $84,114.20 Twin Double payoff.

The TD payoff Friday was $642.60 and Western Warrior, the odds-on favorite, brought it in with his 3½-length victory over Narkokan. Jockey Walter Blum had Western Warrior eased up at the finish.

The winner paid $3.40, $2.40 and $2.20. Narkokan returned $3.80 and $3.40 and Wallingford $4.80 to show.

Third Step made it three victories in five starts at Bowie by taking the Odenton Purse at the Maryland track.

The 3-year-old filly beat County Maid by a neck. The latter was disqualified after a stewards' inquiry. Police Girl was moved up to second and Badger Pie to third.

Third Step ran the 6-furlongs in 1:13 3-5 and paid $6.80, $3.80 and $3.20. Police Girl returned $15.60 and $8 and Badger Pie $5.60.

Favored Gordon W. took the lead midway in the stretch to win the feature at the New Orleans Fair Grounds.

Icy Gem faded at the close while Kissing Jim held on for the No. 2 spot. Marble Champ took the show spot. Icy Gem came in fourth.

Gordon W., covering the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5 on a fast track, returned $5, $3.20 and $2.40. Kissing Jim paid $4.80 and $2.80 and Marble Spot returned $3.20.

Taking command at the head of the stretch when Fort C. attempted to bolt, Little Pilot won the feature by a nose at Sunshine Park.

Recreation Basketball

Southside downed College Place, 48-36, Friday in Church "B" playoff action. Cromwell led the winners with 13 points but Hendricks took game honors with 15 for the losers.

Swartz took a 33-28 victory over Temple in Church "B" playoff competition as Johnson led with 13 points for the winners. Breland got 12 for Temple.

EAST TEXAS INVITATIONAL

Northeast's Outdoor Track Year Starts At Commerce

Northeast State begins its outdoor track season in Commerce, Tex., this afternoon where Bob Groseclose's Indians and the host team are expected to battle for the championship of the East Texas State Invitational track and field meet.

Some of the finest teams in Texas will compete in the Commerce meet — which was called the All-College Meet its first two years — along with Northeast, Arkansas State Teachers and Oklahoma Baptist University.

East Texas, second in the big Southwestern Recreation Meet last weekend, and Sam Houston head the list of Texas entires. McMurry, which edged Northeast by one point for the All-College championship last spring, is not expected to enter this year's meet.

Stephen F. Austin, and Austin College complete the list of probable entries.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

Northeast, despite the absence of its great pole vaulter, John Pennel, and crack quarter - miler Randall Walker, is expected to field a team that will live up to the college's great track tradition.

Northeast has been one of the South's top track powers since 1958, producing two undefeated teams (1960 and 1962), two world record holders (Don Styron and Pennel) and four Gulf States Conference champions (1959, 1960, 1962 and 1963).

The Indians, as usual, are strong in the running events and are expected to be improved in the field events.

Groseclose, however, has several athletes slowed by injuries and the club is not expected to reach peak strength for a few more weeks.

The Indian coach will likely call on seniors Jay Goldsmith of Monroe and Charles McDonald of Oakdale in the sprints. Goldsmith won the All-College 100 last year and had a 1963 best of 9.6 over that distance. McDonald has run the century in 9.7.

CONSTANT OUT

Doug Constant, Baton Rouge senior, with a best of 9.6, is not expected to run because of an injury. Other sprinters are Monroe soph Don Brant and Morgan City rookie Mike Tabor, both with bests of 9.9.

Veteran John Baker, a senior from Jennings, and sophomore Ronnie Fountain of Longview, Tex., are the probable entries in the 440. Baker was credited with a 47.9 last year and Fountain has run the quarter in 48.5. Sophomore Cline Averett of West Monroe, with a best of 48.0, and freshman Stefan Anderson of Shreveport (49.5) are other possibilities.

The half-mile corps is headed by little Gayland LeBlanc, the Lake Arthur sophomore who turned in a 1:52.8 clocking last spring. Rookie Jim Bodin of Franklin (1:57.0) will also probably run today. The team's other half-milers are Barry Harwell (1:57.5) of Shreveport and Roger O'Quinn (1:57.8) of Sulphur.

DEEP IN HURDLES

Northeast is perhaps deepest in hurdlers. Junior Roger Morgan of El Dorado, Ark., and Dalton LeBlanc, the Houma sophomore, are two of the best in the country and sophomore Tommy Poindexter of Shreveport and freshmen Fred Vogel of Monroe and Roger Mann of Shreveport are other crack hurdlers.

LeBlanc, troubled by a leg injury, is not expected to run the hurdles today but may run on one of the relay teams. He has bests of 14.1 in the 120-yard high hurdles and 38.6 in the 330-yard intermediates.

Morgan (14.0) and Mann (14.2 in high school) will probably be the high hurdle entries with Vogel and Morgan in the intermediates. Neither Morgan nor Vogel has ever run the intermediates in competition.

Bill Smith and Bill White are the team's best milers. White, a Dodson junior, has a 4:23.0 to his credit, while Smith, a sophomore from Haynesville, ran a 4:36.3 in high school. He was sidelined by an injury last spring but led Northeast to the Gulf States Conference cross county title last fall. White and Tom Brown, a Hallsville, Tex., sophomore, are the top two-milers.

Groseclose's 400 relay team will probably consist of Morgan, McDonald, Goldsmith and Fountain and the mile team will probably be Dalton LeBlanc, Averett, Fountain and Baker.

INHERITS POST

Baton Rouge junior Tommy Edmonson inherits Pennel's place as the team's No. 1 pole vaulter. He has gone 14-6. He will be the only Indian vaulter at Commerce but junior Ronnie Overby (13-6) of Snyder, Tex., and West Monroe rookie Paul Hobgood (13-8), now sidelined with a broken foot, should help later.

Edmonson (23-3) and Mann (22-6) will enter the broad jump today with Constant (23-8), when he recovers, and Gerald Waguespack (22-2½), a Houma sophomore, other prospects. Edmonson is the team's best in the triple jump with 46-11½.

Fountain, who clears six feet consistently, is the team's best high jumper at present but Constant, who has a best of 6-6, could eventually be No. 1. Freshmen Rich Bailey of Jonesboro and Sid Sumrall of Satellite Beach Fla., (both 6-2½) are other prospects.

Gary Walker, one of the nation's top junior college discus men last year, and Harold Mayes, Shreveport freshman, will spin the plate. Walker of Big Springs, Tex., has a 167-0 throw to his credit. He and basketballer Dick Williams, a junior from East Orange, N.J., are the shot putters.

Springhill sophomore Tommy Slack (200-¼) is the team's best javelin entry.

Next week Northeast will defend its championship in the annual Shreveport Relays and then competes in the Memphis Relays March 21.

BEST IN AMERICA?

Greatness Claimed Within Hurler Downing's Grasp

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Greatness beckons to Al Downing. It's his for the taking. All he has to do is sharpen his control and he can become the top pitcher in the American League.

This is the opinion of Elston Howard, the league's top catcher and Downing's batterymate on the New York Yankees.

"If I had to pick the next 25-game winner in the big leagues," said Howard, the AL's Most Valuable Player for 1963, "I'd have to say Downing. I think he's a cinch to win 20 this year provided he can improve his control.

"That's his only problem. That boy has everything else. I don't know of any pitcher in our league with greater ability. I think he throws as hard as anybody in baseball, including Sandy Koufax. He's got a real smooth delivery, both on his fast ball and curve. And he owns one of the best change-ups in the game."

The 22-year old left-hander was a standout last year, his first full season in the majors, with a 13-5 record and a 2.56 earned run average. He fired four shutouts.

It is Howard's conviction that the Yankees have the strongest and deepest pitching staff since he joined them in 1955.

"Don't be surprised if we have three 20-game winners this year," he said. "Downing, Jim Bouton and the chairman of the board, Whitey Ford. And Ralph Terry could make it four."

Howard contended he never has seen such an array of young pitchers as came to the Yankee camp this spring.

"We've got two kids in camp—Bob Meyer and Howard Kitt—who can throw as hard as anybody," he said. "That Kitt, especially, can throw his fastball through a brick wall."

Howard also praised Gil Downs, Jim Marrujo, George Shoemaker and Pete Mikkelsen, all first-year players who undoubtedly will be returned to the minors for more seasoning.

What about a man named Elston Howard?

"I feel I can get better,'" he said. "I'm not thinking of MVP or anything like that, but I know I can improve."

PLAY TECH FROSH

Rebels Opening Baseball Season

West Monroe kicks off its baseball season Monday against the Louisiana Tech freshmen on the Tech diamond. Game time will be 2:30 p.m.

Seven of the nine Rebel positions have been filled with only the battery undetermined.

Richard Anderson, an all-state shortstop last year, will open at his old post with Jimmy Aulds working at second base. David Jones will be on first and Jamie Barrett at third.

Ray Alexander will probably be the starting pitcher but the final decision hasn't been made. Likewise with Johnny Williams at catcher.

The Rebels had a 15-7 record last year and were champions of the eastern division of District 1-AAA. Fair Park of Shreveport downed West Monroe 2-1 in intra-district play to take the loop crown.

The schedule for the current season lists 18 games, nine on the road and nine at Confederate Park - Southside Play Ground, the Rebels' home base.

Squad members other than the probable starters are Jerry Greene, Jerry Moore, Buster Knox, Bonnie Wiggins, Dub Hill, Tommy Hare, Tommy Huff, Gary Roy, Steve White, Bo Roberts, Bobby Gates, Rip McMillian, and James Taylor.

Defensive Tutor Completes Colt Coaching Staff

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts completed their 1964 football coaching staff Friday by naming Bill Arnsparger as a defensive line coach.

Arnsparger resigned as an assistant to Coach Tommy O'Boyle at Tulane University to accept the job with the National Football League club.

Arnsparger, 36, will replace Gino Marchetti, who retired as a player-coach at the end of the 1963 season. The Colts hope Marchetti will reconsider and play another season, but he will not coach again regardless.

Head Coach Don Shula of the Colts once served with Arnsparger under Blanton Collier at the University of Kentucky.

The Colts also announced that veteran linebacker Bill Pellington had relinquished his defensive coaching chores but would continue as an active player in 1964.

Grambling Adds Grid Assistant

GRAMBLING (Special) — Oree Banks, an end coach accomplished at the techniques he teaches, has joined the football staff at Grambling College for the spring semester.

Banks came to Grambling from Coahoma Junior College, Clarksdale, Miss., where he conditioned Bulldog fans to expect championship teams.

In three years as head coach, his teams shared or won Mississippi Junior College titles.

Banks is a former Kansas State University gridder who lettered with the Wildcats in '56, '57 and '58.

Four players he developed at Coahoma have signed grant-in-aid scholarships to attend Grambling. They are Willie Walker, a 210-pound end; John Stewart, 225-pound guard; Eddie Moore, 260-pound tackle; and Cleveland Flagg, 250 - pound tackle.

PALMER MOVES UP

1-Time Winner Leads Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Fred Hawkins, a frequent contender but only a one-time winner in more than 17 years of action on the professional golf tour, grabbed a one-stroke lead Friday in the $30,000 Pensacola Open with a nine-under par 135.

The 40-year-old Hawkins, whose only victory in a 72-hole PGA tournament came in the 1956 Oklahoma City Open, shot a five-under par 67 in the second round despite a touch of stomach virus that bothered him throughout the round.

Hawkins wrested the lead from Ken Venturi, who came in early with his finest round in several years — a seven-under par 65—for 136. The 65 was the low score of the first two rounds.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer moved into contention with a four-under par 68, getting a lift when he holed out from a bunker for a birdie on his 17th hole. Palmer stands two strokes off the lead at 137, where he is tied with tour regular Miller Barber. Barber also shot 68.

Bunched at 138 are big George Bayer, Bill Collins and Doug Sanders, the 1962 Pensacola champion, while six players—including former PGA and Masters champion, Gary Player, British PGA champion Peter Butler, and French Open winner Bruce Devlin of Canberra, Australia—were tied at 139.

With them are U.S. tour stalwarts Mike Souchak, Gardner Dickinson Jr., and Jack Rule Jr.

John Barnum, the first round leader, ran into wedge and putter trouble, shot 73 and is tied with six others at 140. Sixty-nine pros survived the cut for the final 36 holes of the tournament on the 6,380-yard par 72 Pensacola Country Club course.

Hawkins, who hasn't played a full tournament in his first five starts this year while nursing a sore thumb, shot a solid round, making six birdies and picking up his only bogey when he three-putted the third green.

He made only one long birdie putt, a 25-footer on the first green, and said: "my irons have been excellent, and I'm putting well, but I've only made two birdies on the par fives and that's where you score."

The prematurely graying Texan from El Paso, who has finished second 20 times in his long tour career, had virtual tap-in putts for his birdies at the eighth and 11th holes, dropped a 10-footer at the fifth and made back-to-back birdies at the 15th and 16th.

Venturi, in a prolonged slump since suffering a severe muscle spasm in his back in early 1961, had his irons so well zeroed in on the pins that he hit the cup three times and almost made two holes-in-one.

The handsome 32-year-old San Franciscan, shooting for his first victory since the 1960 Milwaukee Open, made seven birdies and only one of them came from a putt longer than four feet in the near flawless round.

Palmer went to the putting green after his round. He had the ball in birdie range practically all day but didn't make a birdie putt longer than four feet except for the 20-footer he sank from a greenside bunker.

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Here are the leaders after two rounds in the Pensacola Open Golf Tournament:

Fred Hawkins	68-67—135
Ken Venturi	71-65—136
Miller Barber	69-68—137
Arnold Palmer	69-68—137

Vidalia Coach Taking Leave Of Absence

VIDALIA (Special) — Coach Dan Chase of Vidalia High School has been granted a sabbatical leave of absence for one year, and his assistant, Fred Foster, has been named to lead the Vikings in their first year of competition in Louisiana's Class A football ranks.

Chase, a 1957 graduate of Northwestern State, requested the leave from the Concordia parish school board in order to continue his graduate work.

James O. Lancaster, superintendent of Concordia parish schools, announced the leave has been granted to Chase. Lancaster also announced Foster's approval for the job.

"We are pleased Coach Foster has accepted the job," Principal Fred Stampley of Vidalia said. "We are still considering applications for an assistant for Coach Foster."

Chase, a former Waterproof High and Northwestern State athlete, had never had a losing season at Vidalia, a "doormat" of district three, Class B, until Chase became coach. In six years with the football Vikings, Chase showed 44 wins, 18 loses and two ties. It was under Chase that Vidalia went through its first unbeaten schedule in 1961 and won two district 3-B championships.

Foster, an assistant to Chase for two years, is a former Natchez, Miss., athlete, a 1955 graduate of Delta State Teachers College after a freshman year at Ole Miss.

Coaching jobs for Foster before coming to Vidalia were at Oceola, Ark., LaSalle High at Olla, Pearl, Miss., and Jefferson of Natchez. The 32-year-old Foster was Natchez's first all-state selection in Mississippi's Big Eight Conference as a back in 1948-49.

EAST TEXAS INVITATIONAL

Northeast's Outdoor Track Year Starts At Commerce

Northeast State begins its outdoor track season in Commerce, Tex., this afternoon where Bob Groseclose's Indians and the host team are expected to battle for the championship of the East Texas State Invitational track and field meet.

Some of the finest teams in Texas will compete in the Commerce meet — which was called the All-College Meet its first two years — along with Northeast, Arkansas State Teachers and Oklahoma Baptist University.

East Texas, second in the big Southwestern Recreation Meet last weekend, and Sam Houston head the list of Texas entires. McMurry, which edged Northeast by one point for the All-College championship last spring, is not expected to enter this year's meet.

Stephen F. Austin, and Austin College complete the list of probable entries.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

Northeast, despite the absence of its great pole vaulter, John Pennel, and crack quarter-miler Randall Walker, is expected to field a team that will live up to the college's great track tradition.

Northeast has been one of the South's top track powers since 1958, producing two undefeated teams (1960 and 1962), two world record holders (Don Styron and Pennel) and four Gulf States Conference champions (1959, 1960, 1962 and 1963).

The Indians, as usual, are strong in the running events and are expected to be improved in the field events.

Groseclose, however, has several athletes slowed by injuries and the club is not expected to reach peak strength for a few more weeks.

The Indian coach will likely call on seniors Jay Goldsmith of Monroe and Charles McDonald of Oakdale in the sprints. Goldsmith won the All-College 100 last year and had a 1963 best of 9.6 over that distance. McDonald has run the century in 9.7.

CONSTANT OUT

Doug Constant, Baton Rouge senior, with a best of 9.6, is not expected to run because of an injury. Other sprinters are Monroe soph Don Brant and Morgan City rookie Mike Tabor, both with bests of 9.9.

Veteran John Baker, a senior from Jennings, and sophomore Ronnie Fountain of Longview, Tex., are the probable entries in the 440. Baker was credited with a 47.9 last year and Fountain has run the quarter in 48.5. Sophomore Cline Averett of West Monroe, with a best of 48.0, and freshman Stefan Anderson of Shreveport (49.5) are other possibilities.

The half-mile corps is headed by little Gayland LeBlanc, the Lake Arthur sophomore who turned in a 1:52.8 clocking last spring. Rookie Jim Bodin of Franklin (1:57.0) will also probably run today. The team's other half-milers are Barry Harwell (1:57.5) of Shreveport and Roger O'Quinn (1:57.8) of Sulphur.

DEEP IN HURDLES

Northeast is perhaps deepest in hurdlers. Junior Roger Morgan of El Dorado, Ark., and Dalton LeBlanc, the Houma sophomore, are two of the best in the country and sophomore Tommy Poindexter of Shreveport and freshmen Fred Vogel of Monroe and Roger Mann of Shreveport are other crack hurdlers.

LeBlanc, troubled by a leg injury, is not expected to run the hurdles today but may run on one of the relay teams. He has bests of 14.1 in the 120-yard high hurdles and 38.6 in the 330-yard intermediates.

Morgan (14.0) and Mann (14.2 in high school) will probably be the high hurdle entries with Vogel and Morgan in the intermediates. Neither Morgan nor Vogel has ever run the intermediates in competition.

Bill Smith and Bill White are the team's best milers. White, a Dodson junior, has a 4:23.0 to his credit, while Smith, a sophomore from Haynesville, ran a 4:36.3 in high school. He was sidelined by an injury last spring but led Northeast to the Gulf States Conference cross county title last fall. White and Tom Brown, a Hallsville, Tex., sophomore, are the top two-milers.

Groseclose's 400 relay team will probably consist of Morgan, McDonald, Goldsmith and Fountain and the mile team will probably be Dalton LeBlanc, Averett, Fountain and Baker.

INHERITS POST

Baton Rouge junior Tommy Edmonson inherits Pennel's place as the team's No. 1 pole vaulter. He has gone 14-6. He will be the only Indian vaulter at Commerce but junior Ronnie Overby (13-6) of Snyder, Tex., and West Monroe rookie Paul Hobgood (13-8), now sidelined with a broken foot, should help later.

Edmonson (23-3) and Mann (22-6) will enter the broad jump today with Constant (23-8), when he recovers, and Gerald Waguespack (22-2½), a Houma sophomore, other prospects. Edmonson is the team's best in the triple jump with 46-11½.

Fountain, who clears six feet consistently, is the team's best high jumper at present but Constant, who has a best of 6-6, could eventually be No. 1. Freshmen Rich Bailey of Jonesboro and Sid Sumrall of Satellite Beach Fla., (both 6-2½) are other prospects.

Gary Walker, one of the nation's top junior college discus men last year, and Harold Mayes, Shreveport freshman, will spin the plate. Walker of Big Springs, Tex., has a 167-0 throw to his credit. He and basketballer Dick Williams, a junior from East Orange, N.J., are the shot putters.

Springhill sophomore Tommy Slack (200-¼) is the team's best javelin entry.

Next week Northeast will defend its championship in the annual Shreveport Relays and then competes in the Memphis Relays March 21.

BEST IN AMERICA?

Greatness Claimed Within Hurler Downing's Grasp

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Greatness beckons to Al Downing. It's his for the taking. All he has to do is sharpen his control and he can become the top pitcher in the American League.

This is the opinion of Elston Howard, the league's top catcher and Downing's batterymate on the New York Yankees.

"If I had to pick the next 25-game winner in the big leagues," said Howard, the AL's Most Valuable Player for 1963, "I'd have to say Downing. I think he's a cinch to win 20 this year provided he can improve his control.

"That's his only problem. That boy has everything else. I don't know of any pitcher in our league with greater ability. I think he throws as hard as anybody in baseball, including Sandy Koufax. He's got a real smooth delivery, both on his fast ball and curve. And he owns one of the best change-ups in the game."

The 22-year old left-hander was a standout last year, his first full season in the majors, with a 13-5 record and a 2.56 earned run average. He fired four shutouts.

It is Howard's conviction that the Yankees have the strongest and deepest pitching staff since he joined them in 1955.

"Don't be surprised if we have three 20-game winners this year," he said. "Downing, Jim Bouton and the chairman of the board, Whitey Ford. And Ralph Terry could make it four."

Howard contended he never has seen such an array of young pitchers as came to the Yankee camp this spring.

"We've got two kids in camp—Bob Meyer and Howard Kitt—who can throw as hard as anybody," he said. "That Kitt, especially, can throw his fastball through a brick wall."

Howard also praised Gil Downs, Jim Marrujo, George Shoemaker and Pete Mikkelsen, all first-year players who undoubtedly will be returned to the minors for more seasoning.

What about a man named Elston Howard?

"I feel I can get better,'" he said. "I'm not thinking of MVP or anything like that, but I know I can improve."

PLAY TECH FROSH

Rebels Opening Baseball Season

West Monroe kicks off its baseball season Monday against the Louisiana Tech freshmen on the Tech diamond. Game time will be 2:30 p.m.

Seven of the nine Rebel positions have been filled with only the battery undetermined.

Richard Anderson, an all-state shortstop last year, will open at his old post with Jimmy Aulds working at second base. David Jones will be on first and Jamie Barrett at third.

Ray Alexander will probably be the starting pitcher but the final decision hasn't been made. Likewise with Johnny Williams at catcher.

The Rebels had a 15-7 record last year and were champions of the eastern division of District 1-AAA. Fair Park of Shreveport downed West Monroe 2-1 in intra-district play to take the loop crown.

The schedule for the current season lists 18 games, nine on the road and nine at Confederate Park - Southside Play Ground, the Rebels' home base.

Squad members other than the probable starters are Jerry Greene, Jerry Moore, Buster Knox, Bonnie Wiggins, Dub Hill, Tommy Hare, Tommy Huff, Gary Roy, Steve White, Bo Roberts, Bobby Gates, Rip McMillian, and James Taylor.

Defensive Tutor Completes Colt Coaching Staff

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts completed their 1964 football coaching staff Friday by naming Bill Arnsparger as a defensive line coach.

Arnsparger resigned as an assistant to Coach Tommy O'Boyle at Tulane University to accept the job with the National Football League club.

Arnsparger, 36, will replace Gino Marchetti, who retired as a player-coach at the end of the 1963 season. The Colts hope Marchetti will reconsider and play another season, but he will not coach again regardless.

Head Coach Don Shula of the Colts once served with Arnsparger under Blanton Collier at the University of Kentucky.

The Colts also announced that veteran linebacker Bill Pellington had relinquished his defensive coaching chores but would continue as an active player in 1964.

Annual Block Independent Tourney Set

JONESVILLE, (Special) — Eight mens teams and three girls teams have entered the annual Block Independent Basketball tournament to be held in Jonesville on March 12, 13, and 14, according to O. D. Jackson, tournament director.

The entry deadline is March 8 and the entry fee is $10 per team.

Teams wishing to enter may contact the tournament director at Block high school, telephone 2241 or 7193 after school hours, or mail entry to Block high school, Jonesville.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third place teams in both divisions, and 85 individual awards will be presented to individual players.

Vidalia Coach Taking Leave Of Absence

VIDALIA (Special) — Coach Dan Chase of Vidalia High School has been granted a sabbatical leave of absence for one year, and his assistant, Fred Foster, has been named to lead the Vikings in their first year of competition in Louisiana's Class A football ranks.

Chase, a 1957 graduate of Northwestern State, requested the leave from the Concordia parish school board in order to continue his graduate work.

James O. Lancaster, superintendent of Concordia parish schools, announced the leave has been granted to Chase. Lancaster also announced Foster's approval for the job.

"We are pleased Coach Foster has accepted the job," Principal Fred Stampley of Vidalia said. "We are still considering applications for an assistant for Coach Foster."

Chase, a former Waterproof High and Northwestern State athlete, had never had a losing season at Vidalia, a "doormat" of district three, Class B, until Chase became coach. In six years with the football Vikings, Chase showed 44 wins, 18 loses and two ties. It was under Chase that Vidalia went through its first unbeaten schedule in 1961 and won two district 3-B championships.

Foster, an assistant to Chase for two years, is a former Natchez, Miss., athlete, a 1955 graduate of Delta State Teachers College after a freshman year at Ole Miss.

Coaching jobs for Foster before coming to Vidalia were at Oceola, Ark., LaSalle High at Olla, Pearl, Miss., and Jefferson of Natchez. The 32-year-old Foster was Natchez's first all-state selection in Mississippi's Big Eight Conference as a back in 1948-49.

Training Camp Briefs

Colt Batting List

COCA, Fla. (AP) — The Houston Colts announced their first batting order Friday that has Nellie Fox batting second and Johnny Weekly, Jim Wynn and Bob Aspromonte in the spots where the baseball team hopes to generate some badly needed power.

Actually, Manager Harry Craft listed two batting orders for Sunday's nine-inning squad game but he said one represented the "present" and the other the "future" of the Colts, with the exception of pitching in each case.

The "present," represented by Coach Jimmy Adair's Whites had Al Spangler in Left and leadoff, followed by Fox at second and Pete Runnels at first base.

Weekly in Left, Wynn in center and Aspromonte at third will be batting fourth, fifth and sixth where the power will be needed. Following them will be shortstop Eddie Kasko, hitting seventh and catcher John Bateman.

Announce Games

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Manager Hank Bauer of the Baltimore Orioles gave a hint Friday of his possible line-up for the opening of the American League baseball season.

In announcing a series of three intrasquad games for next week, Bauer released the batting order for the two squads to be managed by Coaches Billy Hunter and Gene Woodling.

Hunter's team includes six regulars of last season, rookie outfielder Sam Bowens and first baseman Norm Siebern, who was obtained from Kansas City in a trade for Jim Gentile.

In addition to Bowens and Siebern, the line-up includes Luis Apraicio, short stop; Boog Powell, left field; John Orsino, catcher; Jack Brandt, center field; Brooks Robinson, third base, with the Braves. This compared favorably with the weight he carried when he won 23 games last year.

The only overweight cases in camp were catcher Ed Bailey, who weighed in at 214; pitcher Bob Sadowski, 202, and handyman Tommie Aaron, 208. Each had to lose about eight pounds.

Horlen Ends Holdout

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Pitcher Joel Horlen, an 11-game winner last season, ended a four-day holdout by agreeing to terms with the Chicago White Sox Friday.

Horlen showed up at Arthur Allyn Field as the day's workout was ending and was signed by General Manager Ed Short under a pine tree.

Dozens of other players watched the negotiations.

Don Buford was the day's batting star with two balls slugged out of sight.

A switch-hitter, Buford hit one ball over the right field fence and another over the left field fence. He will be the White Sox' opening day second baseman, succeeding the traded Nellie Fox.

Alusik With A's

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics announced Friday that outfielder George Alusik has signed his 1964 contract.

The only remaining A's holdouts are outfielder Rocky Colavito and pitcher Moe Drabowsky.

Rowe Allows Win

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ken Rowe walked Bill Parlier with the bases loaded to force in the winning run Friday as the Bob Hunters defeated the Frank Finches 5-4 in the Los Angeles Dodgers' first intra-squad game of the season.

Sports writers served as managers in the six-inning contest. Dick Tracewski belted two singles and a double for the Hunters, while Ron Fairly collected two singles. Left-hander Pete Richert pitched two hitless innings for the winners.

Dodger Manager Walter Alston said he was impressed by Rowe's curve and by the performance of rookie right-hander Bill Singer.

Spahn Not Heavy

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If the seemingly indestructible Warren Spahn fails to win his usual 20 or more games for the Milwaukee Braves this season, it won't be because of excess weight.

The left-hander, who will be 43 next month, reported at a trim 185 pounds for his 20th season

Giants' Lineup

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants named a line-up Friday for the club's first exhibition game of the spring that could stand for the opening of the National League season.

The Giants meet Cleveland at Tucson today in the exhibition opener.

The Giants might open the season April 14 with that same line-up.

Bob Shaw, Bob Bolin and Bob Garibaldi will share the pitching job for the Giants. Cleveland will use Pedro Ramos, Jerry Walker and Jack Kralick.

No Card Holdouts

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced Friday that their lone holdout, second baseman Julian Javier, had come to terms.

The 27-year-old infielder, who will receive an estimated $20,000, agreed to a contract by telephone from his home in the Dominican Republic. He said he would report to the Cards training camp here Sunday.

Pirates And Flu

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Three more Pittsburgh Pirates were knocked out of drills Friday by reaction to flu shots.

The club said outfielders Rex Johnston and Dave Wissman and infielder Bob Bailey are expected to be ready for action Saturday in the club's first intra-squad game.

Cub Sidelined

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs Friday lost one of their six scheduled pitchers for twin exhibition openers Saturday against the Boston Red Sox and at Palm Springs, Calif., against the Los Angeles Angels.

Relief star Lindy McDaniel, scheduled to team with Dick Ellsworth and Glen Hobbie against the Red Sox, was sidelined by recurrence of a chronic ailment in his right forearm.

The Saturday - Sunday games will give head Coach Bob Kennedy an early look at no fewer than 12 piethers.

Saturday's Cub pitchers against the Angels will be Cal Koonce and rookie Sterling Slaughter and Wayne Schurr.

Will Pitch First

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Bill Monbouquette, Boston Red Sox 20-game winner last season, drew the starting assignment for the first exhibition game of the spring Saturday against the Chicago Cubs at Mesa.

The game also will give Gene Conley, the tall right-hander, the first real test of the shoulder that idled him most of last season. The third Boston pitcher will be Wilbur Wood.

Weaver For Walker

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts announced Friday that rookie Jim Weaver, who isn't even on the Cleveland Indians' spring roster, will replace Jerry Walker in today's Cactus League opener here against the San Francisco Giants.

Tebbetts said that Weaver was included in his plans all along, but that someone misread Weaver's name for Walker's.

The 25-year-old Weaver is one of eight Tribe farmhands invited to train early with the Indians. He was in the service the last two years and had a 4-6 record at Salt Lake City in 1961.

The other Cleveland pitchers will be Pedro Ramos and Jack Kralick. Gary Bell, Ted Abernathy and rookie Gordon Seyfried will hurl Sunday against the Giants at Phoenix.

Outfielder Tito Francona, who underwent survery two weeks ago for a hernia, arrived in camp to complete the Indians' 38-man spring roster.

Danny Cater Ready

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Danny Cater said Friday he is ready to show Manager Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies the club doesn't have to look any further than Cater for the right-hand power needed to replace the traded Don Demeter.

"I've seen a lot of guys go up and stick who weren't close to me as a hitter," Cater said.

The 24-year-old outfielder hit .291, with 14 homers and 57 RBIs for Little Rock in the International League last year.

Keane Is Happy

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Manager Johnny Keane of the St. Louis Cardinals expressed his pleasure Friday at the physical condition of his club.

"All the pitchers had done some throwing and their arms were in shape," Keane said. "Nobody was overweight and no time had to be wasted conditioning.

Right-hander Ray Washburn provided good news when it appeared that his arm was sound. He missed most of last season with a shoulder injury.

Hodges Exercises

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Manager Gil Hodges joined the Washington Senators' squad for calisthenics and their running drills Friday, but said the chances of his making a comeback as a player are remote.

There was some talk of it after third baseman Don Zimmer reported with a broken left hand. Hodges, who starred at first base, played some third base a number of years ago with the Dodgers. But Hodges is 39, and still has flare-ups from an old knee injury.

Tommy Brown made more telephone calls, including one to Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League, but has not reached a decision as to whether to sign with the Senators or quit baseball for a contract with the Green Bay Packers.

Nineteen Teams Enter Ward III Cage Tourney

WINNSBORO (Special) — Nineteen teams are entered in the first annual Ward III Junior High basketball tournament to be held at the school gym here March 10-14.

Ten boys teams will participate: LaSalle, Winnsboro, Start, Gilbert, Harrisonburg, Fort Necessity, Delhi, Wisner, Ogden, and the host teams.

The nine girls teams entered are Winnsboro, Delhi, Ogden, Gilbert, Crowville, Start, Fort Necessity, Mangham and the host team.

Ward III goes against Wisner at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday in the opening game of the meet. The finals will be at 6:45 and 8 p.m. Saturday night.

First and second place trophies will be presented and a sportsmanship trophy will be awarded in both boys and girls play.

2 Clerks Turn $2 Bet Into $84,114

MIAMI (AP) — Two Miami Beach hotel cooks, one of whom "never had an extra buck in my pocket in my life," cashed a $2 twin double ticket at Gulfstream Park Friday for $84,114.

Obviously not satisfied, however, with the biggest payoff in United States horse racing history, Juan Lopez, 52, and Danny Tuazon, 60, took part of their winnings in cash and remained at the track for further investments.

They made their huge killing Thursday. When they failed to show up at the cashier's window before closing, it was feared that the ticket might have been destroyed when their horse, Initabas, ran second in the eighth race. He was placed first when the original winner, Gathering Dusk, was disqualified.

Lopez, who had gone to the track to buy the ticket, said that when the payoff was announced "I just held on to the ticket tight and went home shaking all over."

This morning he telephoned Tuazon, who had split the ticket with him and after a joyous celebration with fellow employes of the hotel, they went to the track to collect.

Each accepted a $40,000 check and the balance of his half share in cash. Then they marched to the sellers windows to see if their fabulous luck had changed.

Lopez, a Puerto Rican, and Tuazon, a Filipino, were vague about their betting system.

Lopez said he picks horses by numbers instead of form, using a Latin method called "charadas" in which certain objects or creatures are represented by numbers.

But Tuazon said he picked the 2-7-5-1 combination which scored for them Thursday.

"At the dog track," he explained, "I bet on a 2-5 combination and 2-7 came in. Later, I bet on 2-7 and 5-1 win. So I put this all together and bet on 2-7-5-1 in the twin double."

Luck was with them all the way. They won the first half of the double with Scattergood, $142.60, and Col. Mengel, $8.50, in the fifth and sixth races. After this, 218 tickets remained alive.

Lopez and Tuazon then exchanged their ticket for Initabas in the eighth and Spendapenic in the ninth. Fortunately, when Initabas won, all other bettors were wiped out and the two cooks became owners of the entire twin double pool.

Spendapenic ran seventh in the ninth race, won by Doctor Hank, $4.

The payoff broke the record of $79,660 won by Joe Mariano, a Waterbury, Conn., bartender at the Roosevelt Raceway harness racing track last Nov. 6.

Mariano, in Miami with his wife spending part of his winnings on a big vacation, said "I don't mind losing the title. I feel good for someone who can win this much. I know what it did for me.

"It made it a lot easier for my children and myself and my wife. There's a certain part of life when a man finds himself struggling. That was me when I hit the twin double."

Lopez declared that "I've never had an extra buck in my pocket in my life." He has been at Miami Beach since 1957 and has a wife, son and daughter at Camuy, Puerto Rico.

Tuazon was reluctant to talk much with newsmen. He works in the winter here and in the summers at mountain resorts, and is a lifelong bachelor.

Mariano said he was helping a 21-year-old daughter build a home and planning a college education for another who is 18.

"I'm going to invest the rest as soon as I get back—in insurance stocks," he said. "It's in the bank now."

Improperly handled, Mariano said, such a bonanza might wreck a man.

"He might quit his job and go out and live it up," he said. "It all dpends on the person."

Mariano kept his job as salaried manager and bartender in his father's bar.

"Just act normal, keep your senses and you got a nice little nest egg," he said.

"We've been here since Sunday, but I haven't been out to Gulfstream yet. Been itching to go."

They made their huge killing Thursday. When they failed to show up at the cashier's window before closing, it was feared that the ticket might have been destroyed when their horse, Initabas, ran second in the eighth race. He was placed first when the original winner, Gathering Dusk, was disqualified.

Lopez, who had gone to the track to buy the ticket, said that when the payoff was announced "I just held on to the ticket tight and went home shaking all over."

This morning he telephoned Tuazon, who had split the ticket with him and after a joyous celebration with fellow employes of the hotel, they went to the track to collect.

Each accepted a $40,000 check and the balance of his half share in cash. Then they marched to the sellers windows to see if their fabulous luck had changed.

Lopez, a Puerto Rican, and Tuazon, a Filipino, were vague about their betting system.

Lopez said he picks horses by numbers instead of form, using a Latin method called "charadas" in which certain objects or creatures are represented by numbers.

But Tuazon said he picked the 2-7-5-1 combination which scored for them Thursday.

"At the dog track," he explained, "I bet on a 2-5 combination and 2-7 came in. Later, I bet on 2-7 and 5-1 win. So I put this all together and bet on 2-7-5-1 in the twin double."

Luck was with them all the way. They won the first half of the double with Scattergood, $142.60, and Col. Mengel, $8.50, in the fifth and sixth races. After this, 218 tickets remained alive.

Lopez and Tuazon then exchanged their ticket for Initabas in the eighth and Spendapenie in the ninth. Fortunately, when Initabas won, all other bettors were wiped out and the two cooks became owners of the entire twin double pool.

Spendapenie ran seventh in the ninth race, won by Doctor Hank, $4.

The payoff broke the record of $79,660 won by Joe Mariano, a Waterbury, Conn., bartender at the Roosevelt Raceway harness racing track last Nov. 6.

Mariano, in Miami with his wife spending part of his winnings on a big vacation, said "I don't mind losing the title. I feel good for someone who can win this much. I know what it did for me.

"It made it a lot easier for my children and myself and my wife. There's a certain part of life when a man finds himself struggling. That was me when I hit the twin double."

Lopez declared that "I've never had an extra buck in my pocket in my life." He has been at Miami Beach since 1957 and has a wife, son and daughter at Camuy, Puerto Rico.

Tuazon was reluctant to talk much with newsmen. He works in the winter here and in the summers at mountain resorts, and is a lifelong bachelor.

Mariano said he was helping a 21-year-old daughter build a home and planning a college education for another who is 18.

"I'm going to invest the rest as soon as I get back—in insurance stocks," he said. "It's in the bank now."

Improperly handled, Mariano said, such a bonanza might wreck a man.

"He might quit his job and go out and live it up," he said. "It all dpends on the person."

Mariano kept his job as salaried manager and bartender in his father's bar.

"Just act normal, keep your senses and you got a nice little nest egg," he said.

"We've been here since Sunday, but I haven't been out to Gulfstream yet. Been itching to go."

Rockefeller, Goldwater Deadlocked In Primary

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The nation's first presidential primary race moved toward the final stretch Friday, with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona apparently locked in a neck and neck race for the finish line.

Goldwater and Rockefeller are the star entries in the Republican presidential preference balloting Tuesday.

But two strong write-in campaigns — particularly that for Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge —fogged the political crystal ball.

Lodge supporters predicted he will poll as many as 27,000 write-in votes out of an anticipated 100,000 GOP ballots to be cast.

In addition, former Gov. Wesley Powell says the drive he has conducted for Richard M. Nixon will result in 15,000 to 20,000 write-in votes for the former vice president. Nixon received a record 23,000 write-ins from New Hampshire Republicans in 1956 when a move was underway to dump him as President Eisenhower's running mate.

While the main interest is on the Republican race, a sideline move being watched by politicians is the write-in campaign of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for vice president on a Democratic ticket headed by President Johnson.

Democratic Gov. John W. King said he expects the growing write-in movement in behalf of Kennedy to continue even though the Justice Department issued a statement Thursday which said the attorney General "wishes to discourage any efforts on his behalf in New Hampshire or anywhere else."

A final weekend of intensive vote hunting was planned by Goldwater and Rockefeller. The latter planned to campaign through Monday with a round of street tours, news conferences and television appearances.

Goldwater, however, will put in a final day of campaigning Saturday, and then head back to Washington.

Neither candidate planned to be in New Hampshire during Tuesday's balloting.

Goldwater and Rockefeller are being challenged on the preference side of the ballot by Harold E. Stassen, Maine Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, and Norman LePage, a local perennial.

New Hampshire Republican leaders are hard to pick a winner in the Goldwater-Rockefeller race. Most are predicting a tight, down to the wire battle, with Goldwater possibly having an edge because of the conservative support he is expected to receive in rural areas.

Experts think the write-in drive for Lodge is more likely to drain votes from Rockefeller than Goldwater.

Many local observers are saying, however, that Rockefeller's aggressive campaign style has enabled him to draw ahead—and possibly overtake—the long lead that Goldwater enjoyed at the start of the vote drive in January.

In addition, they think Goldwater's conservative views — particularly on the Social Security issue—has caused his early advantage to melt away. Rockefeller has maintained a drumfire attack on a Goldwater assertion that Social Security should be made "voluntary."

Rockefeller says this would wreck the Social Security act.

Soviets Warn U.S. Writer Of Critical Story

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet government has warned Time, the American news magazine, its Moscow office will be closed if it repeats "slanderous articles about the Soviet Union," the Soviet news agency Tass said Friday.

Tass said the Time correspondent in Moscow, Israel Shenker, was told by the Soviet Foreign Ministry press department that the Feb. 21 issue of Time represented a "striving of the Time publishers to fan up the cold war and poison (Soviet-American) relations."

Glenn Flown To Hospital

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — John H. Glenn, pale but smiling, was flown Friday to a military hospital in Texas but he promised to return to campaign for the Senate.

The former astronaut was careful not to move his head as his hospital cart was wheeled through a crowd of admirers, Marine officers, policemen, newsmen and photographers to an ambulance at Grant Hospital, where he has been undergoing treatment for nine days.

Glenn suffered a concussion and head bruises Feb. 26 when he slipped and fell in the bathroom of his apartment here.

The injuries postponed Glenn's retirement as a Marine lieutenant colonel until April 1 and the start of his campaign against U. S. Sen. Stephen M. Young until he is out of the Marines.

The World for WOMEN

IRENE GALITZINE OF ROME expresses gracious elegance in a new Spring coat of tangerine wool etamine, with etched brass cluster buttons. Note the neat stand-away collar, the rounded shoulder line, double-breasted closing and hipline yoke. Welt-seaming is everywhere for shaping and accent. Photographed at Porta Pinciana.

THE FRESH LOOK OF SPRING by Patrick De Barentzen's includes his high-waisted fashion collection. The molded bustline, navy linen shirt, with cuffed shirt-sleeves, white organdy collar and lilies-of-the-valley tucked into the big hip pocket are de Barentzen signatures. The navy straw sailor's cap has a white organdy cuff. Photographed atop the Spanish Steps in Rome.

Italian Fashion Designs Present Breath Of Spring

The men and women who shape Italian fashions, and international fashions, and international fashion trends, introduce a gay, young, graceful new mood in their Spring-Summer collections shown at Pitti Palace in Florence.

Antonelli, Lancetti, Patrick de Barentzen and Carosa caused a stir with coats featuring welt seams, tiny roll-back lapels, stand-away collars or pockets for accents. All of these designers show a preference for reversible fabrics, either tone-on-tone or with very slight color contrasts, frequently with matching dresses underneath. Valentino's reversible coats were worn with matching skirts and loosely-belted white overblouses. Forquet's hip-length, loosely over two-piece long-jacketed suits cut exactly the same length. Veneziani's coats and coat-dresses are loosely belted, low around the hips and swept back in soft folds, while Galitzine's elegant, ladylike redingotes have slightly rounded backs.

Antonelli's suit jackets are fitted and flaring, de Barentzen's are double-breasted over repleated skirts, and pelted with pockets, Biki's have box-pleated skirts, while Forquet and Veneziani vary the theme with a jumper look. Valentino belts jackets loosely with jewelled buckles, a theme carried through his entire collection, while Carosa placed a center pleat in skirts giving swing to her longer-jacket suits. Lancetti adheres to the shorter jacket and Schuberth to tiny boleros over simple sheaths. Balestra likes puffed sleeves on suit jackets.

For daytime dresses, Valentino likes two-piece linens, belted low or ottoman shifts belted high. De Barentzen puts white linen or organdy collars on his high-waisted dresses, either straight or flared. Veneziani's dresses and coat dresses feature oversize mandarin collars, Carosa gives the classic shirtwaist a new look with floating panels, while Antonelli uses diagonal bustline seaming for accent and shaping. Lancetti's black and white two-piece linen dresses are noteworthy.

Couple Feted With Rehearsal Dinner Party

The Patio Room of the Paragon Supper club was the setting chosen by Mr. and Mrs. William Earl Baxter for the rehearsal dinner, honoring their son, Robert and his fiancee, Camilla Harmon preparatory to their marriage this afternoon at Lakeshore Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter, whose home is in Monticello, Arkansas, selected large bouquets of white carnations, stock and roses to decorate the dinner tables for last evening's party.

For the occasion, Miss Harmon wore a yellow two-piece crepe ensemble with bone accessories.

Sharing the evening with the honorees and their hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harmon, parents of the bride-elect, Eleanor Harmon, Frank W. Harmon, Bill Hodge, Michael McCready, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. David Whipple, Mr. and Mrs. James Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Cowsert of Jackson, Mississippi, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Garrett of Monticello, Arkansas and Jim Ross of Charleston, South Carolina.

THE LONG GOWN FOR GALA EVENINGS still figures importantly throughout Italian Spring and Summer fashions. This one, on the Campidoglio, is by Rome designer Pino Lancetti, in butter yellow silk shantung, with insert and skirt panel embroidered in pink, yellow and gold crystals. The sweeping skirt and high, wide, back-buttoning belt are typical of his 1964 silhouette.

DEAR ABBY

You Can Differ, Sir, But I Do Not Waver

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You have always insisted that the white wedding gown and veil are symbols of chastity and virginity, and should be worn only by brides who have earned them. Now you quote from St. Thomas Aquinas, and seem to have wavered from your original stand. I certainly believe in the forgiveness of sins; that even the sin of unchastity can be, and is, forgiven by the Lord if the sinner is truly repentant. But this forgiveness does not remove the consequences of the sin. The unchaste woman may be forgiven by the Lord, but she still loses her right to the symbols of virginity. I urge you to remain firm in your original position. Our young people must learn that there are certain penalties for unchastity and rewards for purity.

A CONCERNED PASTOR

DEAR PASTOR: — I remain firm in my stand, and waver not the slightest. I printed the Catholic point of view, though it is not my own, in fairness to my readers.

Get it off your chest. For a personal unpublished reply, write to ABBY, in care of News Star. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

50th Wedding Reception Honors Couple In Area

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goss celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, Sunday afternoon, March 1st, at their home, 802 North Ludwig street in Farmerville, between the hours of 2 and 4. Hosts for the reception were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Taylor of Kingsville, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Moffett Cobb of Atlanta, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Goss of Dallas, Texas.

Mrs. James Walter Goss greeted the guests at the entrance. Receiving with the honored couple were their two daughters, Mrs. Taylor, wearing an early spring model of gray silk and Mrs. Cobb, attired in a navy crepe sheath and their son, James Walter Goss. Mrs. Goss chose for the occasion a Grecian blue model of sheer wool, which was accented with a gold cymbidium orchid corsage.

Miss Ann Aulds of Farmerville and Miss Martha Maxwell of Monroe, niece of Mrs. Goss, alternated at the guest book, placed on a table, enhanced with a gold and white anniversary candle, encircled with gold pompon mums.

Noted on the mantle in the living room were twin hearts of gold velvet out-lined with gold lace, flanked on either side by gold tapers in antique gold holders, entwined with English ivy and gold lace.

Gifts were displayed on a table draped in white and caught at the corners with clusters of frosted wedding bells with gold clappers and bows of gold lace.

The refreshment table in the dining room, overlaid with a white linen cutwork cloth, held a gold and crystal epergne overflowing with a massive arrangement of gold chrysanthemums, white Fuji mums; ranunculi and gold accacia. The four tiered wedding cake, was decorated with cascades of gold roses and topped with the numeral "50" in gold, nestled in valley lilies and white tulle. Serving was Mrs. Ralph Johnston and Mrs. Richard E. Bass.

At the opposite end of the table was the silver service, presided over by Mrs. Gordon R. Weaver of Farmerville, and Mrs. Frank Maxwell, of Monroe, sister of Mrs. Goss.

A silver candelabrum aglow with gold tapers and with gold and white Fuji mums, graced the buffet.

Others assisting in the afternoon's courtesies were Mrs. Irma A. Cobb, Mrs. L. G. Aulds Jr., Mrs. Jesse Hudson and Mrs. Eagan Kenly of Farmerville and Mrs. J. Percy Hollis of Stephen, Arkansas, sister-in-law of Mrs. Goss.

Around 200 guests called during the appointed hours. Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Goss of Doyline; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Goss of Blanchard; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Clinton of Clay; Mrs. Jeff Lain, Mrs. Robert Cargill of Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Goss, and daughters, Bonnie and Connie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Green of Bernice; Mr. C. L. Clements of El Dorado; Mr. and Mrs. J. Percy Hollis, of Stephen, Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Futch of El Dorado; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Colvin III and children, Phamie, Jean and Andy, Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Maxwell and daughters, Misses Maryland and Martha of Monroe.

TIE PACKING

Tete à Tete

THE FOURTH ANNUAL convention of the Louisiana Association of Medical Assistants, convening this weekend at the Bentley Hotel in Alexandria, is being attended by Monroyans, Mrs. Kathleen Simrall, Mrs. Maudie Fant, Mrs. Fleta Latham, Mrs. Claudia Pittman, Mrs. Floy St. John, Mrs. Mary Louise Williams and Mrs. Betty Shaddix, all members of the Ouachita Parish group. At tonight's banquet, Mrs. Shaddix will be installed as president of the state organization.

OF INTEREST LOCALLY is the recent marriage of Miss Cynthia Lee Mallet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Mallet Sr. of Houston, formerly of West Monroe, and Raymond H. Bass Jr. The couple, who now reside in Georgetown, suburb of Washington, D.C., were married on February 22 in the famed old St. John's Episcopal church in Washington. Mrs. Joe W. Elsbury Jr. of Lafayette, sister of the bride, attended her as matron of honor. The newlyweds are both enjoying politically interesting jobs in our nation's capital, for Cynthia is corresponding secretary to Senator Barry Goldwater and her husband is staff assistant to Senator John H. Tower of Texas. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Buce of West Monroe.

The World for WOMEN

IRENE GALITZINE OF ROME expresses gracious elegance in a new Spring coat of tangerine wool etamine, with etched brass cluster buttons. Note the neat stand-away collar, the rounded shoulder line, double-breasted closing and hipline yoke. Welt-seaming is everywhere for shaping and accent. Photographed at Porta Pinciana.

THE FRESH LOOK OF SPRING by Patrick De Barentzen's includes his high-waisted fashion collection. The molded bustline, navy linen shirt, with cuffed shirt-sleeves, white organdy collar and lilies-of-the-valley tucked into the big hip pocket are de Barentzen signatures. The navy straw sailor's cap has 'a white organdy cuff. Photographed atop the Spanish Steps in Rome.

Italian Fashion Designs Present Breath Of Spring

The men and women who shape Italian fashions, and international fashions, and international fashion trends, introduce a gay, young, graceful new mood in their Spring-Summer collections shown at Pitti Palace in Florence.

Antonelli, Lancetti, Patrick de Barentzen and Carosa caused a stir with coats featuring welt seams, tiny roll-back lapels, stand-away collars or pockets for accents. All of these designers show a preference for reversible fabrics, either tone-on-tone or with very slight color contrasts, frequently with matching dresses underneath. Valentino's reversible coats were worn with matching skirts and loosely-belted white over-blouses. Forquet's hip-length, loosely over two-piece long-jacketed suits cut exactly the same length. Veneziani's coats and coat-dresses are loosely belted, low around the hips and swept back in soft folds, while Galitzine's elegant, ladylike redingotes have slightly rounded backs.

Antonelli's suit jackets are fitted and flaring, de Barentzen's are double-breasted over pleated skirts, and pelted with pockets, Biki's have box-pleated skirts, while Forquet and Veneziani vary the theme with a jumper look. Valentino belts jackets loosely with jewelled buckles, a theme carried through his entire collection, while Carosa placed a center pleat in skirts giving swing to her longer-jacket suits. Lancetti adheres to the shorter jacket and Schuberth to tiny boleros over simple sheaths. Balestra likes puffed sleeves on suit jackets.

For daytime dresses, Valentino likes two-piece linens, belted low or ottoman shifts belted high. De Barentzen puts white linen or organdy collars on his high-waisted dresses, either straight or flared. Veneziani's dresses and coat dresses feature oversize mandarin collars, Carosa gives the classic shirtwaist a new look with floating panels, while Antonelli uses diagonal bustline seaming for accent and shaping. Lancetti's black and white two-piece linen dresses are noteworthy.

Couple Feted With Rehearsal Dinner Party

The Patio Room of the Paragon Supper club was the setting chosen by Mr. and Mrs. William Earl Baxter for the rehearsal dinner, honoring their son, Robert and his fiancee, Camilla Harmon preparatory to their marriage this afternoon at Lakeshore Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter, whose home is in Monticello, Arkansas, selected large bouquets of white carnations, stock and roses to decorate the dinner tables for last evening's party.

For the occasion, Miss Harmon wore a yellow two-piece crepe ensemble with bone accessories.

Sharing the evening with the honorees and their hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harmon, parents of the bride-elect, Eleanor Harmon, Frank W. Harmon, Bill Hodge, Michael McCready, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. David Whipple, Mr. and Mrs. James Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Cowsert of Jackson, Mississippi, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Garrett of Monticello, Arkansas and Jim Ross of Charleston, South Carolina.

THE LONG GOWN FOR GALA EVENINGS still figures importantly throughout Italian Spring and Summer fashions. This one, on the Campidoglio, is by Rome designer Pino Lancetti, in butter yellow silk shantung, with insert and skirt panel embroidered in pink, yellow and gold crystals. The sweeping skirt and high, wide, back-buttoning belt are typical of his 1964 silhouette.

DEAR ABBY

You Can Differ, Sir, But I Do Not Waver

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You have always insisted that the white wedding gown and veil are symbols of chastity and virginity, and should be worn only by brides who have earned them. Now you quote from St. Thomas Aquinas, and seem to have wavered from your original stand. I certainly believe in the forgiveness of sins; that even the sin of unchastity can be, and is, forgiven by the Lord if the sinner is truly repentant. But this forgiveness does not remove the consequences of the sin. The unchaste woman may be forgiven by the Lord, but she still loses her right to the symbols of virginity. I urge you to remain firm in your original position. Our young people must learn that there are certain penalties for unchastity and rewards for purity.

A CONCERNED PASTOR

DEAR PASTOR: — I remain firm in my stand, and waver not the slightest. I printed the Catholic point of view, though it is not my own, in fairness to my readers.

Get it off your chest. For a personal unpublished reply, write to ABBY, in care of News Star. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

50th Wedding Reception Honors Couple In Area

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goss celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary, Sunday afternoon, March 1st, at their home, 802 North Ludwig street in Farmerville, between the hours of 2 and 4. Hosts for the reception were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Taylor of Kingsville, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Moffett Cobb of Atlanta, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. James Walter Goss of Dallas, Texas.

Mrs. James Walter Goss greeted the guests at the entrance. Receiving with the honored couple were their two daughters, Mrs. Taylor, wearing an early spring model of gray silk and Mrs. Cobb, attired in a navy crepe sheath and their son, James Walter Goss. Mrs. Goss chose for the occasion a Grecian blue model of sheer wool, which was accented with a gold cymbidium orchid corsage.

Miss Ann Aulds of Farmerville and Miss Martha Maxwell of Monroe, niece of Mrs. Goss, alternated at the guest book, placed on a table, enhanced with a gold and white anniversary candle, encircled with gold pompon mums.

Noted on the mantle in the living room were twin hearts of gold velvet out-lined with gold lace, flanked on either side by gold tapers in antique gold holders, entwined with English ivy and gold lace.

Gifts were displayed on a table draped in white and caught at the corners with clusters of frosted wedding bells with gold clappers and bows of gold lace.

The refreshment table in the dining room, overlaid with a white linen cutwork cloth, held a gold and crystal epergne overflowing with a massive arrangement of gold chrysanthemums, white Fuji mums; ranunculi and gold accacia. The four tiered wedding cake, was decorated with cascades of gold roses and topped with the numeral "50" in gold, nestled in valley lilies and white tulle. Serving was Mrs. Ralph Johnston and Mrs. Richard E. Bass.

At the opposite end of the table was the silver service, presided over by Mrs. Gordon R. Weaver of Farmerville, and Mrs. Frank Maxwell, of Monroe, sister of Mrs. Goss.

A silver candelabrum aglow with gold tapers and with gold and white Fuji mums, graced the buffet.

Others assisting in the afternoon's courtesies were Mrs. Irma A. Cobb, Mrs. L. G. Aulds Jr., Mrs. Jesse Hudson and Mrs. Eagan Kenly of Farmerville and Mrs. J. Percy Hollis of Stephen, Arkansas, sister-in-law of Mrs. Goss.

Around 200 guests called during the appointed hours. Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Goss of Doyline; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Goss of Blanchard; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Clinton of Clay; Mrs. Jeff Lain, Mrs. Robert Cargill of Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Goss, and daughters, Bonnie and Connie, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Green of Bernice; Mr. C. L. Clements of El Dorado; Mr. and Mrs. J. Percy Hollis, of Stephen, Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Futch of El Dorado; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Colvin III and children, Phamie, Jean and Andy, Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Maxwell and daughters, Misses Maryland and Martha of Monroe.

TIE PACKING

OF INTEREST LOCALLY is the recent marriage of Miss Cynthia Lee Mallet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Mallet Sr. of Houston, formerly of West Monroe, and Raymond H. Bass Jr. The couple, who now reside in Georgetown, suburb of Washington, D.C., were married on February 22 in the famed old St. John's Episcopal church in Washington. Mrs. Joe W. Elsbury Jr. of Lafayette, sister of the bride, attended her as matron of honor. The newlyweds are both enjoying politically interesting jobs in our nation's capital, for Cynthia is corresponding secretary to Senator Barry Goldwater and her husband is staff assistant to Senator John H. Tower of Texas. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Buce of West Monroe.

Accessories Are Theme For HD Club Meetings

The Colony Home Demonstration club held its monthly meeting on March 4 at the home of Mrs. Pearl Bower on DeSiard Street.

Mrs. Tempie Hegwood, club president, called the meeting to order and gave the thought for the day. Mrs. Audrey Dawson, home demonstration agent, reminded the 4-H club leaders, Mrs. Gill and Mrs. Carr of their responsibility to train helpers for the 4-H Achievement Day meeting, April 11. Members were also urged to make flower arrangements for the Tulip Festival and to support the boy and girl clubs in their efforts to make money on "Car Wash Day."

Civil Defense leader, Mrs. Jewel LaPietra gave a report on the need and use of bomb shelters. Mrs. Allie Daws, home and safety leader, read an article entitled "The Art of Listening," which suggested that correct habits of listening pay rare dividends.

Mrs. Dawson gave the demonstration on "The Art of Correct Selection of Accessories," outlining definite principles to follow in choosing appropriate accessories for various types of costumes. Mrs. Dawson distributed score cards for use as guides to determine one's own effectiveness with accessories.

Mrs. Gladys Thompson, recreation leader, led the group in a game as climax to the program and was awarded the door prize for the meeting.

Members present were Mrs. Roy Welch, Mrs. Christine Welch, Mrs. Gladys Thompson, Mrs. Ruby Haight, Mrs. A. J. Hudson, Mrs. Jewel Earl, Mrs. Opal Thompson, Mrs. Sirena Smith, Mrs. H. W. Gill, Mrs. Pearl Bower, Mrs. Jewel La Pietra, Mrs. Allie Daws and Mrs. Tempie Hegwood. Guests attending were Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Dawson.

The next meeting will be held on April 1.

SHADY OAKS

Mrs. Paul Wilson was hostess for the March 3 meeting of the Shady Oaks Home Demonstration club.

During the business session, plans were discussed about participation and attendance at the Dress Revue March 13 and the Clothing Workshop and council meeting on March 27.

Mrs. John Smelser read a poem and reported on family life, while Mrs. Freeland D. May reported as citizenship leader.

Following Mrs. Dawson's demonstration on accessories for the occasion, refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson to Mrs. Bobby Wilson, Mrs. Smelser, Mrs. May, Mrs. Bill Clark, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Thomas Owens and Mrs. Dawson.

PROGRESSIVE

The Progressive Home Demonstration club met on Tuesday, March 3 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. James Fletcher with Mrs. P. E. Rodgers as co-hostess.

Mrs. Mildred Chapman, president, presided over the business session, during which she urged participation in the clothing review to be held March 13 at 7:30 p.m. at Crosley School. All entries must be turned into the agent's office by 1 p.m. on Wednesday, March 11.

Other dates noted were Leader Training for Achievement Day on April 1, Simple Sewing Workshop on April 16-18, and Hobby Day, April 7.

A report on citizenship was given by Mrs. Fletcher.

Following a demonstration on accessories, as given by Mrs. Audrey Dawson, during which she stressed the need to become aware of the complete costume and the occasion, luncheon was served to Mrs. Tim Ford, Mrs. E. Hargrove, Mrs. Jewel Russell, Mrs. L. O. Guillory, Mrs. Sidney Karr, Mrs. W. H. May, Mrs. Bennie Brakefield, Mrs. B. A. Johnson, Mrs. Rowe Harrell, Mrs. H. A. Lane, Mrs. Roy Simmons, Mrs. E. A. Hollenshead, Mrs. W. R. Roark, Mrs. Chapman and guests, Mrs. Mae Crew and Mrs. Dawson.

Poetry Society Meets With Mrs. Williams

The Northeast Branch of Louisiana State Poetry Society met with Mrs. S. O. Williams last Saturday.

The president, Mrs. James M. Russell, presided over the business session.

The main topic of discussion was the Deep South Writers Conference that will take place in Lafayette, Louisiana at Southwestern University early in May.

During the conversational hour refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. J. C. Brown, Mrs. David C. Carter, Mrs. J. A. Combs, Mrs. A. C. Hutts, Mrs. W. E. McCoy, Mrs. Earl J. Phelps, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Carter extended an invitation to the members of Northeast Branch to meet with her March 14th at 3:00 p.m.

Still More Shoe Colors In Offing

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

The success of the first instant colorings for shoes has led to new developments in the home coloring field. Now there is a new line of colorings especially for patent shoes, which were somewhat difficult to color with the tints first introduced. They also have a cleaner and conditioner to prepare patent shoes to take a new coloring.

Now Shu-Mak-Up who started all the shoe coloring fuss in the first place, has come up with a device to make shoes look like velvet. It's puffed on from a plastic squeeze bottle while the coloring is still wet, covers the shoe with tiny bits of material like flocking.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

No matter how lovely your legs, your bust and your hips may be, unless you have a slim waist your figure becomes uninteresting. Without this the silhouette loses much of its form and grace. It's a shame to let this happen since the waistline is one of the easiest measurements to reduce. The following is a splendid motion toward beauty. Make it every day!

Stand an arm's length from the wall, facing away from the wall, feet comfortably apart. Keep the feet on the floor as you turn to the left and try to touch the fingertips of both hands to the wall. Turn forward. This time turn to the right trying to touch the fingertips to the wall.

You will probably be able to touch the wall with the fingers of only one hand, but reach with the other. It is also important to keep the feet on the floor so that you get a real twist at the waist.

Here is another waist slimmer which you can do at your dressing table. Sit tall and pull your tummy in — back toward your backbone. Head should be up with chin parallel to the floor and ribcage should be lifted. Straighten your legs out in front of you, feet on the floor.

Take a mirror in your right hand. Turn in different directions as far as you can while you look at yourself from varying angles.

The way you dress also has a great influence on your appearance of slimness. Unless you are very slim, almost a beanpole, extremely wide belts will not be flattering to your figure. Wear a narrow belt or none at all. Belts of the same color as the dress are more slimming than a contrasting shade. Belts which dip in the back are slenderizing.

The next meeting will be held on April 7 with Mrs. C. F. Thomas and Mrs. C. A. McKenzie as hostesses.

Young Moderns Prepare For A Slimmer Spring

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There's nothing like a charm pickup to chase away those winter doldrums. At this time of year before spring is really here depression often sets in when school work seems tougher, family seems less understanding, and you just can't do a thing with yourself.

A look in the mirror may steal the last vestige of reassurance that you can make a comeback.

But you can.

Try a six-day Beauty Crash Program. Give up all extra curricular activity from Monday to Saturday and concentrate on improving yourself in the glamor department.

MONDAY — A day of fast and light diet. Stick to liquids if possible, and give up frustration foods. (These are favorities of the Munch and Punch Society—candy, pastry, bags of nibbles, sweet drinks.)

Single out your most annoying figure fault. Today and every day for five days, exercise to get rid of it. Lie down and cycle in the air to help legs, knees, thighs. Lie down and roll from side to side to massage hips. Touch your right hand to left toes and left hand to right toes from a standing position, keeping your legs straight. It is excellent for waist, hips, thighs.

TUESDAY — Eat lightly. Exercise and concentrate on your legs and toes, the most neglected beauty areas in winter.

Clean your legs of fuzz with a razor or whatever. Rub oil on legs from toes to thighs. Besides the light, airy feeling, the routine may catch on and you'll be prepared for spring and shorts when the time comes.

Cut toe nails straight across, gently tapering the crosscut. Avoid rounding corners, promoting ingrown toenails.

WEDNESDAY — Eat lightly. Exercise. Oil your feet and legs. Concentrate on your arms and hands. Give yourself a professional manicure with or without polish. Soak your hands, scrub your nails, push back the cuticle. Use an emory board to shorten them.

Rub oil from fingertips to shoulders in large sweeping strokes. If arms are too hairy, remove hair. Rub oil across shoulders and up neck to chin.

THURSDAY — Examine your face. Oily skin may be helped with soap and water; dry skin needs oil.

Continue light diet. Be sure to include green leafy vegetables. Exercise. Continue oil treatment on legs and arms.

Give yourself an eyebrow test. Remove straggly hairs between eyebrows, and those under the arch. If your face is round keep eyebrows as long a line as possible and tweeze so they are lifted at a slight angle at the sides.

Find your lipline. If you use lipstick, favor a generous mouth but keep it dainty. Curve it just a little bit more than your own lipline permits, but don't get your mouth off balance. Experiment until you get the right line for your mouth. Young girls should use light lipstick, rather than dark.

FRIDAY — Experiment with a new hairdo, keeping certain facts in mind.

If you are a butterball, don't wear hair in all-round fuzziness. It should be close to the head in soft waves. If you are tall and thin, don't wear your hair piled up on top. It will look better in a neat arrangement that falls gracefully below the ears.

SATURDAY — Anything you couldn't do for yourself may require professional help: a new hairstyle, professional advice on eyebrows or manicure. Check teeth, call your dentist and this is the week to buy some little thing for your wardrobe.

It may make a new girl out of you. Or so you'll think.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Oldster Finds Night Light Has Many Uses

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

It really makes no difference what you are, widow, bachelor, mother with a bunch of kids, or just afraid . . .

Those little old night lights that you can buy in any dime store are fabulous for lots of places (besides the baby's bed). This is the type light that you can plug into any socket but people ALWAYS think they are only for babies.

I keep one burning in my kitchen all night and it takes VERY few kilowatts. I just plug it in where my waffle iron and coffee pot go!

I keep another one in the bathroom, so that my children can find the bathroom at night without turning on the big light.

I keep another one in the stairway socket so that those who walk up and down the stairs at night can SEE each step.

And I have found that it saves money by unplugging that big kilowatt light in our closet and screwing in a socket, then plugging one of these little lights in! This can burn all day and all night since it's only around seven kilowatts (And, dear Heloise, don't ask me WHAT THAT MEANS. I've been down to the light company and they told me it means it costs less money than those other lights.) I do not have to pull that chain or punch a switch everytime I go into a closet. It gives off just enough light.

Believe me, any man who pays the electric bill will appreciate this. It's inexpensive to run and costs practically nothing. Just look in your dime store for a night light. There are types to fit anyone's fancy.

Oldster

Dear Heloise:

To separate a package of small paper doilies, give them a good whack against the edge of the table. They will come apart very easily.

Arville C. Jensen

Dear Heloise:

While most of us TRY to buy sheets that are long enough for our beds, on occasion some are just a trifle too short.

I solved that problem by putting the bottom sheet on the mattress and placing it so that the bottom hem of the sheet comes ONLY to the foot of the mattress itself with NO HANG-OVER AT ALL.

This leaves that much extra sheet to tuck in at the top. If the sheet is pulled quite tightly when tucking it in, it will stay in place.

For Hollywood beds with no headboard; I miter the corners at the head of the bed.

A Reader

Thanks.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

One does not have to be a seamstress to beautify a tablecloth that has a hole in it!

Take a left-over scrap of colored percale and simply snip out a flower . . . a monogram . . . or a picture of a teapot, etc., and sew it daintily over that unsightly hole. You will be quite pleased with the new look.

New Way To Be Suddenly Slim For Easter

Monroe, La. — Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all - new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim", in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available in our area at The Woman's Shop, Monroe, Louisiana, Phone FA 2-8106.—Adv

Accessories Are Theme For HD Club Meetings

The Colony Home Demonstration club held its monthly meeting on March 4 at the home of Mrs. Pearl Bower on DeSiard Street.

Mrs. Tempie Hegwood, club president, called the meeting to order and gave the thought for the day. Mrs. Audrey Dawson, home demonstration agent, reminded the 4-H club leaders, Mrs. Gill and Mrs. Carr of their responsibility to train helpers for the 4-H Achievement Day meeting, April 11. Members were also urged to make flower arrangements for the Tulip Festival and to support the boy and girl clubs in their efforts to make money on "Car Wash Day."

Civil Defense leader, Mrs. Jewel LaPietra gave a report on the need and use of bomb shelters. Mrs. Allie Daws, home and safety leader, read an article entitled "The Art of Listening," which suggested that correct habits of listening pay rare dividends.

Mrs. Dawson gave the demonstration on "The Art of Correct Selection of Accessories," outlining definite principles to follow in choosing appropriate accessories for various types of costumes. Mrs. Dawson distributed score cards for use as guides to determine one's own effectiveness with accessories.

Mrs. Gladys Thompson, recreation leader, led the group in a game as climax to the program and was awarded the door prize for the meeting.

Members present were Mrs. Roy Welch, Mrs. Christine Welch, Mrs. Gladys Thompson, Mrs. Ruby Haight, Mrs. A. J. Hudson, Mrs. Jewel Earl, Mrs. Opal Thompson, Mrs. Sirena Smith, Mrs. H. W. Gill, Mrs. Pearl Bower, Mrs. Jewel La Pietra, Mrs. Allie Daws and Mrs. Tempie Hegwood. Guests attending were Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Dawson.

The next meeting will be held on April 1.

SHADY OAKS

Mrs. Paul Wilson was hostess for the March 3 meeting of the Shady Oaks Home Demonstration club.

During the business session, plans were discussed about participation and attendance at the Dress Revue March 13 and the Clothing Workshop and council meeting on March 27.

Mrs. John Smelser read a poem and reported on family life, while Mrs. Freeland D. May reported as citizenship leader.

Following Mrs. Dawson's demonstration on accessories for the occasion, refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson to Mrs. Bobby Wilson, Mrs. Smelser, Mrs. May, Mrs. Bill Clark, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Thomas Owens and Mrs. Dawson.

PROGRESSIVE

The Progressive Home Demonstration club met on Tuesday, March 3 at 9:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. James Fletcher with Mrs. P. E. Rodgers as co-hostess.

Mrs. Mildred Chapman, president, presided over the business session, during which she urged participation in the clothing review to be held March 13 at 7:30 p.m. at Crosley School. All entries must be turned into the agent's office by 1 p.m. on Wednesday, March 11.

Other dates noted were Leader Training for Achievement Day on April 1, Simple Sewing Workshop on April 16-18, and Hobby Day, April 7.

A report on citizenship was given by Mrs. Fletcher.

Following a demonstration on accessories, as given by Mrs. Audrey Dawson, during which she stressed the need to become aware of the complete costume and the occasion, luncheon was served to Mrs. Tim Ford, Mrs. E. Hargrove, Mrs. Jewel Russell, Mrs. L. O. Guillory, Mrs. Sidney Karr, Mrs. W. H. May, Mrs. Bennie Brakefield, Mrs. B. A. Johnson, Mrs. Rowe Harrell, Mrs. H. A. Lane, Mrs. Roy Simmons, Mrs. E. A. Hollenshead, Mrs. W. R. Roark, Mrs. Chapman and guests, Mrs. Mae Crew and Mrs. Dawson.

Poetry Society Meets With Mrs. Williams

The Northeast Branch of Louisiana State Poetry Society met with Mrs. S. O. Williams last Saturday.

The president, Mrs. James M. Russell, presided over the business session.

The main topic of discussion was the Deep South Writers Conference that will take place in Lafayette, Louisiana at Southwestern University early in May.

During the conversational hour refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. J. C. Brown, Mrs. David C. Carter, Mrs. J. A. Combs, Mrs. A. C. Hutts, Mrs. W. E. McCoy, Mrs. Earl J. Phelps, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Carter extended an invitation to the members of Northeast Branch to meet with her March 14th at 3:00 p.m.

Young Moderns Prepare For A Slimmer Spring

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There's nothing like a charm pickup to chase away those winter doldrums. At this time of year before spring is really here depression often sets in when school work seems tougher, family seems less understanding, and you just can't do a thing with yourself.

A look in the mirror may steal the last vestige of reassurance that you can make a comeback.

But you can.

Try a six-day Beauty Crash Program. Give up all extra curricular activity from Monday to Saturday and concentrate on improving yourself in the glamor department.

MONDAY — A day of fast and light diet. Stick to liquids if possible, and give up frustration foods. (These are favorities of the Munch and Punch Society—candy, pastry, bags of nibbles, sweet drinks.)

Single out your most annoying figure fault. Today and every day for five days, exercise to get rid of it. Lie down and cycle in the air to help legs, knees, thighs. Lie down and roll from side to side to massage hips. Touch your right hand to left toes and left hand to right toes from a standing position, keeping your legs straight. It is excellent for waist, hips, thighs.

TUESDAY — Eat lightly. Exercise and concentrate on your legs and toes, the most neglected beauty areas in winter.

Clean your legs of fuzz with a razor or whatever. Rub oil on legs from toes to thighs. Besides the light, airy feeling, the routine may catch on and you'll be prepared for spring and shorts when the time comes.

Cut toe nails straight across, gently tapering the crosscut. Avoid rounding corners, promoting ingrown toenails.

WEDNESDAY — Eat lightly. Exercise. Oil your feet and legs. Concentrate on your arms and hands. Give yourself a professional manicure with or without polish. Soak your hands, scrub your nails, push back the cuticle. Use an emory board to shorten them.

Rub oil from fingertips to shoulders in large sweeping strokes. If arms are too hairy, remove hair. Rub oil across shoulders and up neck to chin.

THURSDAY — Examine your face. Oily skin may be helped with soap and water; dry skin needs oil.

Continue light diet. Be sure to include green leafy vegetables. Exercise. Continue oil treatment on legs and arms.

Give yourself an eyebrow test. Remove straggly hairs between eyebrows, and those under the arch. If your face is round keep eyebrows as long a line as possible and tweeze so they are lifted at a slight angle at the sides.

Find your lipline. If you use lipstick, favor a generous mouth but keep it dainty. Curve it just a little bit more than your own lipline permits, but don't get your mouth off balance. Experiment until you get the right line for your mouth. Young girls should use light lipstick, rather than dark.

FRIDAY — Experiment with a new hairdo, keeping certain facts in mind.

If you are a butterball, don't wear hair in all-round fuzziness. It should be close to the head in soft waves. If you are tall and thin, don't wear your hair piled up on top. It will look better in a neat arrangement that falls gracefully below the ears.

SATURDAY — Anything you couldn't do for yourself may require professional help: a new hairstyle, professional advice on eyebrows or manicure. Check teeth, call your dentist and this is the week to buy some little thing for your wardrobe.

It may make a new girl out of you. Or so you'll think.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

No matter how lovely your legs, your bust and your hips may be, unless you have a slim waist your figure becomes uninteresting. Without this the silhouette loses much of its form and grace. It's a shame to let this happen since the waistline is one of the easiest measurements to reduce. The following is a splendid motion toward beauty. Make it every day!

Stand an arm's length from the wall, facing away from the wall, feet comfortably apart. Keep the feet on the floor as you turn to the left and try to touch the fingertips of both hands to the wall. Turn forward. This time turn to the right trying to touch the fingertips to the wall.

You will probably be able to touch the wall with the fingers of only one hand, but reach with the other. It is also important to keep the feet on the floor so that you get a real twist at the waist.

Here is another waist slimmer which you can do at your dressing table. Sit tall and pull your tummy in — back toward your backbone. Head should be up with chin parallel to the floor and ribcage should be lifted. Straighten your legs out in front of you, feet on the floor.

Take a mirror in your right hand. Turn in different directions as far as you can while you look at yourself from varying angles.

The way you dress also has a great influence on your appearance of slimness. Unless you are very slim, almost a beanpole, extremely wide belts will not be flattering to your figure. Wear a narrow belt or none at all. Belts of the same color as the dress are more slimming than a contrasting shade. Belts which dip in the back are slenderizing.

Still More Shoe Colors In Offing

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

The success of the first instant colorings for shoes has led to new developments in the home coloring field. Now there is a new line of colorings especially for patent shoes, which were somewhat difficult to color with the tints first introduced. They also have a cleaner and conditioner to prepare patent shoes to take a new coloring.

Now Shu-Mak-Up who started all the shoe coloring fuss in the first place, has come up with a device to make shoes look like velvet. It's puffed on from a plastic squeeze bottle while the coloring is still wet, covers the shoe with tiny bits of material like flocking.

Hat Fashions Viewed By Club Members

Mrs. J. E. Tripp, president of the Bayou Vista Garden Club, was hostess for the regular March meeting last Tuesday in her home on Hinkie Drive. Mrs. Roy Little was co-hostess.

Following a short business meeting, Mrs. Lena Wallace presented a program on the latest hat fashions, using members of the club to model hats she had designed herself.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. C. F. Thomas, Mrs. Joe Tippett, Mrs. Joe Strahan, Mrs. Pat Mitchell, Mrs. Don Klien, Mrs. R. W. Wood, Mrs. C. A. McKenzie, Mrs. William Lynn, Mrs. Ben Winegeart, Mrs. Max Waite, Mrs. Evans Larkin, Mrs. C. O. Horton, Mrs. Charles Kitchingham, Mrs. Olen Gober, Mrs. J. N. Easterling and guests, Mrs. Burley DeVille and Mrs. Wallace.

The next meeting will be held on April 7 with Mrs. C. F. Thomas and Mrs. C. A. McKenzie as hostesses.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Oldster Finds Night Light Has Many Uses

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

It really makes no difference what you are, widow, bachelor, mother with a bunch of kids, or just afraid . . .

Those little old night lights that you can buy in any dime store are fabulous for lots of places (besides the baby's bed). This is the type light that you can plug into any socket but people ALWAYS think they are only for babies.

I keep one burning in my kitchen all night and it takes VERY few kilowatts. I just plug it in where my waffle iron and coffee pot go!

I keep another one in the bathroom, so that my children can find the bathroom at night without turning on the big light.

I keep another one in the stairway socket so that those who walk up and down the stairs at night can SEE each step.

And I have found that it saves money by unplugging that big kilowatt light in our closet and screwing in a socket, then plugging one of these little lights in! This can burn all day and all night since it's only around seven kilowatts (And, dear Heloise, don't ask me WHAT THAT MEANS. I've been down to the light company and they told me it means it costs less money than those other lights.) I do not have to pull that chain or punch a switch everytime I go into a closet. It gives off just enough light.

Believe me, any man who pays the electric bill will appreciate this. It's inexpensive to run and costs practically nothing. Just look in your dime store for a night light. There are types to fit anyone's fancy.

Oldster

Dear Heloise:

To separate a package of small paper doilies, give them a good whack against the edge of the table. They will come apart very easily.

Arville C. Jensen

Dear Heloise:

While most of us TRY to buy sheets that are long enough for our beds, on occasion some are just a trifle too short.

I solved that problem by putting the bottom sheet on the mattress and placing it so that the bottom hem of the sheet comes ONLY to the foot of the mattress itself with NO HANG-OVER AT ALL.

This leaves that much extra sheet to tuck in at the top. If the sheet is pulled quite tightly when tucking it in, it will stay in place.

For Hollywood beds with no headboard; I miter the corners at the head of the bed.

A Reader

Thanks.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

One does not have to be a seamstress to beautify a table-cloth that has a hole in it!

Take a left-over scrap of colored percale and simply snip out a flower . . . a monogram . . . or a picture of a teapot, etc., and sew it daintily over that unsightly hole. You will be quite pleased with the new look.

FLORENCE B.

SIGNIFICANT CONTEST

California Main Primary Payoff

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Jack Bell, long a follower of election campaigns, discusses the effect of the New Hampshire primary on the hopes of Goldwater and Rockefeller.)

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Whether the outcome of next Tuesday's New Hampshire primary will have a telling effect on the choice of the next Republican presidential nominee remains in dispute between the two major contenders.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona counts on a bloc of conservative Republicans and his town-by-town organization to give him 35 per cent of the popularity contest vote and at least half of the state's scant 14 nominating votes.

But even if he gains such a goal—which is considerably below his estimate of several months ago—Goldwater conceded that the best he can hope for out of New Hampshire is to demonstrate that a conservative can win in the Northeast.

The payoff in the nomination contest, he said, will come in the June 2 California primary. He thinks the man who wins that head - on battle between him and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will dominate the San Francisco convention.

Rockefeller has somewhat different ideas. But he does not disagree with the impact of the California vote. As evidence of this he is leaving next Wednesday, one day after the New

NEWS ANALYSIS

Hampshire balloting, to launch his California campaign.

In California there at stake 86 signed and sealed convention votes in uncomplicated, winner take all balloting. In contrast, many politicians think that in New Hampshire it may be difficult to decide after the balloting who won what.

However, Rockefeller felt his prodigious investment and resources in New Hampshire were worth while. He gave evidence—as Goldwater did not—of enjoying the hand-to-hand type of campaigning that took him into supermarkets, drugstores, beauty parlors, insurance agencies, banks and factories.

Chatting with a group of insurance company workers who gathered around to listen to an impromptu exposition of his position, Rockefeller said:

"Thank you, people, for providing an early opportunity to the party out of power to express its choice for a presidential nominee. What's happening here is going to influence the thinking of the party."

Rockefeller obviously would benefit from any change in what now seems to be majority opinion among Republicans that he isn't going to get the nomination. Goldwater needs New Hampshire's approval to offset the slump his stock took when Lyndon B. Johnson, a Texan, succeeded to the presidency.

Just what was happening in New Hampshire remained relatively obscure with the primary voting only four days away.

Goldwater's backers felt there had been a resurgence of support for him after a plaguing downtrend. He has aimed his final campaigning at stirring up the conservatives and getting them to the polls.

Encouraged by the warm reception their candidate has had in hand-shaking tours through a number of towns, Rockefeller supporters were beginning to express confidence that their man was overtaking Goldwater rapidly. They thought the governor might wind up in the popularity contest with a "one vote more" than the senator's —which would satisfy them.

The extent to which write-ins could affect the outcome, however, remained a matter of conjecture.

Rockefeller's camp was worried that such support for Henry Cabot Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, might cut the governor's total.

Goldwater's backers feared write-ins for Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 presidential nominee, would reduce their candidate's total.

There was also the question of how many citizens might vote for Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, and Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, whose names are on the ballot.

Goldwater and Rockefeller lieutenants reported a large bloc of undecided voters. They also were puzzled by the significant number of New Hampshire citizens who said they had made up their minds but weren't going to tell how they would vote.

Guerrillas Still Fight In Borneo

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP)— Indonesian guerrillas and Malaysian security forces fought on Borneo in a skirmish Friday that pointed toward hardening, if not expansion, of a Southeast Asian crisis eluding solution at the conference table.

A military spokesman said security forces killed four uniformed intruders, including one wearing the insignia of an Indonesian army sergeant, in a clash in the northeastern area of the Malaysian state of Sarawak. Another raider, slightly wounded, surrendered.

Without specifying whether the action involved Malaysian soldiers or British troops helping them to guard against incursions from Indonesian Borneo, the spokesman said the security forces suffered no casualties.

Sarawak's chief minister, Stephen Kalong Ningkan, declared in a radio address his government has good reason to suppose that Indonesia plans a number of armed penetrations on a much larger scale.

Malaysia has accused Indonesia of a score of previous violations of the Jan. 26 cease-fire arranged by U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and announced it intends to present the case to the United Nations.

The fresh flareup followed collapse of a second peace conference of foreign ministers of Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines at Bangkok, Thailand. The conference foundered on Indonesia's rejection of a Malaysian demand that President Sukarno's government recall 400 or so pro-Indonesian guerrillas from Sarawak and the sister state of Sabah, formerly British North Borneo.

In Jakarta, Sukarno proclaimed again a determination to crush this young anti-Communist federation.

Sukarno told a group of visiting parliamentarians from Communist Poland that Indonesia is calling on all progressive nations to join in the campaign against Malaysia "because it is a creation of the imperialists."

Philippine Foreign Secretary Salvador P. Lopez, who tried vainly to revive the Bangkok ministerial conference, left for Manila with a declaration that "grounds for hope" still exist.

Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Razak of Malaysia said "I pray there will be no war."

Deputy Prime Minister Subandrio of Indonesia charged that Malaysia refused to compromise "even a little."

FHA, MUSIC FRATERNITY

Northeast To Host Two Groups Today

Northeast Louisiana State College plays host to two groups of young women this weekend as North Louisiana Future Homemakers of America and chapter representatives of Delta Omicron, international music fraternity for women, hold meetings on the campus.

More than 1,000 Future Homemakers will attend the annual district two meeting of that organization today in Northeast's Brown Auditorium. State Superintendent of Education Shelby M. Jackson and Pascal Norris, local attorney, will be the meeting's featured speakers at the general session beginning at 10:45 a.m.

Today's activities will begin with a business meeting at 9 a.m. at which new officers will be elected. The new officers will be installed at the day's second business meeting, slated to begin at 2:15 p.m.

Jennifer Bell of Mangham is currently president. Other officers are Vice President Johnette Osborne, West Monroe; Secretary Louise Testa, Waterproof; Treasurer Evelyn Wiltshire, Winnsboro; Parliamentarian Linda Hilburn, Baskin; Historian Betty Howard, Calhoun; and Reporter Sandra Rhodes, Gilbert.

Theme of the meeting is "Plan Today for a Better Tomorrow."

Delta Omicron chapters at Louisiana College, Southeastern, Mississippi College, Lamar Tech and Southwestern of Texas, in addition to the host chapter, Omicron Epsilon, will be represented at the Kappa Province convention of the music fraternity.

A concert by pianist LeRoy Anspach will climax the convention tonight in Biedenharn Recital Hall. The general public has been invited to attend the concert, which will begin at 8:15.

Anspach has appeared as soloist with the New York Philharmonic, the Philadelphia Symphony, the Pittsburgh Orchestra, the Robin Hood Dell Orchestra and the Bell Telephone Chorus. He will play works of Durante, Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Mendelssohn, Lizst and Persichetti.

The convention opened with registration Friday afternoon and continues with a general business session this morning. Panel discussions are scheduled this afternoon.

Convention chairman is Rosalyn Thweatt of Natchez, Miss., first vice president of the host chapter. She is being assisted by chapter President Ricki Primm of Oak Grove and Secretary Janie Sasser of Zwalle. Mrs. Eloise Stanhope of the Northeast music faculty is chapter advisor.

150 To Attend State Day Here Of Kappa Delta

Approximately 150 members of Kappa Delta sorority alumnae from throughout Louisiana and representatives of three college chapters, are in Monroe today to attend Kappa Delta State Day at Bayou DeSiard country club today.

Registration is to begin at the club at 9 a.m., according to Mrs. W. C. Cookston Jr., chairman of State Day. Following registration from 9 until 10, a business meeting and panel discussion will be held in the young people's lounge starting at 10:30.

A conversational hour is planned on the club porch at twelve noon, with a luncheon and style show in the main ballroom at 1 p.m.

Miss Marjorie Arbour of Baton Rouge, a witty and informative speaker on topics related to writing and public relations, will address the group at luncheon.

The only woman ever named president of the American Association of Agricultural College Editors, Miss Arbour has also been designated "Woman of the Year in Agriculture" by the Progressive Farmer; received the superior service award of the U.S. Department of Agriculture; and has been presented the Theat Sigma Phi award for service to the press in Louisiana.

State officers of Kappa Delta who conclude two year terms today are Mrs. John Price, Alexandria, chairman; Mrs. Beverly Latham of Baton Rouge, vice-chairman; Miss Ruth Richardson of Ruston, secretary; Miss Mary Reed, Baton Rouge, treasurer; and Mrs. O. V. Slaughter, Shreveport, chairman of nominating committee.

New officers are to be elected at today's meeting.

HOAX, REAL KIDNAPING

Jurymen Deciding Upon Sinatra Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnaping case went to the jury at 6:26 p.m. Friday after a U.S. judge commented that no direct evidence linked young Sinatra with the plotting of his abduction.

The defense contended young Sinatra cooperated in a publicity hoax. The government countered that the kidnaping was "a vicious crime pulled by rank amateurs moved by greed."

Barry Keenan, 23, described by the other two defendants and the government as mastermind of the alleged plot, did not testify in his own defense. The other defendants are Joseph Amsler, 23, and John Irwin, 42, who did. All three are charged with the Dec. 8 kidnaping of the 20-year old son of the famed star.

Judge William G. East, in a 105-minute instruction to the jurors said: "If, as the defendants contend, you believe the kidnaping was staged for publicity or advertising purposes with the prearrangement of Frank Sinatra Jr. or persons in his behalf, then you must acquit on the kidnaping and conspiracy charges.

"But I must comment there is no direct evidence in this case by Frank Sinatra Jr. or persons in his behalf that prearrangements were made for his abduction.

"You have only the word of defendants Amsler and Irwin that Keenan told them that there was prearrangement.

"You may consider such testimony, but weigh such hearsay evidence with great care and caution."

The defense, in closing statements, made much of allegations that young Sinatra "consented" to his own kidnaping.

On this, the federal jurist commented: "Voluntary and free will consent must be expressed or implied. There must be evidence they consented to the acts.

"You must determine from the evidence therefrom whether Frank Sinatra Jr. acknowledged or expressed a free will consent or whether he acted under physical or mental restraint.

"If defendants Keenan or Amsler threatened Frank Sinatra Jr. with a pistol in a menacing way or made verbal threats of shooting, you may infer that the pistol was loaded.

"I comment that Frank Jr. so inferred."

The defendants are charged with kidnaping young Sinatra from a Lake Tahoe, Nev., motel and releasing him unharmed three days later after his father paid $240,000 ransom.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Thomas R. Sheridan, summarizing the government's case, told the jury of nine men and three women: "These men were not professional hoodlums. They didn't know what to do with the money or how to handle themselves when they got where they were going.

"They just wanted big money now. Barry Keenan's own letter, found in a safe deposit box, told us that."

The unmailed letter from Keenan to his parents outlined plans for a Sinatra kidnaping.

The youthful, dark-haired prosecutor continued: "And here you have Joseph Amsler, another defendant, Panicking — crying on the bed of Frank Sinatra Jr.

"Look at the jobs he'd had before, as a deepsea diver, dangerously walking the ocean floor, and as a professional boxer with four fights.

"Can you imagine such a man crying and panicking because it's a publicity stunt? Such testimony is outrageous.

"And who needs publicity? Does the son of Frank Sinatra Jr. need publicity: Here he was, at 19, on a Life magazine cover. Has that ever happened to you or me?"

The defense summation came from Charles E. Crouch Jr., attorney for Keenan.

"The innocence of Mr. Keenan comes through the lips of the prosecution witnesses themselves," Crouch said. "We have maintained that Frank Sinatra Jr. consented to this affair, hence no crime was committed."

"Look at Sunday, Dec. 8, the night of the kidnaping. Mr. Keenan and Mr. Amsler entered the room. The testimony showed that not one word of protest was spoken. Mr. Sinatra acted like a puppet.

"He put his hands over his eyes. Then, as they rode along the highway, these are his own words: 'You guys don't believe me, but I hope you get away with this. Don't worry about roadblocks. I'll help you through.'

"What kind of talk is this? It sounds like three kids going along in a game.

"Then he hands over the ring with the initials F. S. which could have identified him. He voluntarily gave it to Mr. Keenan and Mr. Amsler. Then they come to a roadblock and young Sinatra says, 'Let's say we're coming home from a party and I'm drunk.'

"And look how heavily armed that roadblock was: M-1 carbine guns, submachine guns, eight officers.

"There sat in the back seat of the car — unbound, uncovered, ungagged, in silence—Mr. Sinatra.

CRIME RATE RISES

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious crime increased 10 per cent in the United States during 1963, preliminary crime figures compiled by the FBI showed Friday.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said cities with populations of 1 million or more showed a rise of 6 per cent while cities in the 25,000 to 100,000 population group jumped 13 per cent.

Suburban areas also recorded a 13 per cent rise and rural areas were up 8 per cent over the 1962 level.

Hoover said the crime index was up 12 per cent in the North-east, 11 per cent in the South, 9 per cent in the West and 6 per cent in the North-Central states.

Cleared In Bombing Of Negro Homes

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — William Sterling Rosecrans, charged with dynamiting a Negro home here, was cleared on Friday of any connection with railroad strike violence in Florida or racial bombings in Alabama.

Investigators said that two days of lie detector tests indicated that the 30-year-old mechanic from Anderson, Ind., was not involved in any of the explosions that have rocked the Florida East Coast Railway or the more than 40 unsolved blasts in Birmingham, Ala.

Police and the FBI turned to developing a case against Rosecrans on the charge of blowing up the home of the only Negro student at a recently integrated public school.

"We are running hard on the Ku Klux Klansmen," a federal agent said. "We are interviewing them and pushing for the identity and possible apprehension of any of Rosecrans' conspirators in this explosion."

The FBI said earlier it had information Rosecrans was with KKK members the night after the bombing.

"A few hours after the final, three-hour test was completed, Alabama officers who had flown here in hope Rosecrans might shed some light on their unsolved bombings, returned home.

The charge against Rosecrans is violating the Civil Rights Act of 1960 by attempting to obstruct a federal court order integrating schools. Police said Rosecrans signed a statement admitting he dynamited the home in hopes of forcing the Negro student, Donald Godfrey, 6, to quit. No one was hurt in the explosion.

Coffee Prices Defy Resistance To Halt Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government and industry experts indicated Friday there is little that can be done to keep the price of coffee from climbing.

John F. McKiernan, president of the National Coffee Association, told a congressional seminar indications are that prices will not go much higher than they are now. He emphasized, however, that his was just an educated guess.

The seminar was called by Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., chairman of the House Consumer Affairs Committee, said the prevailing consumer price appears now to be about 78 cents per pound compared with 65 cents per pound last summer.

McKiernan said expected reductions in Brazil's next coffee crop because of drought and frost damage started the spiral. He denied that Brazilians may have destroyed some of the crop to keep prices high.

"In Brazil," he said, "coffee is black gold."

Mrs. Esther Peterson, special presidential assistant on consumer affairs, said something must be done to stabilize coffee prices even though "nobody wants controls."

Mrs. Sullivan called the hearing last week to make certain there was no hoarding or profiteering as a result of the present market situation. She said she was concerned because coffee prices were rising at a time when the nation had the largest supply in 19 years.

POPE'S SERVICE

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI attended a special Lenten service Friday in the Matile Chapel of the Apostolic Palace Friday.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISES

U.S. Forms Corps To Aid Businesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of six top business executives was formed Friday to bring into being an "Executive Service Corps" of volunteers to help private enterprise in less-developed countries.

As a sort of senior Peace Corps, businessmen volunteers under the new organization would offer their services for limited periods to businesses abroad which ask for their help.

At a business-government organizational meeting Friday, however, it was agreed that—unlike the Peace Corps—the Executive Service Corps would be run by the U.S. business community with no government aid except perhaps some limited funds from the Agency for International Development.

David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank and brother of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and Saul Linowitz, board chairman of the Xerox Corp., were named cochairmen of the committee.

Other committeemen are C. B. Jackson, vice president of Time, Inc.; John H. Johnson, President of Johnson Publications; D. A. Kimball, chairman of Aerojet-General; and William S. Paley, chairman of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., sponsors of the proposal which was endorsed by President John F. Kennedy shortly before his death, saw Friday's action on an historic step to fill a gap in U.S. foreign aid and promote private enterprise in foreign lands.

Rockefeller said at a news conference that details have yet to be worked out but he and others who attended the meeting gave this outline:

—The committee will search for a man to head the corps and will determine whether the unit should be established as a separate organization or should be tied to some existing group.

—It will probably take a couple of months to bring the executive service corps into operation. There is no call for volunteers for the time being.

—The number of executive corpsmen to be sent overseas to start with will depend on whether a pilot project is tried first. But no more than 500 would be assigned overseas in the first year.

—No decision has been made as to what countries would be getting the main attention from the new corps.

Volunteers can be expected from among retired U.S. businessmen and from companies willing to donate the services of some of their executives for a limited period. Rockefeller received 600 letters when he publicly proposed the corps idea last fall, many from would-be volunteers.

Aid may contribute some funds for volunteers' transportation and out-of-pocket expenses provided there is financing also from the business community.

The volunteers themselves could be paid salaries by their own firms or they might be paid abroad at the same scale as local employees in the foreign businesses they are helping.

Peace Corps volunteers, under U.S. government sponsorship, perform social-economic services and during their two-year assignments receive only subsistence pay.

Six Recognized For Suggestions On Monroe Mail

Six employees of the Monroe Post Office received special recognition Friday for their participation in the Post Office's suggestions program.

In a special ceremony, Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn presented a $25 cash award to Warren J. Eberts, clerk in the Mailing Division. Eberts suggested a time saving procedure in the checking of registered mail to and from carriers. Eberts also received a certificate of special recognition for his suggestion concerning the relocation of distribution cases at the Ouachita Station.

In addition, Postmaster Hathorn presented certificates of special recognition to Clerks James J. Finley, Thomas E. Moore, James M. Allen, Gradon L. McQuiston, and Substitute Clerk Ernest B. Gray.

Finley's suggestion concerned the rearrangement of incoming parcel post racks. Moore suggested an improved procedure in the handling of parcel post for large concerns. Allen's suggestion also pertained to improvements in the handling of parcel post mail. McQuiston suggested an improved method for the movement of letter mail within the office. Gray's suggestion resulted in improved service to boxholders at the Ouachita and Louisville Stations.

Assistant Postmaster R. E. Ellington explained to those present that the awards presented Friday were only for suggestions that had been evaluated to date. Other suggestions submitted by employees are still in the process of being evaluated.

Superintendent of Mails J. F. Hays expressed his appreciation to all employees participating in the Suggestions Program of the Post Office. He stated that Monroe had made an excellent record in this program as compared with other cities of comparable size.

Demos Planning New Hampshire RFK Write-In

CONCORD, N. H. (UPI) — Gov. John W. King said Friday that New Hampshire's Democrats were ready to carry out a "spontaneous combustion" vice presidential write-in vote for Robert F. Kennedy, despite attempts by the attorney general to discourage it.

King, leader of the movement that has attracted the state's top Democrats, said, "To try to stop it at this late date would be like trying to stop a forest fire in a matter of minutes."

Kennedy, in a statement issued Thursday from the Justice Department, attempted to pour cold water on the March 10 write-in movement by saying he would "discourage" any attempt to influence President Johnson through a big write-in vote for himself.

Some political observers said Kennedy might attract more votes than Johnson since the president's nomination is taken for granted. This would be embarrassing.

"I think all of us realize it was natural and proper for Mr. Kennedy to issue such a statement, especially in light of the sensitive position he holds as chief law enforcement officer of the land," King said.

But the state's first Democratic governor in 40 years said, "This write-in movement . . . is the product of spontaneous combustion."

SIGNIFICANT CONTEST

California Main Primary Payoff

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Jack Bell, long a follower of election campaigns, discusses the effect of the New Hampshire primary on the hopes of Goldwater and Rockefeller.)

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Whether the outcome of next Tuesday's New Hampshire primary will have a telling effect on the choice of the next Republican presidential nominee remains in dispute between the two major contenders.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona counts on a bloc of conservative Republicans and his town-by-town organization to give him 35 per cent of the popularity contest vote and at least half of the state's scant 14 nominating votes.

But even if he gains such a total—which is considerably below his estimate of several months ago—Goldwater conceded that the best he can hope for out of New Hampshire is to demonstrate that a conservative can win in the Northeast.

The payoff in the nomination contest, he said, will come in the June 2 California primary. He thinks the man who wins that head - on battle between him and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will dominate the San Francisco convention.

Rockefeller has somewhat different ideas. But he does not disagree with the impact of the California vote. As evidence of this he is leaving next Wednesday, one day after the New

NEWS ANALYSIS

Hampshire balloting, to launch his California campaign.

In California there at stake 86 signed and sealed convention votes in uncomplicated, winner take all balloting. In contrast, many politicians think that in New Hampshire it may be difficult to decide after the balloting who won what.

However, Rockefeller felt his prodigious investment and resources in New Hampshire were worth while. He gave every evidence—as Goldwater did not—of enjoying the hand-to-hand type of campaigning that took him into supermarkets, drugstores, beauty parlors, insurance agencies, banks and factories.

Chatting with a group of insurance company workers who gathered around to listen to an impromptu exposition of his position, Rockefeller said:

"Thank you, people, for providing an early opportunity to the party of power to express its choice for a presidential nominee. What's happening here is going to influence the thinking of the party."

Rockefeller obviously would benefit from any change in what now seems to be majority opinion among Republicans that he isn't going to get the nomination. Goldwater needs New Hampshire's approval to offset the slump his stock took when Lyndon B. Johnson, a Texan, succeeded to the presidency.

Just what was happening in New Hampshire remained relatively obscure with the primary voting only four days away.

Goldwater's backers felt there had been a resurgence of support for him after a plaguing downtrend. He has aimed his final campaigning at stirring up the conservatives and getting them to the polls.

Encouraged by the warm reception their candidate has had in hand-shaking tours through a number of towns, Rockefeller supporters were beginning to express confidence that their man was overtaking Goldwater rapidly. They thought the governor might wind up in the popularity contest with a "one vote more" than the senator's—which would satisfy them.

The extent to which write-ins could affect the outcome, however, remained a matter of conjecture.

Rockefeller's camp was worried that such support for Henry Cabot Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, might cut the governor's total.

Goldwater's backers feared write-ins for Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 presidential nominee, would reduce their candidate's total.

There was also the question of how many citizens might vote for Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, and Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, whose names are on the ballot.

Goldwater and Rockefeller lieutenants reported a large bloc of undecided voters. They also were puzzled by the significant number of New Hampshire citizens who said they had made up their minds but weren't going to tell how they would vote.

Guerrillas Still Fight In Borneo

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP)—Indonesian guerrillas and Malaysian security forces fought on Borneo in a skirmish Friday that pointed toward hardening, if not expansion, of a Southeast Asian crisis eluding solution at the conference table.

A military spokesman said security forces killed four uniformed intruders, including one wearing the insignia of an Indonesian army sergeant, in a clash in the northeastern area of the Malaysian state of Sarawak. Another raider, slightly wounded, surrendered.

Without specifying whether the action involved Malaysian soldiers or British troops helping them to guard against incursions from Indonesian Borneo, the spokesman said the security forces suffered no casualties.

Sarawak's chief minister, Stephen Kalong Ningkan, declared in a radio address his government has good reason to suppose that Indonesia plans a number of armed penetrations on a much larger scale.

Malaysia has accused Indonesia of a score of previous violations of the Jan. 26 cease-fire arranged by U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and announced it intends to present the case to the United Nations.

The fresh flareup followed collapse of a second peace conference of foreign ministers of Malaysia, Indonesia and the Philippines at Bangkok, Thailand. The conference foundered on Indonesia's rejection of a Malaysian demand that President Sukarno's government recall 400 or so pro-Indonesian guerrillas from Sarawak and the sister state of Sabah, formerly British North Borneo.

150 To Attend State Day Here Of Kappa Delta

Approximately 150 members of Kappa Delta sorority alumnae from throughout Louisiana and representatives of three college chapters, are in Monroe to attend Kappa Delta State Day at Bayou DeSiard country club today.

Registration is to begin at the club at 9 a.m., according to Mrs. W. C. Cookston Jr., chairman of State Day. Following registration from 9 until 10, a business meeting and panel discussion will be held in the young people's lounge starting at 10:30.

A conversational hour is planned on the club porch at twelve noon, with a luncheon and style show in the main ballroom at 1 p.m.

Miss Marjorie Arbour of Baton Rouge, a witty and informative speaker on topics related to writing and public relations, will address the group at luncheon.

The only woman ever named president of the American Association of Agricultural College Editors, Miss Arbour has also been designated "Woman of the Year in Agriculture" by the Progressive Farmer; received the superior service award of the U.S. Department of Agriculture; and has been presented the Theat Sigma Phi award for service to the press in Louisiana.

State officers of Kappa Delta who conclude two year terms today are Mrs. John Price, Alexandria, chairman; Mrs. Beverly Latham of Baton Rouge, vice-chairman; Miss Ruth Richardson of Ruston, secretary; Miss Mary Reed, Baton Rouge, treasurer; and Mrs. O. V. Slaughter, Shreveport, chairman of nominating committee.

New officers are to be elected at today's meeting.

Cleared In Bombing Of Negro Homes

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — William Sterling Rosecrans, charged with dynamiting a Negro home here, was cleared on Friday of any connection with railroad strike violence in Florida or racial bombings in Alabama.

Investigators said that two days of lie detector tests indicated that the 30-year-old mechanic from Anderson, Ind., was not involved in any of the explosions that have rocked the Florida East Coast Railway or the more than 40 unsolved blasts in Birmingham, Ala.

Police and the FBI turned to developing a case against Rosecrans on the charge of blowing up the home of the only Negro student at a recently integrated public school.

"We are running hard on the Ku Klux Klansmen," a federal agent said. "We are interviewing them and pushing for the identity and possible apprehension of any of Rosecrans' conspirators in this explosion."

The FBI said earlier it had information Rosecrans was with KKK members the night after the bombing.

A few hours after the final, three-hour test was completed, Alabama officers who had flown here in hope Rosecrans might shed some light on their unsolved bombings, returned home.

The charge against Rosecrans is violating the Civil Rights Act of 1960 by attempting to obstruct a federal court order integrating schools. Police said Rosecrans signed a statement admitting he dynamited the home in hopes of forcing the Negro student, Donald Godfrey, 6, to quit. No one was hurt in the explosion.

Coffee Prices Defy Resistance To Halt Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government and industry experts indicated Friday there is little that can be done to keep the price of coffee from climbing.

John F. McKiernan, president of the National Coffee Association, told a congressional seminar indications are that prices will not go much higher than they are now. He emphasized, however, that this was just an educated guess.

The seminar was called by Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., chairman of the House Consumer Affairs Committee, said the prevailing consumer price appears now to be about 78 cents per pound compared with 65 cents per pound last summer.

McKiernan said expected reductions in Brazil's next coffee crop because of drought and frost damage started the spiral. He denied that Brazilians may have destroyed some of the crop to keep prices high.

"In Brazil," he said, "coffee is black gold."

Mrs. Esther Peterson, special presidential assistant on consumer affairs, said something must be done to stabilize coffee prices even though "nobody wants controls."

Mrs. Sullivan called the hearing last week to make certain there was no hoarding or profiteering as a result of the present market situation. She said she was concerned because coffee prices were rising at a time when the nation had the largest supply in 19 years.

POPE'S SERVICE

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI attended a special Lenten service Friday in the Matilde Chapel of the Apostolic Palace Friday.

CRIME RATE RISES

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Serious crime increased 10 per cent in the United States during 1963, preliminary crime figures compiled by the FBI showed Friday.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said cities with populations of 1 million or more showed a rise of 6 per cent while cities in the 25,000 to 100,000 population group jumped 13 per cent. Suburban areas also recorded a 13 per cent rise and rural areas were up 8 per cent over the 1962 level.

Hoover said the crime index was up 12 per cent in the Northeast, 11 per cent in the South, 9 per cent in the West and 6 per cent in the North-Central states.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISES

U.S. Forms Corps To Aid Businesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of six top business executives was formed Friday to bring into being an "Executive Service Corps" of volunteers to help private enterprise in less-developed countries.

As a sort of senior Peace Corps, businessmen volunteers under the new organization would offer their services for limited periods to businesses abroad which ask for their help.

At a business-government organizational meeting Friday, however, it was agreed that—unlike the Peace Corps—the Executive Service Corps would be run by the U.S. business community with no government aid except perhaps some limited funds from the Agency for International Development.

David Rockefeller, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank and brother of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, and Saul Linowitz, board chairman of the Xerox Corp., were named cochairmen of the committee.

Other committeemen are C. B. Jackson, vice president of Time, Inc.; John H. Johnson, President of Johnson Publications; D. A. Kimball, chairman of Aerojet-General; and William S. Paley, chairman of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., sponsors of the proposal which was endorsed by President John F. Kennedy shortly before his death, saw Friday's action on an historic step to fill a gap in U.S. foreign aid and promote private enterprise in foreign lands.

Rockefeller said at a news conference that details have yet to be worked out but he and others who attended the meeting gave this outline:

—The committee will search for a man to head the corps and will determine whether the unit should be established as a separate organization or should be attached to some existing group.

—It will probably take a couple of months to bring the executive service corps into operation. There is no call for volunteers for the time being.

—The number of executive corpsmen to be sent overseas to start with will depend on whether a pilot project is tried first. But no more than 500 would be assigned overseas in the first year.

—No decision has been made as to what countries would be getting the main attention from the new corps.

Volunteers can be expected from among retired U.S. businessmen and from companies willing to donate the services of some of their executives for a limited period. Rockefeller received 600 letters when he publicly proposed the corps idea last fall, many from would-be volunteers.

Aid may contribute some funds for volunteers' transportation and out-of-pocket expenses provided there is financing also from the business community. The volunteers themselves could be paid salaries by their own firms or they might be paid abroad at the same scale as local employees in the foreign businesses they are helping.

Peace Corps volunteers, under U.S. government sponsorship, perform social-economic services and during their two-year assignments receive only subsistence pay.

Six Recognized For Suggestions On Monroe Mail

Six employees of the Monroe Post Office received special recognition Friday for their participation in the Post Office's suggestions program.

In a special ceremony, Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn presented a $25 cash award to Warren J. Eberts, clerk in the Mailing Division. Eberts suggested a time saving procedure in the checking of registered mail to and from carriers. Eberts also received a certificate of special recognition for his suggestion concerning the relocation of distribution cases at the Ouachita Station.

In addition, Postmaster Hathorn presented certificates of special recognition to Clerks James J. Finley, Thomas E. Moore, James M. Allen, Gradon L. McQuiston, and Substitute Clerk Ernest B. Gray.

Finley's suggestion concerned the realignment of incoming parcel post racks. Moore suggested an improved procedure in the handling of parcel post for large concerns. Allen's suggestion also pertained to improvements in the handling of parcel post mail. McQuiston suggested an improved method for the movement of letter mail within the office. Gray's suggestion resulted in improved service to boxholders at the Ouachita and Louisville Stations.

Assistant Postmaster R. E. Ellington explained to those present that the awards presented Friday were only for suggestions that had been evaluated to date. Other suggestions submitted by employees are still in the process of being evaluated.

Superintendent of Mails J. F. Hays expressed his appreciation to all employees participating in the Suggestions Program of the Post Office. He stated that Monroe had made an excellent record in this program as compared with other cities of comparable size.

Demos Planning New Hampshire RFK Write-In

CONCORD, N. H. (UPI) — Gov. John W. King said Friday that New Hampshire's Democrats were ready to carry out a "spontaneous combustion" vice presidential write-in vote for Robert F. Kennedy, despite attempts by the attorney general to discourage it.

King, leader of the movement that has attracted the state's top Democrats, said, "To try to stop it at this late date would be like trying to stop a forest fire in a matter of minutes."

Kennedy, in a statement issued Thursday from the Justice Department, attempted to pour cold water on the March 10 write-in movement by saying he would "discourage" any attempt to influence President Johnson through a big write-in vote for himself.

Some political observers said Kennedy might attract more votes than Johnson since the president's nomination is taken for granted. This would be embarrassing.

"I think all of us realize it was natural and proper for Mr. Kennedy to issue such a statement, especially in light of the sensitive position he holds as chief law enforcement officer of the land," King said.

But the state's first Democratic governor in 40 years said, "This write-in movement . . . is the product of spontaneous combustion."

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 45 cents a bale higher Friday.

Prices were irregular during a good part of the session, but firmed toward the close as commission house short covering increased before the weekend.

There was further evening up of positions by traders in nearby March contracts.

The Senate continued to work on the cotton bill. An amendment was adopted putting a two year limit on the cotton program in the farm bill, including the subsidy for domestic textile mills. The original measure would have run for four years.

COLD SHOULDER

WASHINGTON: The Senate turned a cold shoulder Friday to the administration's proposed tax on foreign securities.

The equalization tax bill, designed to stem the flow of dollars abroad by taxing certain foreign securities sold in American markets, was passed by the House Thursday. The tax would be retroactive to July 19, 1963 and would expire at the end of 1965.

GOLD LOSS DROPS

WASHINGTON: The Treasury reported the gold loss to foreign nations dropped to $15 million in the fourth quarter of 1963, one of the smallest three-month drains in six years. The relatively small loss was traced chiefly to this country's participation in the London gold "pool" and large sales of gold by the Soviet Union.

INSTALLMENT DEBTS

WASHINGTON: Consumers added to their installment debt in January at about the same rate as in December, according to the Federal Reserve Board. Installment credit increased by $452 million. This compared with an expansion of $460 million in December. This was roughly in line with the monthly average gains over the past year.

RETAIL SALES UP

WASHINGTON: Retail sales last week jumped 6 per cent over the preceding week and 4 per cent over the year-earlier volume. Total volume last week was $4.572 billion. Department store sales rose to $260 million last week, $2 million more than the previous week and 22 per cent over the 1963 level.

Stocks Break 2-Day Slump, Hit New High

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks pulled out of their two-day slump Friday and recorded a new all-time high in the Dow-Jones industrials.

Trading ran fairly heavy on the upswing, totaling 4,790,000 shares compared with 4,680,000 Thursday. Dow-Jones industrials advanced 2.26 to a record 806.03. Rails moved up 0.69 but utilities slipped 0.10.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index advanced 0.25 to a new all time record 78.31.

Business news was mostly bullish with higher retail and store sales and a series of price hikes within the metal industry. Alcoa, Reynolds and Kaiser Aluminum —which have raised their domestic price on aluminum — were up ⅞, ¾ and ⅜, respectively.

Auto news was mixed. Production for this week has been scheduled below the previous week, yet Ford said it will increase its March and second quarter car and truck production schedules by 50,000 units because of record sales. Chrysler, which set its selling goal for Plymouth cars this year 36.5 per cent above 1963, jumped 1⅛.

Youngstown Sheet tacked on 4¼ in the steels on news that first quarter steel shipments are running about 20 per cent ahead of the fourth quarter. Du Pont dropped a point but Kodak added 1¼ in a mixed chemical group.

McDonnell Aircraft rose 2⅛ in the aircrafts on news it has purchased a 41 per cent interest in Hycon Manufacturing Co. Among the electronics, IBM rose 5½ and Motorola 2⅜, the latter on higher earnings. Beckman dropped 2. General Foods rose 1⅜ and Chicago & North Western 2.

Pacific Lighting advanced 3½ on news of a dividend boost and stock split proposal. Financial Federation moved up 2 on higher earnings. Ingersoll-Rand added another 1½ in continued response to an improved dividend and stock split.

Delta Airlines tacked on 1¾, Masonite 2¾ and Xerox and Johnson & Johnson 1¾ apiece. Polaroid was off 1⅝.

Of the 1,320 issues traded, 690 advanced and 359 declined — 57 to new 1963-64 highs and 66 to new lows.

Chrysler topped the most active list with 164,800 shares followed by Xerox. Erie-Lackawanna up ½. American Photocopy up ⅜ and RCA up ⅞.

Stocks were irregular on the American Exchange. Trading totaled 1,410,000 shares compared with 1,330,000 Thursday. Data Control rose 1¾ but Syntex lost 2⅞ on profit taking.

'MONSTER PROGRAM'

Conservatives Fire At Urban Renewal

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — Conservative congressmen Friday attacked the federal urban renewal program as an "uncontrollable monstrosity" and "monster program" that feeds and grows on the tax dollars of the American people.

House members of both major political parties told industrial, business and farm leaders that public housing developments have become a "politician's paradise." They called for destruction of the federal urban renewal program in its present form.

"The bureaucratic urban renewal program has fed upon itself to become an uncontrollable monstrosity which is so dangerous that in its present form it must be destroyed," Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., chairman of the meeting, said.

Rep. John Kyl, R-Iowa, said the original purposes of urban renewal "have been subverted," sound economic principles deserted, and "we have developed a monster program which feeds on itself and the tax funds of American citizens."

Eight conservative congressmen, including six Republicans and two southern Democrats, addressed the day and evening sessions attended by 200 business and farm leaders from 17 states.

The one - day meeting was sponsored by a group of industrialists and businessmen.

Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, said public housing is "a politician's paradise" and that the urban renewal set-up "takes from the needy and gives to the greedy."

"The only way to bring this political manipulation to an end is to stop the urban renewal and public housing programs cold." he said. "There is no compromise. They must be defeated."

Rep. Thomas Curtis, R-Mo., said there is a "powerful group in America today that seems bent upon concentrating economic power in the same hands which hold political power."

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., called for an impartial nationwide evaluation of the program.

"Without increased participation by private enterprise and increased local responsibility," he said, "the American taxpayer simply will be unable to afford urban renewal."

Man Convicted In City Court On Four Counts

A Monroe man was convicted on four counts of theft in Monroe City Court action Friday. Judge W. M. Harper sentenced Henry Jones, 58, 306 S. 13th St., to serve compulsory jail terms for each count. The terms are for two, four, nine and nine months, not to run concurrently.

Judge Harper also sentenced James W. Cotton, 17, Rt. 2 Eros, to serve a 60-day compulsory jail term for theft by check.

In other cases involving theft by check, R. J. Johnston, 40, 505 Mill St., West Monroe, forfeited a $25 bond; and charges against Donald R. Nickerson, 38, 2107 Ridge Dr., West Monroe, were nolle prossed upon payment of the check and court costs.

Eugene Harris, 21, F-38-D Foster Homes, was fined $50 for illegal use of a weapon.

Fined $100 or 60 days in jail for simple battery were William H. Moore, 42, F-17-R Foster Homes; and James R. Jones, 33, 1503 Griffin St.

In traffic action, H. A. Stephens, 37, 309 Edgar St., Delhi, forfeited a $30 bond for reckless driving.

Those forfeiting speeding bonds were Lora H. Pender, 43, Rt. 2, Box 137, $5; C. R. Baxter, 18, 115 Powell St., West Monroe, $10; A. R. Bennett, 20, Rt. 1, Box 253, Buckhorn Bend, $38; and Mrs. Louis Marcovitz, 34, 2022 Valencia St., $20. Mrs. Marcovitz also had a charge of no driver's license nolle prossed.

Other cases filling out the docket were of a minor nature.

Gov. Scranton To Remain In Oregon Primary

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton said Friday he would remain in the May 15 Oregon presidential primary but reiterated he is not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a telegram to Oregon Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr., Scranton said he "cannot in conscience sign the affidavit" which would strike him off the ballot. However, he asked Appling not to put his name on the election slate, if possible.

Under Oregon law, Appling must certify for the ballot all persons who have been prominently mentioned by news media as presidential prospects.

To withdraw, Scranton must sign an affidavit which would sidetrack him from any presidential consideration. It would, in effect, prevent him from accepting the nomination if offered it by the GOP National Convention next July in San Francisco.

Judge Handles Driving Cases In West Monroe

Cases involving driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages dominated the action as Judge John F. McCormick presided over West Monroe City Court Friday.

Six persons were fined $300 each for DWI counts. They were Louise Robertson Cox, 38, 428 Benson St., also fined $50 or 30 days for carrying a concealed weapon; Delton E. Rodgers, 59, Rt. 2, Farmerville; Maudine H. Aaron, 36, P. O. Box 823; Leon Quebedeaux, 25, 310 Gabrial Lane, Alexandria; Lendon Stone, 38, P. O. Box 23, Bernice; and John D. Simmons, 29, Choudrant, also fined $30 or 30 days for no driver's license.

A charge of issuing worthless checks was withdrawn against Floyd Kelly Jr., 25, Rt. 5, Box 21.

Fined for reckless driving were Mack A. Price Jr., 66, 114 Gulpha Dr., $20; Racheal Jackson, 39, 2805 Wood St., Monroe, $20; Elnora Smith, 39, 3709 Pippin St., Monroe, $25. Reckless driving charges were withdrawn against David O. Redford, 20, 803 N. 4th St.

Those fined for speeding were Edward Whitlock, 25, Rt. 1, Box 322-C, $5; and Thomas McElroy, 49, Rt. 4, Box 553, $10. Speeding charges against A. V. Ellis, 31, Ridgeway Dr., were withdrawn.

Several other cases involving minor infractions were also handled.

ACA Awards Johnson Rating Of 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA) said Friday President Johnson had a score of only 10 per cent from a conservative's viewpoint during the last six years he served in the Senate.

The ACA gave its evaluation of Johnson's record in a special supplement showing how he voted on 90 roll calls from 1955 to 1960.

"Senator Johnson's over-all rating as a constitutional conservative, based on these roll calls, was only 10 per cent," the organization said.

Canadians Up Price Of Aluminum

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canada's Aluminium Ltd. announced Friday it has boosted its price for primary aluminum ingot by a half-cent in the United States market to 23.5 cents per pound.

However, the company said it also was "reconfirming" its new price of 25 cents per pound for primary aluminum on markets outside North America, underscoring a difference of opinion with Aluminum Co. of America on ingot prices abroad.

When Aluminium announced its one-cent increase on markets abroad March 4, Alcoa quickly responded with a half-cent boost "in all its markets," thereby signaling its intention to undercut the Canadian company by a half cent.

Reynolds Metals Co. subsequently added to the price puzzle by boosting its domestic price by a half cent and its international price by a full cent. Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. boosted only its domestic price a half cent to 23.5 cents per pound, leaving its export price unchanged at 23 cents per pound.

As things stand now, all major North American companies are at 23.5 cents per pound, but their export prices range from 23 cents to 24 cents per pound.

In one of the first price increases on aluminum products by an independent fabricator, after the boosts in primary metal, Alsco, Inc., announced a half cent per pound boost in aluminum coil used to make aluminum and residential aluminum siding.

The Akron, Ohio, fabricator earlier this week followed a sharp price cut of $2 per hundred square feet in finished aluminum siding posted by Alcoa and Alside, Inc. Alsco said it was now weighing a $2.50 boost in the item as the result of the half-cent increase in ingot.

In another price move, Alcoa said Friday it will boost its price for aluminum electrical conductor cable by one cent per pound of aluminum content, effective Monday. The action, taken by Alcoa's Rome Cable Division, affects both bare and covered cable.

LBJ Blasts Chamber On Farm Tactic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration charged Friday that the U.S. Chamber of Commerce is using the farmer to fight its battle against federal urban renewal and public housing subsidies.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency said chamber statisticians had lumped the rural population together with city people in order to make it look as though the slum clearance and housing programs tax the poor to help the rich.

The agency said it would be "just as misleading and irrelevant" to complain that city dwellers have not been receiving any of the money paid out to farmers in farm price supports.

The administration thus ended the month-long silence it has maintained since the chamber published a voluminous study which it said discredited the federal renewal and housing effort from coast to coast.

The chamber said the study showed that rich communities and those with relatively good housing have been getting more subsidies than poor communities and those where the housing is relatively poor.

"These statements are not true," the agency said. "The money has, in fact, gone where it is most needed."

The agency said urban renewal and public housing are intended primarily to help cities. But the chamber's study included the 30 per cent of the nation's population that lives in the country, the agency said.

Taking cities alone, the agency said, states with the greatest number of low-income families and substandard houses also have been the greatest users of urban renewal and public housing.

The five states with the highest proportion of poor urban families — 36 per cent of the total — have received 37 per cent of the public housing money and 39 per cent of the slum clearance grants, it said. The states are New York, California, Texas, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

The same five states also have the highest proportion — 37 per cent — of substandard urban housing.

ESTABLISH TIES

ZANZIBAR (UPI) — Zanzibar and Communist Bulgaria will establish diplomatic ties on the embassy level to "strengthen friendly relations," it was announced here.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 45 cents a bale higher Friday.

Prices were irregular during a good part of the session, but firmed toward the close as commission house short covering increased before the weekend.

There was further evening up of positions by traders in nearby March contracts.

The Senate continued to work on the cotton bill. An amendment was adopted putting a two year limit on the cotton program in the farm bill, including the subsidy for domestic textile mills. The original measure would have run for four years.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

By United Press International

COLD SHOULDER

WASHINGTON: The Senate turned a cold shoulder Friday to the administration's proposed tax on foreign securities.

The equalization tax bill, designed to stem the flow of dollars abroad by taxing certain foreign seurities sold in American markets, was passed by the House Thursday. The tax would be retroactive to July 19, 1963 and would expire at the end of 1965.

GOLD LOSS DROPS

WASHINGTON: The Treasury reported the gold loss to foreign nations dropped to $15 million in the fourth quarter of 1963, one of the smallest three-month drains in six years. The relatively small loss was traced chiefly to this country's participation in the London gold "pool" and large sales of gold by the Soviet Union.

INSTALLMENT DEBTS

WASHINGTON: Consumers added to their installment debt in January at about the same rate as in December, according to the Federal Reserve Board. Installment credit increased by $452 million. This compared with an expansion of $460 million in December. This was roughly in line with the monthly average gains over the past year.

RETAIL SALES UP

WASHINGTON: Retail sales last week jumped 6 per cent over the preceding week and 4 per cent over the year-earlier volume. Total volume last week was $4.572 billion. Department store sales rose to $260 million last week, $2 million more than the previous week and 22 per cent over the 1963 level.

ORDERS NEW DIESELS

CHICAGO (UPI)) — Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad has ordered 13 new diesel locomotives from General Electric Co., it was announced Friday. The new 2,500 horsepower units, costing $2,707,000, are scheduled for delivery in May and June.

CONTRACT AWARDED

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fluor Corp. Ltd. has announced receipt of a $1 million contract from General Dynamics Corp.'s astronautics division for work on a Centaur rocket launch site at Cape Kennedy, Fla. Construction is slated to begin March 16 and is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

WASTE TREATMENT

CANTON, N.C. (UPI)—Carolina Division of Champion Papers, Inc., said it has given a $1.8 million contract for additional waste treatment at its Canton facility to McGraw Construction Co. of Middletown, Ohio.

PLANS DEPARTMENT STORE

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new Woolco department store will be built at Memphis, Tenn., at the East Gate shopping center, Lester F. Davis, general manager of the Woolco Division of W. W. Woolworth Co., announced.

PRESIDENT NAMED

NEW YORK (UPI)—Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) has announced that Dr. Frederic A. L. Holloway, deputy refining coordinator, has been elected president and a director of Esso Research and Engineering Co. at Linden, N.J.

Stocks Break 2-Day Slump, Hit New High

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks pulled out of their two-day slump Friday and recorded a new all-time high in the Dow-Jones industrials.

Trading ran fairly heavy on the upswing, totaling 4,790,000 shares compared with 4,680,000 Thursday. Dow-Jones industrials advanced 2.26 to a record 806.03. Rails moved up 0.69 but utilities slipped 0.10.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index advanced 0.25 to a new all time record 78.31.

Business news was mostly bullish with higher retail and store sales and a series of price hikes within the metal industry. Alcoa, Reynolds and Kaiser Aluminum —which have raised their domestic price on aluminum — were up ⅞, ¾ and ⅜, respectively.

Auto news was mixed. Production for this week has been scheduled below the previous week, yet Ford said it will increase its March and second quarter car and truck production schedules by 50,000 units because of record sales. Chrysler, which set its selling goal for Plymouth cars this year 36.5 per cent above 1963, jumped 1⅛.

Youngstown Sheet tacked on 4¼ in the steels on news that first quarter steel shipments are running about 20 per cent ahead of the fourth quarter. Du Pont dropped a point but Kodak added 1¼ in a mixed chemical group.

McDonnell Aircraft rose 2⅛ in the aircrafts on news it has purchased a 41 per cent interest in Hycon Manufacturing Co. Among the electronics, IBM rose 5½ and Motorola 2⅜, the latter on higher earnings. Beckman dropped 2. General Foods rose 1⅜ and Chicago & North Western 2.

Pacific Lighting advanced 3½ on news of a dividend boost and stock split proposal. Financial Federation moved up 2 on higher earnings. Ingersoll-Rand added another 1½ in continued response to an improved dividend and stock split.

Delta Airlines tacked on 1⅜, Masonite 2¾ and Xerox and Johnson & Johnson 1¾ apiece. Polaroid was off 1⅝.

Of the 1,320 issues traded, 690 advanced and 359 declined — 57 to new 1963-64 highs and 66 to new lows.

Chrysler topped the most active list with 164,800 shares followed by Xerox, Erie-Lackawanna up ½. American Photocopy up ⅜ and RCA up ⅞.

Stocks were irregular on the American Exchange. Trading totaled 1,410,000 shares compared with 1,330,000 Thursday. Data Control rose 1¾ but Syntex lost 2⅞ on profit taking.

'MONSTER PROGRAM'

Conservatives Fire At Urban Renewal

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — Conservative congressmen Friday attacked the federal urban renewal program as an "uncontrollable monstrosity" and "monster program" that feeds and grows on the tax dollars of the American people.

House members of both major political parties told industrial, business and farm leaders that public housing developments have become a "politician's paradise." They called for destruction of the federal urban renewal program in its present form.

"The bureaucratic urban renewal program has fed upon itself to become an uncontrollable monstrosity which is so dangerous that in its present form it must be destroyed," Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., chairman of the meeting, said.

Rep. John Kyl, R-Iowa, said the original purposes of urban renewal "have been subverted," sound economic principles deserted, and "we have developed a monster program which feeds on itself and the tax funds of American citizens."

Eight conservative congressmen, including six Republicans and two southern Democrats, addressed the day and evening sessions attended by 200 business and farm leaders from 17 states.

The one - day meeting was sponsored by a group of industrialists and businessmen.

Rep. Frank T. Bow, R-Ohio, said public housing is "a politician's paradise" and that the urban renewal set-up "takes from the needy and gives to the greedy."

"The only way to bring this political manipulation to an end is to stop the urban renewal and public housing programs cold," he said. "There is no compromise. They must be defeated."

Rep. Thomas Curtis, R-Mo., said there is a "powerful group in America today that seems bent upon concentrating economic power in the same hands which hold political power."

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., called for an impartial nationwide evaluation of the program.

"Without increased participation by private enterprise and increased local responsibility," he said, "the American taxpayer simply will be unable to afford urban renewal."

Man Convicted In City Court On Four Counts

A Monroe man was convicted on four counts of theft in Monroe City Court action Friday. Judge W. M. Harper sentenced Henry Jones, 58, 306 S. 13th St., to serve compulsory jail terms for each count. The terms are for two, four, nine and nine months, not to run concurrently.

Judge Harper also sentenced James W. Cotton, 17, Rt. 2 Eros, to serve a 60-day compulsory jail term for theft by check.

In other cases involving theft by check, R. J. Johnston, 40, 505 Mill St., West Monroe, forfeited a $25 bond; and charges against Donald R. Nickerson, 38, 2107 Ridge Dr., West Monroe, were nolle prossed upon payment of the check and court costs.

Eugene Harris, 21, F-38-D Foster Homes, was fined $50 for illegal use of a weapon.

Fined $100 or 60 days in jail for simple battery were William H. Moore, 42, F-17-B Foster Homes; and James R. Jones, 33, 1503 Griffin St.

In traffic action, H. A. Stephens, 37, 309 Edgar St., Delhi, forfeited a $30 bond for reckless driving.

Those forfeiting speeding bonds were Lora H. Pender, 43, Rt. 2, Box 137, $5; C. R. Baxter, 18, 115 Powell St., West Monroe, $10; A. R. Bennett, 20, Rt. 1, Box 253, Buckhorn Bend, $38; and Mrs. Louis Marcovitz, 34, 2022 Valencia St., $20. Mrs. Marcovitz also had a charge of no driver's license nolle prossed.

Other cases filling out the docket were of a minor nature.

Gov. Scranton To Remain In Oregon Primary

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton said Friday he would remain in the May 15 Oregon presidential primary but reiterated he is not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a telegram to Oregon Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr., Scranton said he "cannot in conscience sign the affidavit" which would strike him off the ballot. However, he asked Appling not to put his name on the election slate, if possible.

Under Oregon law, Appling must certify for the ballot all persons who have been prominently mentioned by news media as presidential prospects. To withdraw, Scranton must sign an affidavit which would sidetrack him from any presidential consideration. It would, in effect, prevent him from accepting the nomination if offered it by the GOP National Convention next July in San Francisco.

Judge Handles Driving Cases In West Monroe

Cases involving driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages dominated the action as Judge John F. McCormick presided over West Monroe City Court Friday.

Six persons were fined $300 each for DWI counts. They were Louise Robertson Cox, 38, 428 Benson St., also fined $50 or 30 days for carrying a concealed weapon; Delton E. Rodgers, 59, Rt. 2, Farmerville; Maudine H. Aaron, 36, P. O. Box 823; Leon Quebedeaux, 25, 310 Gabrial Lane, Alexandria; Lendon Stone, 38, P. O. Box 23, Bernice; and John D. Simmons, 29, Choudrant, also fined $30 or 30 days for no driver's license.

A charge of issuing worthless checks was withdrawn against Floyd Kelly Jr., 25, Rt. 5, Box 21.

Fined for reckless driving were Mack A. Price Jr., 66, 114 Gulpha Dr., $20; Racheal Jackson, 39, 2805 Wood St., Monroe, $20; Elnora Smith, 39, 3709 Pippin St., Monroe, $25. Reckless driving charges were withdrawn against David O. Redford, 20, 803 N. 4th St.

Those fined for speeding were Edward Whitlock, 25, Rt. 1, Box 322-C, $5; and Thomas McElroy, 49, Rt. 4, Box 553, $10. Speeding charges against A. V. Ellis, 31, Ridgeway Dr., were withdrawn.

Several other cases involving minor infractions were also handled.

ACA Awards Johnson Rating Of 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans for Constitutional Action (ACA) said Friday President Johnson had a score of only 10 per cent from a conservative's viewpoint during the last six years he served in the Senate.

The ACA gave its evaluation of Johnson's record in a special supplement showing how he voted on 90 roll calls from 1955 to 1960.

"Senator Johnson's over-all rating as a constitutional conservative, based on these roll calls, was only 10 per cent," the organization said.

Canadians Up Price Of Aluminum

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canada's Aluminium Ltd. announced Friday it has boosted its price for primary aluminum ingot by a half-cent in the United States market to 23.5 cents per pound.

However, the company said it also was "reconfirming" its new price of 25 cents per pound for primary aluminum on markets outside North America, underscoring a difference of opinion with Aluminum Co. of America on ingot prices abroad.

When Aluminium announced its one-cent increase on markets abroad March 4, Alcoa quickly responded with a half-cent boost "in all its markets," thereby signaling its intention to undercut the Canadian company by a half cent.

Reynolds Metals Co. subsequently added to the price puzzle by boosting its domestic price by a half cent and its international price by a full cent. Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. boosted only its domestic price a half cent to 23.5 cents per pound, leaving its export price unchanged at 23 cents per pound.

As things stand now, all major North American companies are at 23.5 cents per pound, but their export prices range from 23 cents to 24 cents per pound.

In one of the first price increases on aluminum products by an independent fabricator, after the boosts in primary metal, Alsco, Inc., announced a half cent per pound boost in aluminum coil used to make aluminum and residential aluminum siding.

The Akron, Ohio, fabricator earlier this week followed a sharp price cut of $2 per hundred square feet in finished aluminum siding posted by Alcoa and Alside, Inc. Alsco said it was now weighing a $2.50 boost in the item as the result of the half-cent increase in ingot.

In another price move, Alcoa said Friday it will boost its price for aluminum electrical conductor cable by one cent per pound of aluminum content, effective Monday. The action, taken by Alcoa's Rome Cable Division, affects both bare and covered cable.

LBJ Blasts Chamber On Farm Tactic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration charged Friday that the U.S. Chamber of Commerce is using the farmer to fight its battle against federal urban renewal and public housing subsidies.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency said chamber statisticians had lumped the rural population together with city people in order to make it look as though the slum clearance and housing programs tax the poor to help the rich.

The agency said it would be "just as misleading and irrelevant" to complain that city dwellers have not been receiving any of the money paid out to farmers in farm price supports.

The administration thus ended the month-long silence it has maintained since the chamber published a voluminous study which it said discredited the federal renewal and housing effort from coast to coast.

The chamber said the study showed that rich communities and those with relatively good housing have been getting more subsidies than poor communities and those where the housing is relatively poor.

"These statements are not true," the agency said. "The money has, in fact, gone where it is most needed."

The agency said urban renewal and public housing are intended primarily to help cities. But the chamber's study included the 30 per cent of the nation's population that lives in the country, the agency said.

Taking cities alone, the agency said, states with the greatest number of low-income families and substandard houses also have been the greatest users of urban renewal and public housing.

The five states with the highest proportion of poor urban families — 36 per cent of the total — have received 37 per cent of the public housing money and 39 per cent of the slum clearance grants, it said. The states are New York, California, Texas, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

The same five states also have the highest proportion — 37 per cent — of substandard urban housing.

ESTABLISH TIES

ZANZIBAR (UPI) — Zanzibar and Communist Bulgaria will establish diplomatic ties on the embassy level to "strengthen friendly relations," it was announced here.

Banquet Tonight To Be Highlight Of AA Sessions

Highlight today of the 18th annual birthday observance of the Monroe Group of Alcoholics Anonymous in the Virginia Hotel will be a banquet meeting on the hotel roof at 7 p.m. featuring two local speakers.

Approximately 300 persons are expected to register for the two-day meet which ends Sunday morning. Registration began Friday night and closes today. The first session will be held at 8 a.m. today on the mezzanine with another session slated at 10 a.m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the hotel. A coffee-break is to be held at 10:45 a.m.

A meeting for teenagers of alcoholic parents will be held from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. in the Cameo Room, followed at 2:30 p.m. by a general session in the Crystal Ballroom.

Sunday morning the group will meet from 9 to 10 a.m. in the ballroom, with an open meeting at 10:30 a.m. in the ballroom.

Speakers for the 7 p.m. banquet tonight include Claude Harrison, non-AA, president of the Alanon Club of Monroe; and Dr. A. S. Serex, non-AA, founder of the Monroe AA group.

POPE JOHN HONORED

Banquet Tonight To Be Highlight Of AA Sessions

Highlight today of the 18th annual birthday observance of the Monroe Group of Alcoholics Anonymous in the Virginia Hotel will be a banquet meeting on the hotel roof at 7 p.m. featuring two local speakers.

Approximately 300 persons are expected to register for the two-day meet which ends Sunday morning. Registration began Friday night and closes today. The first session will be held at 8 a.m. today on the mezzanine with another session slated at 10 a.m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the hotel. A coffee-break is to be held at 10:45 a.m.

A meeting for teenagers of alcoholic parents will be held from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. in the Cameo Room, followed at 2:30 p.m. by a general session in the Crystal Ballroom.

Sunday morning the group will meet from 9 to 10 a.m. in the ballroom, with an open meeting at 10:30 a.m. in the ballroom.

Speakers for the 7 p.m. banquet tonight include Claude Harrison, non-AA, president of the Alanon Club of Monroe; and Dr. A. S. Serex, non-AA, founder of the Monroe AA group.

POPE JOHN HONORED

Isadore Liebreich Lodge To Install

Harry B. Friedman of Texarkana, Ark., Supreme Lodge vice president of B'nai B'rith, will install the newly elected officers of the Isadore Liebreich Lodge No. 208 of Monroe at a banquet at Temple B'nai Israel here at 6 p.m. Sunday, Henry H. Gerson, president, announced.

In addition to Gerson, who has been re-elected president for a second term, other officers to be installed are Carl Gottinger, first vice president; Morris Blumenthal, second vice president; David M. Kaplan, treasurer, and Rabbi M. Silverman, chaplain.

The Isadore Liebreich Lodge in Monroe was chartered April 12, 1874, and now has a membership of 45.

Friedman, a well-known attorney in Texarkana, is a graduate of the University of Texas, a World War II veteran, and has been active in both Jewish and community affairs, serving as Congregation president, Jewish Welfare chairman and president of A.O.A. He was recently honored with a testimonial dinner by the Arkansas State Association.

Besides the Supreme Lodge office he now holds, Friedman has served B'nai B'rith as president of his lodge, state and district. In addition, he was district treasurer-comptroller. During his administration as district president, the "B'nai B'rith Voice" was launched in 1957-58.

He and his wife have three children. Mrs. Friedman also is active in B'nai B'rith, having served as president of her local chapter.

Besides Louisiana and Arkansas, District Grand Lodge Number Seven, B'nai B'rith, is composed of the states of Alabama, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas. The district has been in existence for 90 years.

The organization operates the B'nai B'rith Home and Hospital for the Aged in Memphis, Tennessee; a B'nai B'rith Youth Program for teen-agers; Hillel Foundations for college students. The organization contributes also to the Leo N. Levi Memorial Hospital of Hot Springs, Arkansas, devoted to the treatment of arthritics; and the National Jewish Hospital at Denver, Colorado for tubercular patients. These institutions were founded by B'nai B'rith and they accept patients regardless of race, color or creed. Support is also given to the Jewish Children's Home Service of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Nationally, B'nai B'rith is America's oldest and largest Jewish Service organization, and was founded October 13, 1843 in New York City. The name B'nai B'rith is the Hebrew for "Sons of the Covenant."

B'nai B'rith has an enrolled membership of 500,000. It has 1,959 Lodges and Chapters in the U. S. and Canada and affiliates in 34 other nations of the free world. In addition, 100,000 Jewish college students are enrolled in the organization's Hillel movement.

Nixon Eyes Vice Presidency

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon said Friday he is willing to accept the Republican vice-presidential nomination again this year.

Nixon, often mentioned as a possibility for the top spot on the ticket, said on the NBC-television "Today" program it is time to stop downgrading the vice presidency.

He emphasized he is not a candidate for either the presidential or vice-presidential nomination but said he would do whatever his party asked.

Nixon, vice president in the Eisenhower administration and GOP candidate for president against John F. Kennedy in 1960 broke with political tradition in announcing his availability for the second spot.

Candidates or those frequently mentioned as possibilities for the presidential nomination almost invariably say they are not interested in the vice-presidential nomination and would not accept it.

Asked by interviewer Hugh Downs whether he would accept the vice-presidential nomination, Nixon said: "I know you are going to expect me to say 'no' because I have been vice president for eight years and have run for president.

"But I don't go along with the current talk among the present candidates for downgrading the vice presidency. I think it is time to upgrade it.

"And as far as I'm concerned I'm making it clear that I'm not a candidate for president and not a candidate for vice president but I will do whatever my party asks me to do and I feel everybody else should, too.

"The vice presidency, as Lyndon Johnson's present position proves today, is as important as the presidency."

The then vice president Johnson succeeded to the presidency upon the assassination of president John F. Kennedy last Nov. 22

Nixon predicted the big news in the New Hampshire primaries Tuesday might be on the Democratic side through the write-in vote for Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for the vice-presidential nomination.

The late president's brother may outscore anybody on either the Republican or Democratic ballots in a showing that could start him on the way to becoming Johnson's running mate, Nixon said.

In Washington, a spokesman said Thursday that Kennedy wished to discourage efforts in his behalf in New Hampshire or elsewhere—that Johnson should be free to select his running mate.

Attention in New Hampshire so far has centered largely on the contest between New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the Republican presidential primary.

But Nixon said there were so many entries on the Republican side that nobody could win a decisive enough victory to gain "a lock" on the nomination.

Three Persons Given Prison Terms In Area

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — In Sixth Judicial Court held here Thursday three persons were sentenced to serve time at Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola.

William Kirkpatrick of Galveston, Tex. and William Davis Love, Baton Rouge, broke into and entered E. Sondheimer Lumber Co. on Nov. 6 and made off with $2,852.66 in cash and checks.

They were apprehended by Tallulah authorities and later lodged in East Carroll Parish Jail. Kirkpatrick and Love received sentences of a total of 11 years each to be served at the state penitentiary.

Lizzie Mae Rollins Lanier, Negro woman, was sentenced to serve five years in the state penitentiary for theft of two .38 caliber revolvers and a radio valued at $140, property of Schneider Hardware. The Lanier woman also received sentence of two years for shoplifting.

Bill Grossman Picked To Emcee Beauty Pageant

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Bill Grossman of Lake Providence has been chosen by the Jaycees to emcee the Miss East Carroll Parish Pageant and the Little Miss East Carroll Pageant.

Both contests will be held March 28 at the Lake Providence high school auditorium.

Parish girls from ages 18 to 25 are eligible for the Miss East Carroll Pageant. The winner will represent East Carrol parish at the Miss Louisiana Pageant to be held in Monroe. She will receive a trophy and $100 in cash.

Age entrants for the Little Miss East Carroll Parish contest are two to six years. The deadline for entering the contest is March 23.

Castro Bestows Work Hero Title On Cane Cutter

HAVANA (UPI)—Communist Cuba's first "socialist working hero" was created Friday. He is cane-cutter Reinaldo Castro and not related to the premier.

Premier Fidel Castro bestowed the title on his namesake at a local theater ceremoney which closed out the "first national emulation contest."

Labor Minister Augusto Martinez Sanchez said worker Castro on many occasions quadrupled and sextupled "normal production standards." His average was listed as 300.72-per cent above normal.

Salvation Army Annual Banquet Set For Tuesday

New board members will be installed and a "Citizen of the Year Award" presented Tuesday at the annual Salvation Army Appreciation banquet to be held in the Paragon Club at 7 p.m.

Eugene McElvaney, chairman of the Board of trustees of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex., will be featured speaker at the event. A reception for McElvaney, who is also chairman of the board of governors of SMU, will be held in the Stag Room of the Paragon at 6 p.m. just prior to the banquet.

The Salvation Army annual meeting will honor persons who have served in official capacities for the local organization. Presentation of the "Citizen of the Year" award will be made to the local citizen who has done most for the Salvation Army in Monroe in the past year.

New board members will be installed by Lt. Col. Harry Ward, Commander of the Arkansas-Louisiana Division of Salvation Army, and official greetings will be extended by Jack S. Campbell, chairman of the United Givers Fund campaign.

McElvaney is an officer or board member of more than two dozen community organizations and national corporations in Dallas, has specialized for the past 30 years in oil financing and is the author of a number of treatises on this subject. He is a board member of the Dallas Salvation Army Advisory Board, Better Business Bureau and has served as general campaign chairman of the Dallas Community Chest.

Little Theatre Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for the three-act British comedy "Breath of Spring" will be held at Strauss Playhouse on Lamy Lane Tuesday and Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Richard Clark, executive director of the Monroe Little Theater, said the comedy casts five women and three men with four especially good female character roles. The play deals with the antics of a group of characters who ban together to form a fur stealing ring.

Jonesville Man Is Re-Appointed Board Director

JONESVILLE (Special) — Henry G. Taliaferro of Jonesville has been re-appointed to the Louisiana School Boards Association, according to an announcement released by Leon M. Knight of Franklinton, association president.

Taliaferro has been a director of the group since 1962. Prior to that time he served as vice president and in 1959 was elected president. He has been active in school board work since 1953.

He is also president of the Catahoula Parish School Board and chairman of the Four Rivers Recreation District in his parish. A veteran of World War II, he is a past post commander of the Yancy Davis Post of the VFW. He is also a member of the Baptist Church and Boyd-Mann Post of the American Legion.

In addition to this appointment, President Knight released the names of other members on the board of directors. They are E. J. Ellgey of Venice; Alby L. Hidala, Destrehan; J. Contract Is Let For Building At Children's Home

A $108,929 contract was awarded Friday to J. A. (Bud) Coleman of Monroe for the construction of an administration building at the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home east of Monroe.

The home's board of trustees awarded the contract to Coleman who was lowest of nine bidders on the contract. The one-story building will be structural steel framework and masonry on a reinforced concrete foundation and is expected to be completed within 220 days.

L. B. Pettit, board president, said that the building is being named in honor of Miss Lallage Feazel, a member of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe and a "long-time friend of the home." It will be called the Lallage Feazel Administration Building.

Included in the 5300 square feet of floor space will be offices for the superintendent, assistant superintendent, secretary, public relations director, bookkeeper and social workers; mailing, storage, mechanical equipment, conference and rest rooms, two record vaults, a kitchenette and a lobby and reception area. The contract also includes an outdoor paved patio area and paved off street parking for 24 cars. The new building will face west on Whitaker Driver, the entrance street on the campus.

AT MONROE TEMPLE

Isadore Liebreich Lodge To Install

HARRY B. FRIEDMAN

Harry B. Friedman of Texarkana, Ark., Supreme Lodge vice president of B'nai B'rith, will install the newly elected officers of the Isadore Liebreich Lodge No. 208 of Monroe at a banquet at Temple B'nai Israel here at 6 p.m. Sunday, Henry H. Gerson, president, announced.

In addition to Gerson, who has been re-elected president for a second term, other officers to be installed are Carl Gottinger, first vice president; Morris Blumenthal, second vice president; David M. Kaplan, treasurer, and Rabbi M. Silverman, chaplain.

The Isadore Liebreich Lodge in Monroe was chartered April 12, 1874, and now has a membership of 45.

Friedman, a well-known attorney in Texarkana, is a graduate of the University of Texas, a World War II veteran, and has been active in both Jewish and community affairs, serving as Congregation president, Jewish Welfare chairman and president of A.O.A. He was recently honored with a testimonial dinner by the Arkansas State Association.

Besides the Supreme Lodge office he now holds, Friedman has served B'nai B'rith as president of his lodge, state and district. In addition, he was district treasurer-comptroller. During his administration as district president, the "B'nai B'rith Voice" was launched in 1957-58.

He and his wife have three children. Mrs. Friedman also is active in B'nai B'rith, having served as president of her local chapter.

Besides Louisiana and Arkansas, District Grand Lodge Number Seven, B'nai B'rith, is composed of the states of Alabama, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas. The district has been in existence for 90 years.

The organization operates the B'nai B'rith Home and Hospital for the Aged in Memphis, Tennessee; a B'nai B'rith Youth Program for teen-agers; Hillel Foundations for college students. The organization contributes also to the Leo N. Levi Memorial Hospital of Hot Springs, Arkansas, devoted to the treatment of arthritics; and the National Jewish Hospital at Denver, Colorado for tubercular patients. These institutions were founded by B'nai B'rith and they accept patients regardless of race, color or creed. Support is also given to the Jewish Children's Home Service of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Nationally, B'nai B'rith is America's oldest and largest Jewish Service organization, and was founded October 13, 1843 in New York City. The name B'nai B'rith is the Hebrew for "Sons of the Covenant.

B'nai B'rith has an enrolled membership of 500,000. It has 1,959 Lodges and Chapters in the U. S. and Canada and affiliates in 34 other nations of the free world. In addition, 100,000 Jewish college students are enrolled in the organization's Hillel movement.

Nixon Eyes Vice Presidency

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon said Friday he is willing to accept the Republican vice-presidential nomination again this year.

Nixon, often mentioned as a possibility for the top spot on the ticket, said on the NBC-television "Today" program it is time to stop downgrading the vice presidency.

He emphasized he is not a candidate for either the presidential or vice-presidential nomination but said he would do whatever his party asked.

Nixon, vice president in the Eisenhower administration and GOP candidate for president against John F. Kennedy in 1960 broke with political tradition in announcing his availability for the second spot.

Candidates or those frequently mentioned as possibilities for the presidential nomination almost invariably say they are not interested in the vice-presidential nomination and would not accept it.

Asked by interviewer Hugh Downs whether he would accept the vice-presidential nomination, Nixon said: "I know you are going to expect me to say 'no' because I have been vice president for eight years and have run for president.

"But I don't go along with the current talk among the present candidates for downgrading the vice presidency. I think it is time to upgrade it.

"And as far as I'm concerned I'm making it clear that I'm not a candidate for president and not a candidate for vice president but I will do whatever my party asks me to do and I feel everybody else should, too.

"The vice presidency, as Lyndon Johnson's present position proves today, is as important as the presidency."

The then vice president Johnson succeeded to the presidency upon the assassination of president John F. Kennedy last Nov. 22

Nixon predicted the big news in the New Hampshire primaries Tuesday might be on the Democratic side through the write-in vote for Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for the vice-presidential nomination.

The late president's brother may outscore anybody on either the Republican or Democratic ballots in a showing that could start him on the way to becoming Johnson's running mate, Nixon said.

In Washington, a spokesman said Thursday that Kennedy wished to discourage efforts in his behalf in New Hampshire or elsewhere—that Johnson should be free to select his running mate.

Attention in New Hampshire so far has centered largely on the contest between New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the Republican presidential primary.

But Nixon said there were so many entries on the Republican side that nobody could win a decisive enough victory to gain "a lock" on the nomination.

Three Persons Given Prison Terms In Area

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — In Sixth Judicial Court held here Thursday three persons were sentenced to serve time at Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola.

William Kirkpatrick of Galveston, Tex. and William Davis Love, Baton Rouge, broke into and entered E. Sondheimer Lumber Co. on Nov. 6 and made off with $2,852.66 in cash and checks.

They were apprehended by Tallulah authorities and later lodged in East Carroll Parish Jail. Kirkpatrick and Love received sentences of a total of 11 years each to be served at the state penitentiary.

Lizzie Mae Rollins Lanier, Negro woman, was sentenced to serve five years in the state penitentiary for theft of two .38 caliber revolvers and a radio valued at $140, property of Schneider Hardware. The Lanier woman also received sentence of two years for shoplifting.

Salvation Army Annual Banquet Set For Tuesday

New board members will be installed and a "Citizen of the Year Award" presented Tuesday at the annual Salvation Army Appreciation banquet to be held in the Paragon Club at 7 p.m.

Eugene McElvaney, chairman of the Board of trustees of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Tex., will be featured speaker at the event. A reception for McElvaney, who is also chairman of the board of governors of SMU, will be held in the Stag Room of the Paragon at 6 p.m. just prior to the banquet.

The Salvation Army annual meeting will honor persons who have served in official capacities for the local organization. Presentation of the "Citizen of the Year" award will be made to the local citizen who has done most for the Salvation Army in Monroe in the past year.

New board members will be installed by Lt. Col. Harry Ward, Commander of the Arkansas-Louisiana Division of Salvation Army, and official greetings will be extended by Jack S. Campbell, chairman of the United Givers Fund campaign.

McElvaney is an officer or board member of more than two dozen community organizations and national corporations in Dallas, has specialized for the past 30 years in oil financing and is the author of a number of treatises on this subject. He is a board member of the Dallas Salvation Army Advisory Board, Better Business Bureau and has served as general campaign chairman of the Dallas Community Chest.

Little Theatre Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for the three-act British comedy "Breath of Spring" will be held at Strauss Playhouse on Lamy Lane Tuesday and Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Richard Clark, executive director of the Monroe Little Theater, said the comedy casts five women and three men with four especially good female character roles. The play deals with the antics of a group of characters who ban together to form a fur stealing ring.

Jonesville Man Is Re-Appointed Board Director

JONESVILLE (Special) — Henry G. Taliaferro of Jonesville has been re-appointed to the Louisiana School Boards Association, according to an announcement released by Leon M. Knight of Franklinton, association president.

Taliaferro has been a director of the group since 1962. Prior to that time he served as vice president and in 1959 was elected president. He has been active in school board work since 1953.

He is also president of the Catahoula Parish School Board and chairman of the Four Rivers Recreation District in his parish. A veteran of World War II, he is a past post commander of the Yancy Davis Post of the VFW. He is also a member of the Baptist Church and Boyd-Mann Post of the American Legion.

In addition to this appointment, President Knight released the names of other members on the board of directors. They are F. J. Ellgey of Venice; Alby L. Hidala, Destrehan; J. Bill Grossman Picked To Emcee Beauty Pageant

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Bill Grossman of Lake Providence has been chosen by the Jaycees to emcee the Miss East Carroll Parish Pageant and the Little Miss East Carroll Pageant.

Both contests will be held March 28 at the Lake Providence high school auditorium.

Parish girls from ages 18 to 25 are eligible for the Miss East Carroll Pageant. The winner will represent East Carrol parish at the Miss Louisiana Pageant to be held in Monroe. She will receive a trophy and $100 in cash.

Age entrants for the Little Miss East Carroll Parish contest are two to six years. The deadline for entering the contest is March 23.

Castro Bestows Work Hero Title On Cane Cutter

HAVANA (UPI)—Communist Cuba's first "socialist working hero" was created Friday. He is cane-cutter Reinaldo Castro and not related to the premier.

Premier Fidel Castro bestowed the title on his namesake at a local theater ceremoney which closed out the "first national emulation contest."

Labor Minister Augusto Martinez Sanchez said worker Castro on many occasions quadrupled and sextupled "normal production standards." His average was listed as 300.72-per cent above normal.
